Long Life to Them.
Down Goes Wheat.
As It—Pleases.
German-American Deals.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

YOU hope that "the" young couple will live many years happily, and everybody knows that you mean Col. Lindbergh and his wife.

There is happiness in being well known, and well liked for good reasons, and young Lindbergh possesses it.

Without exception, the entire world wishes him well.

THE prices of wheat dropped to 97¼ cents yesterday. Lowest price since 1914. For the Federal Reserve and the combined forces of usury to attack stock values makes no difference. Only wicked gamblers buy stocks.

BUT the conduct of the Federal Reserve will attract President Hoover's attention, if wheat, cotton and other farm products continue dropping.

It is embarrassing to take office on a "save the farmer" platform and find that your Federal Reserve is hitting the wheat and cotton growers on the head.

AN able American banker who has built for himself a fortune greater than the combined fortunes of all the Federal Reserve gentlemen combined said yesterday: "Nobody understands the Federal Reserve, what it is doing or what it is trying to do.

"It can do about as it d—— pleases, and it does as it d—— pleases."

That's the situation, briefly.

A COMBINATION between the Henry Ford plant in Germany and the great German dye trust, which has hundreds of millions of real money, is interesting and important news in the development of "big business."

GERMANY needs small, cheap motors. Ford has them.

Ford needs gigantic quantities of paint, in his production of 8,000 cars a day. Germany's dye works have the paint.

Thus American and German business are united through Ford and the German dye works.

Before this announcement came, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, had bought the biggest automobile plant in Germany as the European agency of General Motors.

Here in America the Du Pont Company, biggest owner of General Motors, is a gigantic manufacturer of paint, especially automobile paint.

The postoffice establishes the world's shortest air mail route, sending mail bags from the postoffice to the lake front, there loading them on an amphibian plane, which flies to the airport in three minutes.

The postoffice is chiefly responsible for what airplane development we have in this country.

MEXICO'S congressmen cannot be prosecuted while in office.

But, as the French say, "One can always arrange things."

Fifty-two Mexican congressmen are expelled from office and will now be tried, charged with helping the recent rebellion.

GLOOM in Wall Street means gloom elsewhere.

When stocks slump, business in jewelry stores is dull, high-priced automobiles sell less rapidly.

There is less demand for accommodations on ocean steamships.

COTTON and wheat have company in their misery, when the unregenerate wicked that buy stocks, expecting them to go up, suddenly find them going down.

The Federal Reserve Board might have done better for the country if it had been content to attend to its business, allowing the foolish to learn by experience that it doesn't pay to gamble.

GERMANY is first to develop an intelligent plan for defending cities, and other important points against air raids.

Anti-aircraft guns are worthless, compared with an artificial fog created chemically by German scientists. It can be used to conceal cities, ammunition warehouses, etc.

WITH only one or two patches of fog, enemy airmen would know just where to drop their bombs.

The plan would be to scatter over the landscape innumerable artificial fog regions, confusing the bombers, making it impossible for them to select a target with certainty.

The desire to attract attention is born in us, inherited from animal ancestors, dating back millions of years, according to evolutionists.

CRIES RING THROUGH COURT AT SENTENCE

8 Ballot Cheaters Sent To Workhouse, 5 to Jail; 8 Other Get Paroles

Dressed as for a party, smiling and chatting, four women came into Criminal Court today with nearly a score of men to be sentenced by Judge James H. Gray for election frauds to which they had pleaded guilty.

Shortly afterward the women and nine of the men were on their way to prison.

The women were stunned by the unexpected sentence so promptly placed into effect. The Courthouse corridor rang with their screams as they were hustled off to jail.

8 GET PAROLES

Eight of the self-confessed election cheaters up for sentence were paroled.

With the sentencing of the 21 defendants today the election cases placed on the trial list two weeks ago, some of them growing out of offenses committed seven years ago, have nearly all been finally disposed of.

In the case of the election board of the Second district of the Second Ward, Homestead, the members of which had pleaded guilty to conspiracy to make a false return, sentences were imposed as follows:

HUSBAND, WIFE JAILED

John Forgast, judge of election, four months in the workhouse, and paroled for three years and eight months thereafter. Forgast is said to be the technical engineer at a Braddock steel mill.

Mrs. Mary Forgast, his wife, and Mrs. Marie Etherington, inspectors, and Mrs. Susan Uhrin, clerk, 30

Victims

MARY ELLEN PEDDICORD

ELIZABETH BARRINGER

Mary Ellen, 8, 2914 Mary street, was killed, and her companion, Elizabeth, 10, 2916 Mary street, injured when a truck struck them at Carson and Thirteenth streets.

HUNTS JOB; HER CHILD KILLED

After spending the afternoon in search of a position, Mrs. Marie Peddicord, returned to her home, 2914 Mary street, South Side, last night, to learn that her 8-year-old daughter, Mary Ellen, had been fatally injured by a truck. Mary had accompanied Elizabeth Barringer, 10, of 2916 Mary street, next door, to a grocery store. They were crossing Carson street near Thirtieth street, when a truck driven, police said, by Paul Stackhouse, of 4622 Liberty avenue, struck them.

Stackhouse took the victims to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Mary died shortly after her arrival. Elizabeth's skull probably is fractured, and her condition is regarded as serious.

Mrs. Peddicord is the mother of three daughters. Her husband has not been seen for four years. According to Anna Marie Peddicord, 13, her mother left the house shortly after noon to look for a job. She lost a situation as a dishwasher in a downtown restaurant when another daughter, Dolores, 10, was injured while at play.

PITT STUDENT LOSES CASE

Arthur G. McDowell, who was expelled from the University of Pittsburgh because of his activities in the undergraduates' Liberal Club, today lost his fight for reinstatement through injunction.

Judge Ambrose B. Reid, of Common Pleas Court, formally refused the plea for a writ restraining the university from interfering with McDowell's attendance at classes.

McDowell and William Alberston, expelled at the same time and for the same reason, still have pending a mandamus proceeding statement.

Judge Reid dismissed the petition for injunction on the grounds that his court lacked jurisdiction, that proper demand had not been made on the university by McDowell for reinstatement, and that the trustees were the proper authorities to pass on the matter and should have been named as defendants in the action.

Young Alligator Green Flash Mascot

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., May 29.—(INS.)—The mascot of the America-to-Rome Green Flash got aboard a short time before the take-off. It was a baby alligator. It nestled in a cigaret carton, with a bed of cotton batting. Its last meal before its 4,700-mile over the sea journey was a gold fish. The alligator will be presented by the American fliers to Premier Mussolini.

Follies Dancer Weds In India, N. Y. Hears

NEW YORK, May 29.—(INS.)—Broadway today was in possession of a report that Beth Berri, Follies dancer, had been married on Saturday in Calcutta, India, to Mark Hanna, Calcutta representative of the Paramount film office. Miss Berri went to Europe recently to play in "Rose Marie."

Tunney, 'Scared,' Sent for Surgeon

BERLIN, May 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Gene Tunney is progressing normally and her condition is excellent, Prof. Arthur W. Meyer, German specialist, told the Associated Press on his arrival from the Island of Brioni today.

When asked why then he had rushed to Brioni last week in response to a hurry call, Dr. Meyer replied: "Because Tunney was frightened."

R. C. Bair, Ex-State Bureau Chief, Dies

Woman Forfeits Bond In Vote Trial Fraud

The bond of Miss Bessie Reynolds, 47, of 2119 Forbes street, was ordered forfeited today and a warrant issued for her arrest, after an investigation by the district attorney's office showed she was not confined in her home by illness as had been stated in a physician's certificate presented in court.

With three other members of the election board of the second district, Fourth Ward, Miss Reynolds was to go on trial for alleged election violations.

Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk quietly sent out county detectives to check on the certificate and when they reported that the woman could not be found at her home, her bond was forfeited by Judge James H. Gray and a process issued for her. The other members of the board, Peter Madden, Robert Sanner and Joseph Joyce, went on trial on charges of conspiracy to violate the election laws.

The Sun-Telegraph will not be published tomorrow, Memorial Day.

TIPTON ELECTED GRAND JUNIOR WARDEN

Commander Myers Escorted To Installation Ceremony On Account of Illness

Eminent Sir William Bonar Tipton, Chartiers Commandery No. 78, Carnegie, today was elected Junior Warden of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Pennsylvania at a grand commandery session in Masonic Temple. The other elective officers were advanced, in order, Very Eminent Sir B. Frank Myers, of Wilkes-Barre, who had served as deputy grand commander, being elevated to the highest rank, that of Commander.

Because of his illness, it was necessary to escort Commander Myers to the temple to be installed. He has been in ill health for several years. His installation and selection of Easton as the city in which the next conclave will be held were outstanding features.

OTHER OFFICERS

Other officers elected are:

Grand Generalissimo—E. Sir Clyde P. Love, Harrisburg.

Grand Capt. General—E. Sir Maurice E. White, Norristown.

Grand Treasurer—Eminent Sir Thomas Shipley, York.

Grand Recorder—E. Sir A. Howard Thomas, Philadelphia.

'MR. GALLAGHER' DIES, BROKE

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP.)—Edward Gallagher, of the once famous vaudeville team of Gallagher and Shean, is dead.

The man who rose to fame and fortune in 1920 on the popular song, "Mister Gallagher and Mister Shean," died penniless and paralyzed at a Queens sanitarium yesterday.

Except for his former wife, Helen Gallagher, he was virtually deserted during his last months. She hurried to his bedside daily after her work as a hostess at a night club and was said to have paid all the expenses of his illness. His second wife, Ann Luther, an actress, whom he married at the height of his success and from whom he was separated two months later, was believed on the West coast.

After the success of the "Gallagher and Shean" song, the team joined the Ziegfeld Follies but in 1925 when Florenz Ziegfeld refused to pay them $1,500 a week, the famous team soon dropped from public notice. Shean, who is said to have saved his money, left his old partner and Gallagher in 1926 entered a hospital for mental diseases. He emerged to make his brief attempt to come back and then reentered the sanitarium where he died.

Bar Sun-Back Suits From N. Y. Beaches

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP.)—Sun-back bathing suits have been decreed indecent for wear on city bathing beaches.

Police Commissioner Whalen, in announcing his ban of the new bathing suits for women, said:

"The police department doesn't want to be narrow-minded in this matter, but the people of New York demand a certain standard of decency at their beaches."

Pope Again Delays Vatican Departure

VATICAN CITY, May 29.—(INS.)—The first public appearance of Pope Pius XI outside the Vatican confines again has been postponed, it was announced today, until after the conference of adoration which takes place between June 10 and 15.

BUCS AND CUBS, TIED, TO MEET

Back home after a triumphant invasion of St. Louis, during which four games were won and a tie for the league leadership reached, the Pirates prepared today to tussle with the Chicago Cubs, co-possessors of first place.

Manager Donie Bush announced this morning that he would send Steve Swetonic to the mound against the Bruins in the series opener this afternoon. Pat Malone, speed-ball artist, is due to hurl for Chicago.

The Pirates downed the Cards 5 to 2 in the final game of the series in St. Louis yesterday. After the first inning, the Redbirds were helpless before the slants of Ervin Brame, the angular righthander. Brame held the champions to four hits.

Justice Kephart Fights for Health

'ACTOR' GRABS WATCHES, RUNS

Snatching two valuable watches from a tray in the Hardy & Hayes jewelry store at Wood street and Oliver avenue today, a young Japanese dashed from the store and escaped. The watches are valued at $57 each. The report was made to city detectives by L. Baster, clerk in the store.

According to police, the Japanese said he was an actor and that he was playing at a local theater. He asked to see watches and while they were being displayed, asked also to see fountain pens. When Baster walked to the rear of the store for the pens, the prospective patron seized two watches and ran.

DRY LAWS JAIL HOTEL OWNERS

Walter Bishop, proprietor of the William F. Hotel, 24 East Lacock street, was sentenced to serve six months in jail and pay a fine of $200 for violating the prohibition law.

Two others well known about town, Edward A. Hartner, hotel owner, of 3419 West Carson street, and Don Collins, manager of a club at 217½ Atwood street, were sentenced, the former to two months in jail, and the latter to pay a fine of $150.

PLEAD GUILTY

They were three of 27 men who pleaded guilty to violations of the Volstead act or Jones act in the United States District Court. Judge R. M. Gibson sentenced 11 to prison and let the other 16 off with fines.

Bishop received the heaviest sentence. His offense was said to have been aggravated by the use of counterfeit revenue stamps. In a raid on his hotel on March 16 a quantity of the stamps were seized along with 300 quarts of assorted wines and liquors and six cases of bottled beer. On May of last year Bishop pleaded guilty to violating the prohibition law and was fined $200.

$200-FINES

Most of those to whom Judge Gibson gave prison terms were second offenders. Each was ordered to pay a fine of $200 also. Those who received no prison terms were mostly first offenders.

Among the 27 were the following:

Davis Lawrence, 107 Grant street, two months.

Curry Chapman, Negro, Manhattan and Adams street, 60 days. Chapman, a barber, is alleged to have maintained a bar in the rear of his shop.

Frank Paverlisek, 2026 Beaver avenue, 15 days.

William Redmond and August R. Bender, $150 fine each. They are said to havt operated a saloon in a houseboat in the Allegheny River near the Ninth Street Bridge.

Tin Spouting Falls 5 Floors to Street

What might have been a tragedy occurred on the Boulevard of the Allies today when a large quantity of tin spout fell into the street from the fifth floor of the building at 226 Second avenue. Forty or more sections stored on a platform on the fifth floor of the Benjamin J. Ross Company's plumbing supply store proved too heavy. The platform collapsed and the pipe, breaking the window, fell into the boulevard, causing great excitement. It was rumored that a building had collapsed.

Kline, Clark Given Medals By Police and Firemen

Mayor Charles H. Kline and Director James H. Clark, of the Public Safety Department, were honored today by the police and firemen of the city for their personal support of the causes of police and firemen. Gold engraved badges were presented to the two officials in Council chamber by representatives of the two bureaus at a ceremony witnessed by more than 300 firemen and policemen.

John Heinz, president of the City Firemen's Protective Association, presented the badge to Clark, and George Schmotzer, president of the Police Protective Association, bestowed a badge on the mayor.

In addition, framed resolutions, commending the support the Mayor and Director Clark has given firemen and police during the last three years, were presented to the men. Burke Read, secretary of the Police Protective Association, and John Lauderbaugh, treasure of the Firemen's Protective Association, presented resolutions in behalf of their organizations. Read also presented resolutions in behalf of the Police and Detective Protective and Beneficial Association.

Both officials made short addresses of thanks, and in his talk, the Mayor renewed his pledge to stand behind all officers against charges of any nature had been made or against whom indictments had been returned until such charges were supported by jury convictions.

BOTH PLANES PLAN START TOMORROW

Green Flash Sticks in Mud, Yellow Bird Cracks Fuel Tank After Leaving Land

By ARTHUR QUINN.
International News Service.

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me, May 29.—Unfortunate mishaps caused the postponement until tomorrow of the international air derby.

Running from the beach on the take-off, the American-to-Rome monoplane Green Flash became stuck in the sand and before the work of dislodging the sand could be completed the tide had come in and Pilot Roger O. Williams announced the postponement until tomorrow.

It was found necessary to replace the wheels of the Green Flash and Williams announced that a take-off was impossible until tomorrow at 8 a. m.

TRY AGAIN TOMORROW

At 11:20 a. m. Armeno Lotti, Jr., sponsor of the flight of the Yellow Bird, which had been forced to return after taking off at 9:56, decided that it would be impossible for the French plane to start again until low tide tomorrow forenoon. Not only had the gasoline tank, which had cracked a seam, to be repaired, but a thousand gallons of gasoline had to be brought to the beach for refuelling.

With tears dimming his eyes Lotti made a statement to International News Service explaining the reason for the failure of his first attempt to fly from the United States to Paris. He said:

"I was forced to return because of a leak in my gasoline tank. The seam was caused by the vibration of the huge motor. I had figured my take off almost perfectly and although the Yellow Bird nearly touched the water when she left the beach she rose gracefully.

NOTICES GAS LEAK

"I reached an altitude of 200 feet and then 400 feet. Soon I noticed on my control dial a huge consumption of gasoline which I knew could not have been caused if all were going well.

"To turn back was a pity. Of course, you understand, how deep-

SOLO FLIER UP 27 HOURS

METROPOLITAN AIRPORT, Los Angeles, May 29.—(AP.)—The steady drone of Bert J. Fahy's monoplane continued over the airport early today as the flier passed the 27-hour mark at 7:43 a. m., Pacific Coast time, in a second attempt to establish a new solo endurance flight record.

Fahey, test pilot employed by the Lockheed Aircraft Company, failed in his first attempt when he landed last Sunday after about 21 hours in the air.

He took off with enough gasoline to keep him aloft about 40 hours.

17 Passengers Going On Zep Flight Again

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 29.—(AP.)—Seventeen passengers on the recent flight of the Graf Zeppelin that failed in an attempt to reach America have notified the Hamburg American Line tourist agency that they would make the Zeppelin's second trip to America. Departure of the dirigible is expected within three weeks.

BOOTLEGGER ATTACKS U. S. ATTORNEYS IN OFFICE

PROSECUTOR CHOKED BY PRISONER

Austin, Resenting Attempted Quiz on Charge Against Frayne, Turns on Smith

Assistant United States Attorney Ralph H. Smith was attacked in his office in the Federal Building by J. Ray (Slim) Austin, of Library road, self-confessed bootlegger, who was sentenced May 10 in Federal Court to serve 30 months in the Atlanta penitentiary.

Austin, six feet six inches tall, grabbed Smith by the throat, and when Assistant United States Attorney Raymond D. Evans, who had prosecuted Austin on the liquor charges, went to the assistance of Smith, he let go his hold on the latter and kicked at Evans, saying, "I'll get you, too, some day," according to witnesses.

The two attorneys, with Assistant United States Attorney Joseph A. Richardson and Deputy Marshal Edward Holden, subdued the prisoner, and he was taken back to jail to await removal to the penitentiary. Austin, it was said, went on the rampage when Smith attempted to obtain a statement regarding accusations made by Austin on the witness stand Monday that he paid "protection" money to Joseph A. Frayne, former assistant prohibition administrator.

REFUSES STATEMENT

Under an order of court, Austin was taken from jail to the Federal Building late yesterday afternoon. He was told by Smith that the district attorney's office wanted further particulars concerning his charge against Frayne, for if the latter were guilty he would be prosecuted.

Miss Mary Polansky, stenographer, was prepared to take any statements made by Austin during interrogations by Attorneys Smith and Richardson, but Austin refused to repeat his accusations against Frayne or make any statement concerning his charge in the court room of Judge Nelson McVicar that he had paid money to Frayne "lots of times."

After making many futile efforts to get the prisoner to talk, he was told, it was said, that he was either "yellow or he did not tell the truth in court."

PROSECUTOR RESCUED

"I won't be called a liar," yelled Austin, and jumping to his feet, said he was going to leave the office.

When ordered by Smith to sit down, he was said to have grabbed the attorney by the throat. Richardson tried to pry them apart, and Evans, in the adjoining office, hearing the racket, went to Smith's aid. Austin then, it was said, centered his rage on Evans. Screams from Miss Polansky brought post-office inspectors and others to the scene.

Austin was the first prisoner in the Federal District Court to be sentenced under the Jones act, and at the imposition of the sentence by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker was characterized by Frayne as the "most persistent and dangerous liquor law violator in this district."

PROMINENT IN ORDER

The election of Sir Knight Tipton was presaged when the members of the grand commandery began arriving here for the seventy-sixth annual conclave, and his candidacy received an impetus during the two days of festivities.

He is one of the best known men in Masonic circles in Western Pennsylvania. Not only has he been active in Templarism, but as secretary of the Pennsylvania Consistory he has come in personal contact with thousands of members of the Scottish rite bodies in this district. He is a thirty-third degree Mason.

ON PROGRAM TODAY

Social events, sightseeing trips and theater parties precede the closing reception and dance tonight. Many of the visiting knights and their ladies will leave for their homes during the day, and the majority will have left before tomorrow.

Knights and their ladies not attending the session will devote the morning to sightseeing, including a tour of inspection through the Bell telephone exchange.

Ladies' Auxiliary, Allegheny Commandery, will be hostess at a musical program during the afternoon in the English Room, Fort Pitt Hotel, beginning at 2 o'clock. Allegheny Commandery No. 36 will bring the conclave to a close with a reception and dance in the same hotel beginning at 8:30 p. m.

ORIE, 4 OTHERS GET YEAR

The Strip rum conspiracy case ended abruptly yesterday afternoon when five defendants changed their pleas to guilty and the government asked that the charges against 22 others be dismissed.

Judge William H. Kirkpatrick, Philadelphia, presiding in the United States District Court, sentenced the five to serve one year and one da, each in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta.

They were Stanley Orie, brother of former Police Magistrate John W. Orie; Patrick Meehan, Walter Stec, Charles Wolf and Martin Grady. In sentencing them Judge Kirkpatrick said they acted wisely in accepting their attorneys' advice to plead guilty, as he believed the jury would have convicted them, in which case he would have given them the limit.

Indictments were quashed in the cases of Representative Luke Sullivan, John Orie, Luke Hannan, P. J. O'Malley, Thomas O'Malley, "Moo" O'Malley, Frank DeLuce, Frank Chiasta, John Pescke, former prohibition agent; Steve Olewszak, Thos Weist, Ignac Olekszak, Police Lieut. Patrick Dixon, Stanley Schelecki, John Burke, Police Lieut. John H. Schnurr, Inspector Joseph J. Elsner, Police Lieut. John Dye, Charles J. Stedler, Darby Micks, Harry Nehf and Robert Scarbar. The last four never were apprehended.

A number of witnesses testified that they had purchased liquor and had paid money for liquor to the men who pleaded guilty. Former Magistrate Orie, his brother, Stanley, and Grady, previously had been found guilty of violations of the income tax laws. The former magistrate and Grady, sentenced to six months, have appealed. Stanley Ohie has not been sentenced in that case.

HONEYMOONING LINDBERGHS STILL HIDING

Ocean Flier's Plane Waits At Schenectady; Mother Of Bride Plans Reception

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 29.—With public fancy and unconfirmed rumor continuing to place them in any one of a score of spots in at many parts of the United States, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride remained definitely among the missing today.

All efforts on the part of energetic searchers to learn where the Lone Eagle and his bride of two days, the former Anne Spencer Morrow, were spending their honeymoon, were doomed to absolute failure.

GETAWAY WELL PLANNED

Although all those concerned with the flier or the family of Dwight W. Morrow, American ambassador to Mexico and father of the bride, continued to deny all knowledge of their whereabouts, there were indications today that to some persons at least, the disappearance of Lindy and Anne is not much of a mystery.

Public fancy has carried bride and bridegroom to dozens of places, by every means of locomotion known—fast automobiles, private cars, luxurious yachts, small launches, sea planes, amphibians and land planes.

MAY BE NEAR HOME

In the face of these reports, one rumor maintained that the honeymooners had outwitted everyone by sending "dummy" planes all over New York State to throw searchers off the track, and remaining themselves at some spot very near the Morrow home in New Jersey.

This rumor was based largely upon the assertion that Mrs. Morrow, mother of the bride, was planning a large reception for the couple toward the latter part of the week, and for this reason the honeymooners were staying within easy motoring distance of Englewood.

Col. Lindbergh's blue and gold Curtiss Falcon plane is still at Schenectady, N. Y., where it was flown, somewhat mysteriously, by William Croswell, a friend of the bridegroom, yesterday.

The plane was placed in a hangar, re-fueled and prepared for immediate flight.

FARM RELIEF BILL JAMS CONGRESS

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The administration's pledge for enactment of a farm relief measure this spring, alone stood today in the path of a recess of Congress from June 11, or earlier, to September 9.

With the House enacting the tariff bill and the Senate insuring a vote this afternoon on the new census and reapportionment bill, Congress will carry out the two next most important steps in the administration's program. The tariff bill will go to the Senate Finance Committee for lengthy consideration, while the reapportionment bill, once enacted by the Senate, will find clear sailing in the House.

FARM BILL OBSTACLE

The farm bill remained a subject of controversy between the two branches of Congress, because the Senate added the export debenture plan over the objections of President Hoover.

Thus far, the House has refused even to consider the bill in conference so long as it contains the debenture. The Senate conferees have retaliated by refusing to take any other action until the conference has acted on all other sections.

HEAT MAY HELP

There were rumors today of a pending compromise, since the House must yield a bit or there can be no settlement. The unexpected heat wave here in the last 24 hours, giving Congress a taste of what an all-summer session would mean, probably will have a peaceful effect upon both warring factions.

The debenture plan has had its death-knell sounded. Administration leaders frankly predicted the Senate would eliminate it if another vote were taken. This, at least, was their hope.

The Senate's next vote upon the debenture will present a slightly different issue than the one which adopted the plan, which the President denounced.

Then, it was a question of asserting individual judgment against the President's judgment. Now, it will be a question of having a debentureless farm bill or having no farm bill.

With this issue raised, the administration spokesmen said, a majority of the Senate will vote to eliminate the debenture, since the House has twice refused to consider it and House leaders have declared they never will permit its consideration.

ORIGINS ACT DOOMED

The President's recommendation for repeal of the national origins act appeared doomed. It never has had the indorsement of administration leaders on Capitol Hill, who fathered the law that goes into effect July 1, fixing immigration quotas upon the basis of national origins. The proposed repeal incidentally has been rejected by the Senate Immigration Committee and the only way the subject can get before the Senate is by discharge of the committee—a highly difficult parliamentary task.

BIG AIRSHIP DAMAGED

ly it affects me. But I had to consider the two lives of my brave companions. To continue would have been folly.

"Although I am disappointed, I am hopeful for tomorrow. Already I have ordered 1,000 gallons of gasoline which will be installed in the tank as soon as it is repaired.

"The Yellow Bird" will fly to Paris and my two brave companions and I will take it there."

Police guards were thrown about the Yellow Bird for a distance of several hundred yards. Smoking of cigarets and cigars in the area was barred for fear that an explosion would be caused by the escaping gasoline and gasoline fumes from the Yellow Bird.

FRENCH HOP OFF

Because of the fact that the French plane was more powerfully motored than the Green Flash, the French fliers had requested the Americans to hop first. When the Frenchmen saw that the American plane could not get away immediately they decided to go.

The French plane during the warming up of the motors had trouble with her stabilizer and had been assisted by the Americans.

Lieut. Harry M. Melka, pilot of the United States coast guard amphibian plane, which set off with the Yellow Bird, landed on the beach shortly before 11 a. m.

GUARD RUSHES AID

Lieut. Melka said he knew that something was wrong with the Yellow Bird. He cracked out an SOS call on his radio broadcasting apparatus.

Hovering in the offing, a speedy patrol boat of the U. S. coastguard service saw the French plane and picked up the SOS call at the same time. The coastguardsman started at full speed toward the Yellow Bird and was running close up to her when the Frenchmen got back near the beach.

Men of the coastguard boat had lines ready and were all set to rescue the three French fliers had the Yellow Bird lost all her gasoline and been forced to make a landing on the water.

Lieut. Melka immediately made plans to follow the American plane, Green Flash.

PREDICT FAST TIME

The Americans hope to reach the Eternal City in 55 hours, while the Frenchman estimate that their hop to Paris will take 33 hours.

The progress of the daring aviators will be told to a waiting world over a coast-to-coast hook-up of 109 radio stations. Installation of the broadcasting apparatus was being completed early today.

Both the Yankee and French groups of flyers are confident of the success of their undertaking as are the wives of Williams and Yancey.

GIRLS AWAIT FRENCH

Over in France three pretty girls, sweethearts of the three men who hope to be the first of their race to make a successful air trip from the shores or America to their native land, will be waiting for Lotti, Assollant and Le Fevre.

The Yellow Bird will follow the Green Flash more than half way across the Atlantic, or until Williams and Yancey reach the point where they will turn the nose of their plane southward in the direction of Spain.

By this arrangement the Yankee fliers, through the courtesy of the Frenchmen, will have the radio protection of the Yellow Bird during the perilous hours of their journey. Lotti has agreed not to pass the Green Flash, which he could very easily do less than 75 miles from the Maine coast, until Williams makes the turn south.

CRIES RING OUT IN COURT

days in jail, paroled for three years and eight months thereafter, and barred during that period from any kind of election service.

Michael Gretz, clerk, paroled for two years.

The defendants had a host of character witnesses in court through whose help they hoped to escape with merely nominal sentences, but Judge Gray refused to hear them or to receive any other testimony, saying he had become acquainted with all the facts in the case through a "special investigation."

HOMESTEAD SENTENCES

In the case of the election board of the Third district of the Second Ward, Homestead, the sentences were as follows:

Frank S. Masley, judge of election, four months in the workhouse, and paroled for three years and eight months thereafter.

S. Edlak, inspector, three months in the workhouse, and paroled in the same way.

H. H. Erhardt, inspector, was sentenced to jail for three months, instead of to the workhouse, because of his age, which prevents him from working. He was paroled for three years and eight months, too.

Andy Leskania and Thomas Rosco, clerks, were paroled for two years.

FIRST DISTRICT CASES

In the case of the election board of the First District of the Second Ward, Homestead, the following sentences were imposed:

Nick Seibert, judge of election, four months in the workhouse and paroled for three years and eight months thereafter.

Alexander Black, inspector, three months in the workhouse and paroled the same as Seibert.

Frank C. Bost, inspector, and William Hill, clerk, each paroled for two years.

Miss Jeannette Samuels, clerk, 30 days in jail, and paroled in the same was as Seibert and Black.

The court said there was evidence that Miss Samuels listed at least 16 voters as having cast their ballots in alphabetical order according to their names. It was impossible, Judge Gray said, to make him believe that that occurred.

The sentences in the case of the election board of the First district of Mt. Oliver were as follows:

Charles J. Connor, judge of election, three months in the workhouse, and paroled for two years.

The charge against James A. McCormick, clerk, was quashed.

In this case obtaining money under false pretense was charged. It was alleged that Conner signed the name of Sylvester J. Young, an election clerk, who hailed to report at the poll, to a pay voucher, cashed it, and turned the money over to McCormick, who was pressed into service in Young's stead.

TO WORKHOUSE

City employes are placed under strong pressure to carry their wards for candidates favored by the administration, but that does not justofy them in weighing the ballots instead of counting them, Judge Gray declared in sentencing Thomas Rourke, of the Department of Piblic Works, and Thomas Davin to the workhouse for four months for fraud in thep rimary of September 20, 1927.

They and three other members of the election board of the Second District of the Twentieth Ward, West End, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging conspiracy to make false return.

ADMITS "WEIGHING"

Rourke, who has served on the election board of the district for 23 years, admitted he picked out 80 or 90 ballots which he surmised had been cast for the Republican organization candidates for judge, and credited them with the votes without taking the trouble to examine the ballots.

Judge Gray stipulated that Rourke and Davin be placed on parole for three years and eight months after the expiration of their workhouse terms and that they were not to serve as election officers during that period.

ONE FINED $250

The other defendants were sentenced as follows:

John Wachter, inspector, $250 fine and four years' parole.

Mrs. Minnie Kossler, clerk, two years' parole on payment of costs.

Mrs. Mary Shaming, two years' parole on payment of costs.

Sentencing of Rourke and Davin to prison created somewhat of a sensation at the courthouse, as most of those who have pleaded guilty in election fraud cases have escaped imprisonment.

GIRL IMPROVES AFTER PLUNGE

Frances Norris, 15, of 421 Atwood street, who yesterday plunged 145 feet from the Wilmot Street Bridge, Schenley Park, and landed on a cinder heap, was reported improved in Children's Hospital today. Doctors said she passed a good night and the only apparent injury suffered was a cut on the chin.

Police today were still trying to unravel the mystery of the girl's plunge. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Norris, still hold to the belief that she had been struck by an automobile and thrown over the bridge railing, or fell while leaning against the guards.

Doctors who worked over the victim several hours marveled that she could fall 145 feet and live. They expressed the belief that she would recover.

Students in the physics department of the University of Pittsburgh estimated that in falling 145 feet the girl struck the ground at a speed of 65 miles an hour.

Coverdale Trial Ends in Acquittal

A verdict of not guilty was returned by a jury in Criminal Court this morning against Cecil Hamilton, of Coverdale, who stood trial for the murder of Cecil Willis, of Coverdale, on February 28. The jury retired at 3:30 p. m. yesterday, reaching a verdict at 9 p. m.

Immediately after the reading of the verdict, Assistant District Attorney Harry I. Phillips made a motion to quash the charge of voluntary manslaughter.

Defer Ballot on Union of Churches

DETROIT, May 29.—(AP.)—Voting on the proposed union of the National Council of the Congregational Church and the general convention of the Christian Church by the 650 delegates to the biennial congregational meeting here has been deferred until the final session next Tuesday.

Missing Sidney, O., Jeweler Sought

Police today began a check up of hospitals and sanitariums in search of William H. Kah, jeweler, of Sidney, O., missing since Sunday. He is reported to have escaped while being taken to a sanitarium in Columbus, O. A reward of $500 has been offered for information leading to his whereabouts.

Women Commuters Want Smoking Cars

NEW YORK, May 29.—(INS.)—Feminine commuters from Westchester suburban towns today presented a petition to the New York, Boston and Westchester Railroad demanding smoking cars for the exclusive use of women.

'NEWSPAPER AD BEST'—BABSON

CLEVELAND, O., May 29.—(INS.)—Roger Babson, of Boston, famous business forecaster and financial expert, still holds to his theory that the newspaper is the best advertising medium.

In a speech here, Babson told of a test which he made of the relative merits of newspaper and radio advertising. His organization, the Babson Institute, spent $3,000 to conduct a half-hour radio program and a like amount for advertising in newspapers in five cities, Babson related.

The radio program brought 16 inquiries and two telegraphed orders, while the newspaper advertising brought in more than 4,000 inquiries, he said. This was a ratio of about 222 to 1, he pointed out, and replies from the radio advertising cost $166.66 each, while the newspaper advertisements cost only about 75 cents for each reply.

Up-River Quarantine On Dogs Held Likely

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., May 29.—With discovery of another case of rabies and three Arnold residents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Curran and a daughter of Dr. C. H. Smith, taking Pasteur treatment for injuries inflicted by a rabies-infected dog, which later died, it became apparent today that a 100-day state quarantine will be declared soon on all dogs in the tri-borough and Lower Burrell Township districts.

George Confer, state health inspector, said such a quarantine will mean killing on sight all dogs running at large. Confer warned all residents to keep away from strange dogs.

Sea-Racing Planes to Take Same Route Toward France

OLD ORCHARD, Me., May 29.—(INS.)—The American monoplane, Green Flash, in an attempt to fly to Rome, and the French monoplane, Yellow Bird, with Paris as goal, plan to follow the same route in the forty-fourth parallel, until they near the French coast, where they will wave and dip adieu to each other.

The French ship will continue direct into France and the American plane will then veer to Cape Ortegi, Spain, across the Mediterranean, over Corsica and into Rome.

Both groups of fliers are confident they will arrive at their destinations.

Pilot Williams and Navigator Yancey have arranged a code with the escort. If anything goes wrong with their machine they will open their dump valves and the spray from the discharging gasoline will be a signal of distress. If Capt. Yancey displays a handkerchief from the cabin of the plane, it will be a signal that everything is all right and the escort may return to land.

400 HOURS IN AIR

The Green Flash is a Bellanca monoplane, equipped with a 225-horse-power Wright whirlwind motor and will carry approximately 640 gallons of gasoline, enough to keep it in the air for about 55 hours. It can do 126 miles an hour and will cruise at about 112 miles. It is an exact replica of the plane flown to Germany by Clarence Chamberlin, with Charles Levine as a passenger, and is the same machine in which Martin Jensen set the world's record for endurance solo flying. It has been flown more than 400 hours to date.

The course charted for the American plane varies between 4,700 and 5,000 miles, and its water span will be approximately 3,150 miles. If the trip is a success, the water span will be the greatest ever completed by an airplane. The fuselage of the plane is green and the wings are yellow, with the registration number, NX-5315, painted in black.

POWERFUL PLANE

The French plane is a huge yellow Bernard monoplane, having the tricolor of France painted on either wing and also on the fuselage, in ribbon fashion. It is equipped with a 600-horsepower Hispano-Suiza motor and has a gasoline capacity of 1,100 gallons, enough to keep it in the air for 35 hours. This craft can do 152 miles an hour and can cruise at 135. It is much larger than the Green Flash and has a wing spread of 63 feet, while the Bellanca has a spread of 50 feet.

Jury Awards Widow $27,575 Insurance

Mrs. Sara Rubenstein was awarded $27,575 by a jury in Common Pleas Court today against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, representing a $25,000 policy on the life of her husband, Frank Rubenstein, with interest from date of his death, September 9, 1927. The company contended that Rubenstein in taking out the policy had misrepresented his physical condition.

Man, Girl Fliers Break Altitude Records

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—(INS.)—Pretty 25-year-old Marvel Crossan today claimed a new altitude record for women following her two-hour flight over Mines Field here yesterday.

A standard unsealed barograph indicated that the girl had attained 24,000 feet, 3,430 feet higher than the mark set in Oakland, Cal., by Mrs. Louise M. Thaden, now of Pittsburgh. The sealed barograph carried by Miss Crossan will be sent to Washington for an official check.

While changing an oxygen tank shortly before her five-passenger cabin monoplane had attained its ceiling, the flier almost lost control of the plane when it went into a side-slip because of her numbed hands. She said a thermometer registered 15 degrees below zero.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., May 29.—(AP.)—Ascending to a height of 24,600 feet above Parks Airport here yesterday in a 690 pound low wing monoplane, Barney Zimmerly of Marshall, Mo., broke the world altitude record for light airplanes.

His mark is unofficial pending a check of a barograph of the National Aeronautic Association by the bureau of standards in Washington.

The height recorded by Zimmerly's altimeter exceeded both the record of 22,250 for single seat planes, held by Paul Baumer, German flier, and the record of 19,862 feet for planes weighing less than 881 pounds, held by Capt. G. De Haviland of England.

COUNTY-WIDE TRIBUTE TO BE PAID SOLDIER-DEAD

'BOYS OF '61' TO CONDUCT SERVICES

Spanish-American and World War Veterans to Assist In Memorial Day Rites

VOTE ON TARIFF AIDS DOPE WAR

WASHINGTON, May 29. — The House, in passing the tariff bill, struck a smashing blow at the illicit opium traffic.

Not a voice was raised in protest against the amendment of the Ways and Means Committee to plaster heavy fines on ships which engage or connive in running smoking opium into American ports. Hitherto the government has been handicapped in its fight because the present law limits the liability to the captain of a ship on which opium is seized.

Cognizant of this inherent weakness, the committee unanimously accepted the proposal advanced by the Treasury Department to make the owner as well as the captain of a vessel subject to a fine of $25 an ounce for opium found on board. Seizure of the ship is provided if the penalty is not paid.

"The amendment will bolster materially our efforts to suppress smuggling," said Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the Treasury, yesterday.

Leaders of the Senate in charge of tariff legislation emphasized that they would stand with the House by keeping the amendment intact in the bill.

One Killed, One Hurt As Train Hits Auto

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 29.—En route to purchase flowers to decorate the grave of her baby, Mrs. Bessie Matthews, 23, wife of Robert N. Matthews, of Mt. Independence, was killed when the machine in which she was riding was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train at the Shady Grove crossing.

Hurt Hanging Flag Mother's Day, Vet, 94, Dies

CHESTERTOWN, Md., May 29. —(AP.)—Col. William J. Vannert, 94, Civil War veteran and Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland in 1891, died at his home here yesterday. He suffered concussion of the brain mother's day in a fall from a ladder while hanging an American flag from his porch. The funeral will be held Memorial day and will be attended by members of the American Legion and a detachment from the Maryland National guard.

RIFLE TROPHY GIVEN W. VA.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 29. —West Virginia's team in the William Randolph Hearst rifle competition for 1929 was awarded a handsome silver trophy symbolic of having won third place in the eastern senior division, on the campus here yesterday in the presence of a colorful and large crowd.

President John Roscoe Turner, of the university, accepted the trophy on behalf of his school. Maj. H. H. Fletcher, commandant of the cadet corps at the school, also officiated. The members of the Mountaineer team, R. I. Boone, L. F. Malone, G. R. Cunningham, F. G. Weimer and R. R. McCue, received medals from President Turner.

Along with Carnegie Tech, West Virginia represented the tri-state district in the national competition, which was sponsored in 1921 by Mr. Hearst.

U. P. ASSEMBLY OPEN TONIGHT

The seventy-first annual general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church will convene tonight in the North Church, 4101 Perrysville avenue, North Side. It will be attended by commissioners from 56 American Presbyteries, and from Egypt, the Egyptian Sudan and India. The Rev. W. A. Spalding, of Albany, Ore., moderator, will preside at the opening session and preach the sermon. Regular business sessions will open tomorrow.

Two important matters coming before the assembly will be the campaign for $1,500,000 to supplement the pension fund of the Ministerial Pensions and Relief, authorized by the assembly in St. Louis last year, and proposed merger of the Pittsburgh and Xenia Theological Seminaries, the latter located at St. Louis. They are two of the oldest seminaries in the United States. The merged institution probably would be located in Pittsburgh.

The plan for raising the $1,500,000 pension fund, according to Dr. R. W. Burnside, secretary of the board, is to confine the appeal to a select group of laymen of the church without making any congregational appeals or setting of congregational quotas.

A committee which for several years has considered programs for a union with the Presbyterian Church in the United States (the Southern Presbyterian Church) will report at this session. Although no recommendations are expected to be made, church leaders believe that the question of union both of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America (the Northern Presbyterian Church) will be discussed from all angles.

Dr. J. C. Pinkerton, executive secretary of the board of administration, will make his first report at the assembly. Sessions are expected to run until June 5.

Two Killed, Many Trapped By Flood

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 29.—(INS.)—Two persons were dead in Texas today as the result of rains and floods during the past 24 hours. Rivers and creeks in South Texas are out of their banks and many hundreds of acres of farm lands have been flooded.

J. T. Terrell, 84, was swept to death near San Marcos when he attempted to lead a cow across a rising stream. Harry Mile, of Lockhart, was killed near Temple when his automobile skidded during a rain storm.

The highway linking San Antonio with Laredo on the Mexican border was under four feet of water. Scores of automobiles were trapped and serious loss of life is feared.

WOMEN BATTLE DRY 'HYPOCRISY'

CHICAGO, May 29.—(AP.)—A nation-wide organization of women, seeking temperance, but opposing prohibition, is being formed under the leadership of Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, of New York, former Republican national committeewoman.

It already has representatives from 26 states.

Temporary headquarters will be opened in New York and state leaders will immediately launch membership campaigns.

Leaders of the new movement intimated their organization would oppose the W. C. T. U. program.

Mrs. Sabin made it plain that public officers who "vote dry, but drink wet" will be exposed by the organization, and vigorously opposed politically. She said the temperance society would "dabble a little in politics."

"We believe that the prohibition law violates the fundamental principles of our government," Mrs. Sabin said. "We will be prepared to present to the women of the country our reasons for opposing national prohibition, believing that when the truth in regard to existing conditions is more fully known among all women, they will unite in requiring such a change as will replace the present corruption and hypocrisy with sobriety and honesty."

Mrs. Sabin was elected temporary chairman of the organization.

Electric Eel's Conduct Shocking

NEW YORK, May 29.—(INS.)—Eel keepers at the Bronx Zoo are in a dilemma. "Volt," the only electric eel in captivity, has contracted the annoying habit of omitting electric shocks whenever anyone tries to change his water. Hence "Volt's" aquarium must go without clean water.

SAFE WITH MOTHER

CARL MAHAN WITH HIS MOTHER

Carl, 6, the world's youngest convicted slayer, safe in the arms of his mother, Paintsville, Ky., while a legal battle rages. Convicted and sentenced to 15 years in a reform school for the shotgun slaying of an 8-year-old playmate, Carl is free to play on a court writ restraining imposition of the sentence.

SLAYER, 6, MAY NOT BE JAILED

PAINTSVILLE, Ky., May 29.—(INS.)—The next move in the case of Carl Newton Mahan, 6-year-old shotgun slayer of his 8-year-old playmate, Cecil Van Hoose, today rested with the prosecution.

When Circuit Judge J. F. Bailey issued a writ of prohibition restraining the execution of a 15-year sentence against the boy to the State Reform School, County Judge John W. Butcher expressed his intention of taking the case to the Court of Appeals. Since that time, however, Judge Butcher apparently has been inactive.

B. W. Hubbard, superintendent of the State Reform School, declared he did not believe Carl Newton would be admitted to the institution because of his extreme youth.

"If he is sent here," Hubbard said, "he will be treated as a school boy and not as a convicted murderer."

Lone Sailor Ends Atlantic Voyage

MIAMI, Fla., May 29.—(AP.)—Paul Muller, Berlin sailor, rested here today after his valiant one-man conquest of the Atlantic. He put in at this port yesterday after his 10-months' battle with wind and wave. He left Hamburg, Germany, last July.

Arriving in his 18-foot sloop several days late from Havana, Muller said the last lap of his perilous voyage was one of the hardest. He fought desperately with an angry sea for seven days.

Mace Talk Friday Will Be Broadcast

"A Prophet in a Mud Hole" is the subject of the address of James C. Mace on Friday noon in the auditorium of the Downtown Y. M. C. A. Mr. Mace teaches the international Sabbath school lesson each week at this time. The address will be broadcast by Station KDKA.

BLAME PACKING FOR CLINIC GAS

CLEVELAND, O., May 29.—(AP.) —A flameless combustion because X-ray plates were packed closely together yesterday was blamed for the death of 122 persons in the Cleveland clinic disaster by J. E. Crashaw, Pittsburgh, associated with the United States Bureau of Mines.

Crashaw, testifying at the investigation of Coroner A. J. Pearse, said the giving off of deadly gases was a direct result of the films being closely packed. If they had been loosely packed there would have been flames and the gases would have burned, he said.

Dr. Torald Sellman, professor of pharmacology at Western Reserve University, said the films gave off carbon monoxide gas which dazed victims, and while they were helpless, nitrogen peroxide got in its deadly work.

Old Age Pensions O. K d.'in California

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 29.—(AP.)—Gov. C. C. Young yesterday signed the old-age pension bill, passed by the 1929 Legislature, providing aid for aged needy persons of the state.

Under the law indigent aged persons who are at least 70 years of age, who have lived in California 15 years and who have no relatives to support them may receive not to exceed $1 a day from the state.

Live Stock Killed As Fire Razes Barn

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 29.—Two horses, a number of lambs, 30 chickens and farming machinery were destroyed yesterday when fire razed a barn on the John L. Ruth place near Carmichaels. The structure was owned by Mrs. Anne Ruth. Loss was placed at $5,000.

PROHIBITION WILL HAUNT LAW BODY

Certain to Force Its Way to Front as Enforcement's Problems Are Examined

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 29. —Given unlimited scope and all the time in the world, President Hoover's law enforcement commission squared away today to the monumental task of determining what makes the American people so lawless, and how to remedy it.

It will be a year, more likely two years, and perhaps even longer, before the commission will attempt to report a verdict. Hearings are to be held, witnesses examined, expert opinions sought, masses of statistics digested, records gone into. At the end, a voluminous report, perhaps several reports, if the ten men and one woman comprising the commission are unable to agree.

PROHIBITION IMPORTANT

The specter of prohibition and what part it has played in contributing to the ever-expanding crime record of the nation will stalk the committee's sessions, however much the fact may be deplored, and however much individual members may desire to minimize it.

Both President Hoover and Chairman George W. Wickersham carefully avoided direct mention of prohibition in their exchange of addresses, but the chairman later asserted that the relation of prohibition to crime most certainly would be considered and reported upon. He thought it "highly improbable," however, that the commission would recommend modification.

COMMITTEE TO SPLIT

It is probable the eleven members will divide into committees to study the different phases of law enforcement. Extensive public hearings are not likely, although some probably will be held. A great deal of the work will be done, too, outside of Washington. Meetings will be held here from time to time.

If the committee does not render a report for two years, as expected, politicians made a note of the fact today that the report will come just in time to afford opportunity for public study before the next presidential election.

OSERS RETURN TO AMERICA

NEW YORK, May 29. — (Ins.)—Mr. and Mrs. Max Oser have returned to the United States aboard the White Star liner Majestic after a honeymoon of seven years in Switzerland.

So smooth has the path of true love been for the Osers, so free of publicity, that there were few aboard the steamship who remembered the young woman as the former Mathilde McCormick, daughter of Harold F. McCormick and granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, who married the Swiss riding master seven years ago.

The Osers brought with them their two children, Anita, 4, and Peter, 2. Mrs. Oser, who has acquired a pronounced German accent during her stay abroad, said that she would get in touch with her father, who is ill in Chicago, by long distance telephone.

Whether she would go to her father's home in Chicago, Mrs. Oser would not say. Neither would she say how long she would remain on this side of the Atlantic.

Child Who Names Hippo Will Get $25 Reward

What would be an appropriate name for a baby hippopotamus? Ernest Tretow, superintendent of Highland Park Zoo, wonders and is appealing for help.

He has the hippopotamus, the first that has been in the zoo since 1901, and is anxiously awaiting suggestions from interested school children of the Pittsburgh district.

The Sun-Telegraph, also interested in seeing that the leathery little hippo is properly named is offering a reward of $25 to the boy or girl of grade school rank in a Pittsburgh district public or parochial school who selects the most appropriate name.

During the next week or until 6 p. m. June 5, the Sun-Telegraph will receive nominations from school children mailed in on the blank appearing elsewhere on this page and then from all of the names suggested Mr. Tretow and Director Edward G. Lang of the Department of Public Works will decide which name is the most appropriate.

The name selected will then be fittingly bestowed and the boy or girl who selected it will be awarded the $25 prize.

The hippo to be named came from Carl Hagenbeck's zoo at Hamburg, Germany. It now weighs 500 pounds and is 14 months old. The city paid $4,000 for it.

And Mr. Tretow believes it will only be a real part of the zoo when it is properly named and the children ask for it personally when they visit the zoo.

CHARTER SAVES HOME RULE

In view of the interest in the forthcoming referendum election for the approval of the Pittsburgh metropolitan charter, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will publish daily brief statements by Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the commission. In this series the provisions of the charter, will be set forth in plain language shorn of its legal verbiage.

By JOSEPH T. MILLER, Chairman, Metropolitan Plan Commission.

The charter's precise words on this important matter are found in Section 4 of Article One:

"The cities, boroughs, and townships within Allegheny county on the date of ratification of this charter, shall continue to exist as municipal divisions thereof, with their then names and boundaries, except that the present City of Pittsburgh shall henceforth be officially designated as 'Pittsburgh.'"

Too much emphasis cannot be given these words—they are the safeguards of home rule for all the municipal units within the county.

CITY AND COUNTY, TOO

One thing to be mentioned in the discussion of Article No. 1 is this:

It brings out that the Consolidated City shall be at the same time a city and a county. Indeed, the best description of the Metropolitan government would be to say that it will be largely the present county government, with broader powers.

There are, of course, certain other powers added to the Consolidated City. These powers are specified in articles outside of Article One, and shall be dealt with hereafter.

The charter does not change or interfere with any present or future law of the state relating to the administration of public schools.

Nor does it interfere with such laws relating to the administration of the poor district of Allegheny county and its directors; or of juries and jury commissioners; or of public libraries; of the law library; of state highways; of state reward for township roads; or state aid highways.

NO INTERFERENCE

The charter does transfer to the Consolidated City all the property rights, interests and indebtedness of Allegheny county.

It transfers, also, the rights and obligations of the various communities of the county affecting public utilities, as they may serve metropolitan purposes.

Observe those words, "metropolitan purposes."

(To Be Continued.)

Voters are invited to propound any proper question regarding the charter, and these will be answered promptly if addressed to Chairman Joseph T. Miller 519 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope. Some answers to inquiries of pertinent interest will be published in the Sun-Telegraph.

McCutcheon Estate Valued at $363,337

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP).—George Barr McCutcheon, novelist, who died last October, left a net estate of $363,337, according to a transfer tax appraisal filed yesterday.

His widow, as chief beneficiary, is to receive the residuary estate, half in trust and half outright, that part which is in trust to go on her death to the author's sister, Mrs. Jessie McCutcheon Nelson, of New York, and his two brothers, Ben Frederick McCutcheon and John Tinney McCutcheon, both of Chicago.

Senate Confirms Three Nominations

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(AP.)—The nomination of Charles P. Sisson, of Rhode Island, to be an assistant attorney general, was confirmed yesterday by the senate.

The senate also confirmed the reappointment of Roland K. Smith, of Louisiana, to be a member of the shipping board, and the nomination of Charles H. Rawlinson to be marshal of the Western district of Wisconsin.

Ex-Coal Policeman Guilty in Girl Case

James Meadows, of Johntown, a former coal and iron policeman, was convicted in Federal court for violation of the Mann act. A jury found him guilty of unlawfully transporting Bertha Mays, 16, from Johnstown to New Orleans, La. He will be sentenced later.

Mirth and Music Over Air For Byrd's Lonely Men

NEW YORK, May 29.—"Stop me if you've heard this one" is not said by the little group of Americans down in the darkness of the six months' night of the Antarctic. Commander Byrd and his men have heard every one of each other's stories over and over again and are fighting with all their strength against the loneliness that overtakes Arctic explorers, North or South.

To help to counteract the deadly monotony of the lives of these men, to relieve the strain of their forced inaction and the irritation that accompanies it, the Hearst newspapers have prepared a program of music and humor that will give them at least one good hour of jollity.

UNUSUAL PROGRAM

Beginning at 11 o'clock and continuing until 12:30 next Saturday night, they will listen to a group of entertainers such as is seldom gathered together, and which ranges from Arthur Brisbane to "Bugs" Baer and includes stars of "Whoopee" and "Show Girl." For an hour and a half they will be in New York again.

The program is being furnished by the Hearst newspapers. It will go by wire from the studio of the National Broadcasting Company of New York to Station WOY, whence it will be sent direct to the Byrd party in the Antarctic.

It is hardly possible that the most expert radio fans in the United States will be able to listen in. The program was arranged entirely for Commander Byrd and his party and will be sent out with these lonely men only in mind, going direct to them on short-wave antennae. After the program is concluded, letters from the families and friends of the explorers will be read to them from Schenectady.

LIST OF FEATURES

The program is as follows:

Greetings from the Hearst Newspapers—Arthur Brisbane.
Sport Review—Damon Runyon.
Remarks by Harry Hershfeld, famous creator of "Abie the Agent."
What's Doing on Broadway, by the creator of "Just the Baer Facts," Arthur "Bugs" Baer.
What Your Wives, Mothers and Sweethearts Are Wearing and Doing, by the creator of "Oh, These Women," Leola Allard.
Songs by Famous Radio Star who is now appearing in "Whoopee," Ruth Etting.
A Few Minutes with Star of "Pleasure Bound," Phil Baker.
"A Breath of Palm Beach," by the crooning songbird, Murray Smith.
Operatic numbers—Isabelle Burnada.
Songs—Buddy Doyle, of "Whoopee."
Songs—Frances Upson, of "Whoopee."
"A Few Laughs" with Clayton, Jackson and Durant, of the new Ziegfeld production, "Show Girl."
Music—The "Checker Cabbies," well-known radio orchestra, under leadership of Duilio Sherbo.

215 Given Diplomas At Wilkinsburg High

Diplomas were given to 215 seniors of the Wilkinsburg High School at graduation exercises in the school auditorium last night, the largest class in the history of the school. Highest honors were won by Kathryn Cronister, Helen Arnold and Arne Yensen. Diplomas were presented by M. H. Henning, president of the board of education, after which essays were delivered by honor students. The address was delivered by the Rev. Robert McGowan, pastor of the Bellefield Presbyterian Church.

Brewery Employe Admits Rum Guilt

Charles W. Bott, an employe of the Pitt Brewing Company, yesterday entered a plea of guilty with the clerk of Federal court to an information charging violation of the prohibition laws. The plea was the result of testimony given during the trial last November of the North Side rum conspiracy. Bott was a defendant in the conspiracy case.

CASH, JEWELRY ROBBERY LOOT

Robbers obtained $250 and jewelry of undetermined value from two safes in the office of the Free Loan Association, 15 Fernando street, conducted by the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, detectives were notified today.

The robbery occurred following a meeting of the board of directors last night, police were informed. Checks were discarded. A check-up of the jewelry, representing security deposited for loans, was being made today to determine the amount taken. Many less valuable gems were left on an office table.

VETS FOR HALL DOWNTOWN

Unanimous indorsement of a downtown location for the new Town Hall was voted by A. E. Hunt Camp No. 1, United Spanish War Veterans, at their last regular meeting. The vote was taken after a talk by A. C. Rowell, special aide-de-camp to the National commander.

Mr. Rowell said his camp favored a spot central and convenient. He pointed out that the A. E. Hunt Camp, with the largest membership of any camp in Western Pennsylvania, had the smallest regular attendance, in proportion to its total membership. Poor attendance is attributed to the fact that Memorial Hall where meetings are held is not accessible to the members.

Rowell said he had every reason to believe that if the new auditorium were placed in the downtown section of Pittsburgh, a national convention of Spanish War veterans would be held here immediately.

The Allegheny County Town Hall Association, sponsoring a downtown location, is not letting up in its campaign, despite the fact that no immediate decision is to be made on a location. James C. Chaplin, chairman of the association, said today his group was still busy preparing data on the several downtown sites suggested. Detailed engineering facts will be available for the benefit of the County Commissioners and the County Planning Commission whenever these two bodies are ready to hold the hearings, he said.

30 Airplanes Carry Officers to Meeting

MEADVILLE, Pa., May 29.—(AP.)—Thirty airplanes bearing delegates to the State Reserve Officers annual convention are expected at Conneaut Lake today. The convention opens tomorrow and 700 members of the organization are expected. Assistant Secretary of the Navy James Hurley is scheduled to arrive in a navy amphibian plane. The assembly will continue until June 4.

Machinist Gets Car Pass Award

THEFT SUSPECT TAKEN IN CHASE

Hundreds of pedestrians watched City Detectives Thomas Dillon and Sol Fromme pursue an alleged purse snatcher through downtown streets and capture him at Grant street and Strawberry way late yesterday. The suspect, Robert Johns, 32, a Negro, of Duquesne, dropped a purse containing $40 and a diamond ring, which he is said to have snatched from Miss Jennie Cohen, of 3333 Milwaukee street, while she was walking in front of the Duquesne Club, Sixth avenue.

Pedestrians who witnessed the robbery gave chase and were followed by the detectives. Four men's wallets, one containing an expensive diamond ring, were found on the Negro, detectives said.

One Killed, Two Hurt As Auto Hits Truck

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 29.—Andrew Savel, 26, of Pottersdale, Pa., died yesterday in St. Elizabeth's Hospital from injuries suffered when his automobile collided with a truck parked near Austintown, Mahoning County. Paul Narchidd, 45, of Curwensville, Pa., and Frank Hodge, 18, of Pottersdale, companions of Savel, were injured and removed to the hospital.

Now try the New Hires . . . . at any soda fountain or from Hires Barrels

Free from drugs—utterly pure— Hires does not contain caffein, tannic acid or any other harmful or habit-forming drugs. No capsicum or red pepper to irritate the stomach. No artificial coloring or flavoring to hinder digestion. Hires is certified as pure by a leading research laboratory of NewYork. No artificial stimulants. Hires is 100% natural, beneficial ingredients.

Hires a non-acid beverage— The modern, refined diet is too acid, most authorities agree, creating today's great tendency towards acidosis. Hires is classified as non-acid, and is comparable with raisins, apples, oranges, almonds, beans, muskmelons, etc. Hence Hires balances and neutralizes the overeating of acid foods, such as white bread, meat, eggs, coffee, spinach, etc.

Calcium Starvation— The richest Calcium-bearing foods are nuts, egg-yolk, beets, cabbage, carrots, turnips, cheese, milk, fruits and plant juices. Calcium is utterly essential for children's growth as bones contain a large percentage of Calcium. Good teeth are also dependent upon Calcium. In adults, Calcium is needed as a repair element. Most modern cooked meals are lacking in Calcium.

Sources of Vitamin B— The average diet is greatly lacking in Vitamin B. Hence the urge to eat yeast. Some raw vegetables are rich in Vitamin B, but cooking and discarding the cooking water means it is lost when served at the table. Pure milk is rich in Vitamin B, as is egg-yolk. But this small group of foods means that your average meals are deficient in Vitamin B.

Why you need Vitamin B— If the diet includes sufficient Vitamin B the results are: a normal appetite, proper growth in children, ability to replenish tissues in adults, perfect digestion, increased vitality, intestinal functioning, resistance to disease, controlled nerves. Remember Vitamin B is a food, not a medicine.

The "Plus" Beverage— Now as a "Plus," comes a third value in Hires; it is nourishing. For over 50 years Hires has been acclaimed as appetizing and invigorating. These three virtues make Hires the outstanding protective drink. And, as most people do not get enough liquid daily, Hires now offers an inviting way—thirst-quenching and healthful. No beverage can compare with Hires.

Posed as "THE DISCUS THROWER," that Famous Statue in the British Museum in London, Lawrence Stone of New York City is a splendid example of Modern Health and Vitality.

New Hires 5¢

APPETIZING + INVIGORATING + NOURISHING

The Plus + Beverage

WARNING: Ask For "HIRES" Not For "Root Beer," To Protect Yourself From Imitations.

Your diet may be lacking in this precious, vitalizing health need. General lack of Vitamin B and Mineral Salts, the talk of the scientific world. Now comes a simple, delicious, liquid way to balance your diet.

New discoveries reveal method of including Vitamin B and Mineral Salts in 50-year formula of Hires, making it today's unique beverage.

These are amazing statements—but conservative.

One of the greatest menaces to health, authorities agree, is the lack of certain elements in the modern, over-refined diet.

"Too many meals from unbalanced foods—too many over-cooked foods—not enough raw foods"—health experts agree.

Most people need more Vitamin B. Also more mineral salts, such as Calcium. Later day research has revealed these clues to the average person's unbalanced diet—the source of countless ills and decreased vitality, of the increasing national tendency towards malnutrition, nervousness, fatigue.

"Get more foods containing Vitamin B" is the universal command from the scientific world. "Where?" millions of people ask.

Hence the struggle to find a way to offer Vitamin B in a delicious form. First to solve this vital problem is The Charles E. Hires Company. Through costly research, food chemists have found a way to reinforce Hires with Vitamin B, and to add Calcium, but without changing the basic plant-juice, non-acid formula, famous for over 50 years as appetizing and invigorating.

Every human being needs sufficient Vitamin B, which is a food, not a medicine. Yet the ordinary diet—the average meal of white bread, meat and potatoes—is sadly lacking in this precious health-giving element.

Now you can drink your Vitamin B—plus other beneficial, invigorating tonic juices and minerals! In a drug-free, naturally vitalizing beverage.

For a thirst-quencher, for a natural bracer, for nourishment, drink three glasses of Hires daily.

Commence this pleasant program now—then after a month note your improved health. Step up to any soda fountain or Hires Barrel and try your first glass of the New Hires.

From famous feasts of antiquity featuring such familiar figures of the ancient world as Helen of Troy, Cleopatra, and Nero, the KDKA After Dinner Players, under the direction of Jane Ellen Ball of the Jane Ellen Ball studios of Expression and Dramatic Art, will usher the KDKA listeners into a dinner which, if the sauces have an unmistakable Spanish flavor, offers conversation which has since proven of decided advantage to all American land owners.
But half convinced of the validity of the theories advanced by the Genoese adventurer, the Spanish Queen Isabella invites Christopher Columbus to defend his belief in lands beyond the seas at a dinner, to which the leading scientists of the kingdom were invited. The spectacular defense of his theory that the world is round by demonstration with an egg, and the impulsive pledging of the money to be realized from the sale of her jewels to finance the voyage by the explorer, in the characteristic manner of the Spanish Queen, makes a dramatic story.

"THE ELEVENTH HOUR"
"The Eleventh Hour" might be described as a rural comedy melodrama. It has three villains, one who bears such a striking resemblance to the hero that their mistaken identities complicate matters and cause the latter much trouble. The two high spots in the performance are the attempt of the evil trio to wreck the speeding train and the struggle between them and the hero in the last act. Both of these episodes are to be vividly done by the "Maybelle" troupe, who will make liberal use of all the sound effects provided for in its production.

The fugitive is a man who has been serving a life sentence for a crime he did not commit. He makes his escape from prison and from that moment on the excitement starts. The blood hounds in pursuit, the prison guards, and the entire machinery of the law that is directed against him will be reproduced for the radio audience. His successful eluding of the law and his eventual meeting with the man who committed the crime will bring additional drama.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Is Man Really Essential?

IS a man essential to a woman's happiness?

A lot of complacent young Lotharios would be slightly shocked if they know how many girls of the younger set write me, protesting that he is NOT.

But, from where I stand, it looks as though a man is as necessary to a woman's happiness as a woman is to a man's happiness.

There are just two things which we can't live WITHOUT in this world—food and love. We might get along without clothes—and we are doing our best to prove it. We might even exist without money, if we were willing to plant and dig our own potatoes—and somebody would lend us a garden.

HELEN ROWLAND

But FOOD we must have—and something to LOVE. And a man seems to me more logical and satisfying to love than a Pekingese or a French doll.

It is true that there are some men and women who were not intended to marry, and are not cut out for marriage. No matter how often they go to the altar, it never "takes."

* * *

These are mostly writers, painters and musicians—the people who are CREATING something alone.

Yet it is a well-known fact that no writer, painter or musician ever does his best work until he has found and known love. And most of these do their most inspired work while they are IN LOVE.

A man or a woman is happy only when he or she is creating something. We are all born CREATORS, whether we like it or not. That is the deepest and foremost urge of our nature; and it will OUT from the day when we begin building houses with blocks to the day when we begin planning our tombstones and mausoleums.

* * *

There is not much thrill in building a "home" all by yourself. A home, a family and a love-nest must be built WITH somebody.

What is the incentive to make a lot of money, or to own a lot of houses, and automobiles, and yachts, unless there is somebody to share them with you?

What is the thrill in making a career, in doing big things in the world, if there is nobody who matters to say "Hear! Hear!" Nobody to glory in your success and pin the medals on you?

* * *

"He travels fastest, who travels alone!" said Kipling. But where is he GOING and what is his HURRY? And when he gets there, what does it matter?

* * *

It is true that some of our most successful men and women have managed to get along comfortably, perhaps, without love. Love isn't all there is to life. It is only the carburetor!

* * *

And, of course, you might love your grandmother or your pet angora or your nieces and nephews. But a man does seem to be the most logical thing to love—doesn't he? Or DOESN'T he?

"And They Lived Happy——!"

By Truda Dahl

© 1929, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved.

THERE are so many ways of getting married nowadays that it's a wonder a girl knows what she wants.

It's so hard to decide whether simply to elope and let all the fuss and fume go by the board, or have a big wedding with "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden" and everything. Or whether to hunt up a Justice of the Peace and get it all over in a few moments or simply take the 'plane and go skimming through the air until they reach a tiny town and then rouse a minister and have the knot tied. Elopements may seem on the face very romantic. Sometimes they are, but well, personally I'd prefer the satin and orange blossoms and veil, and a big crowd throwing rice and good wishes after me as I dashed away with Bill at my side in the "car for two." That's something to remember for always, and the memories of one's wedding should be the dearest memories of all to store away for the coming years, and start down the road that begins with "And they Lived Happy ever after!"

Samuel Brixton Fiercely Resents Madge's Decision

AGAIN the wave of brick-red color went over Samuel Brixton's face, and I knew that my mention of a possible scheme to defraud Marion had pierced his pretense of complacence.

"Defraud her?" he said raucously. "That's an ugly word, my lady. You have no right—"

"Perhaps not," I returned evenly. "Consider it withdrawn. But my decision stands."

"You mean that Lil will not accept this twenty thousand dollars for Marion?" he asked incredulously.

"I mean exactly that," I retorted. "Let me repeat what I said: 'When Marion is of age she can decide this for herself.' "

"She will have no chance," he said emphatically. "What kind of fool do you think I am, to keep twenty thousand dollars dangling in the air for years on a woman's whim? Lil will either accept this offer now, or it will be withdrawn."

"That convinces me of my wisdom in making this decision," I told him. "If your offer was sincere, if all you wished was to restore to Marion the money you have confessed was taken unlawfully from her father, then you would be as willing to give it to her when she comes of age as now."

"What do you mean, I've confessed to doing something unlawful?" he blustered.

"The letter you wrote to Lillian certainly meant nothing else," I told him, "though I was conscious that my position upon that particular point was untenable.

His eyes narrowed.

"So that's your game, is it?" he said unpleasantly. "Because I was fool enough to listen to my wife and try to make amends for a deal perfectly justified from a legal standpoint, you're going to stage a——"

"Better not finish that sentence," I said, facing him steadily. "There are limits even to my forbearance. For your wife's sake do not compel me to any further unpleasantness. You must do as you think best when Marion comes of age. Until then we definitely refuse your offer."

He turned to Lillian.

"I won't accept that from any lips but yours," he told her fiercely. "Will you take this money?"

"No, Sam, I will not," she said firmly. "I told you before that Mrs. Graham would decide for me."

He smothered an imprecation which I guessed consigned me to fathomless depths, then after a second broke out in panic—

"But what will I say to Helena? She's counting on this so."

I felt Lillian stir. I knew that he had struck the one note which might sway her.

"Tell her that it is all right," I counseled swiftly, "that we are simply waiting until Marion comes of age to arrange the details. You know very well that she will not need any written confirmation—she is too unworldly for that. If you agree to say this and nothing more, Mrs. Underwood will tell her the same thing, I am sure."

"Of course," Lillian assented eagerly.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Service Plates

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When should service plates be removed from the table, after what course?

2. Are service plates used when serving luncheon?
3. What time is supper served on Sunday?
4. Are bouillon cups used for serving dinner, or are they used for luncheon and supper only?
5. Is it proper to serve individually—direct from the kitchen?

H. E. R.

SERVICE plates should be removed from the table before the roast course. For this course the heated plate is brought in, and before it is placed the service plate is taken from the place.

2. Yes.
3. At any time that is convenient for the householder—six, half after six, seven, or even later. This hour now depends so much on the motoring and sports plans of the family that any hour that is convenient is, of course, correct.
4. Bouillon cups are used for luncheon and supper only. Lately the cream soup cups are even more used for the dinner soup than the soup plates.
5. This is not a good form of service, and is usually not only inconvenient but awkward appearing. If the household is serviceless, the serving can be most conveniently and delightfully done at table. And the wise woman-in-the-home plans this more carefully and efficiently.

No Breach Committed

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Three married couples, A and B, C and D and X and Y, go to an informal dinner and dance. A and C are brother and sister. X and Y are no relation, though personal friends of both A and B and C and D. During the evening X and Y meet another married couple, who are alone, who are X and Y's personal friends, but who are not acquainted with A and B or C and D. Later in the evening X and Y excuse themselves and dance with the couple whom they have met, returning to the group after the one dance. Will you please comment on this situation, stating whether or not a breach of etiquette was made? Would this be the same for a formal party?

J. B.

NO breach of etiquette was made in this case. At a dance, formal or informal, it is not necessary for a group of friends to dance only with one another. It is, indeed, expected that one will dance with whomever one wishes to dance. And X and Y, since they danced only one dance with their friends, were not at all impolite. Of course X and Y should have introduced the couple whom they met to the other friends in their party.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Watch Baby Closely for Dread Symptoms

DR. COPELAND

This disease appears between the sixth and eighteenth months. It is unusual to see it in younger infants and it rarely comes later than the third year of life.

It is really remarkable the proportion of the baby population that has rickets. Students of the subject contend that more than half of them have the disease in one form or another.

This disease is founded on a failure in the nourishment of the child. Its effects are not confined to one part of the body, all of the tissues are involved. But, of course, it is the abnormal condition of the bones that is most important.

Everybody knows about the "soft spot" in the head. The bones of the skull do not harden and knit together until the brain is developed. That is Nature's way to protect the thinking machinery.

This soft spot, normal in early life, gradually closes. By the time the eighteenth month is reached, the closure should be complete. But in rickets there may be delay in this process and the soft spot persists till the third or fourth year.

There the ecrtain general symptoms. Among them are sweating of the head, paleness of the skin, weakness, restlessness and much crying.

Of course, the muscles are soft and flabby. They always are in general debility from any cause. But in rickets the weakness of the muscles may be so pronounced that the baby can't sit up and is very late in attempts at walking.

Because of the muscle weakness, the abdominal walls gives way. In consequence there is "pot belly."

The poor little legs cannot support themselves. There is "knock-knee." The child is too frail to stand. The bones are so soft they bend. Flat-foot is another effect of rickets.

"Pigeon breast" and "bending" of the ribs are other symptoms. Early decay of the baby teeth is another sign of the disease.

In seeking the cause for rickets we go at once to errors in feeding and to the lack of sunlight. Unless the food given a baby is rich in lime, phosphorus and the vitamins there is sure to be trouble.

In a curative way the most valuable food is codliver oil. As a preventive of rickets, too, it is very important. Codliver oil and sunlight, or artificial lights that possess the ultra-violet rays, will cause all the symptoms to disappear. If the mother has good health and an abundance of milk it is well to continue the breast feeding as long as possible. It must not be forgotten, however, that a full supply of good milk is essential to the child's welfare. This is the child's chief source of the lime supply.

Bear in mind then that proper feeding, sunlight and codliver oil are the essentials. Your doctor will prescribe the remedies needed.

Answers to Health Queries

R. G. C. Q.—What do you advise for reducing?

2. What will whiten the skin?

A.—Weight reduction is merely a matter of self-control as regards the diet. Exercise is, of course, essential.

2. You might try equal parts of lemon juice and peroxide followed by gentle massaging with a good pure cold cream as the treatment is apt to prove drying to the skin if used too often.

A Reader. Q.—What will cause the ankles to swell when the heart and kidneys are all right?

A.—Poor circulation may be the cause of this trouble. Build up your general health and you will benefit generally.

V. R. L. Q.—What will increase the growing of lashes?

Horoscopes

Thursday, May 30

MANY trials and tribulations, with subtle and disconcerting complications, undermining the best interests and endeavors, may be offset by the assurances of friendship and fidelity and this probably from the younger element. There may be lively conditions, particularly in social and cultural activities, and industry may enjoy rewards, but money is in peril and there are other hazards attended by treachery or craft.

Those whose birthday it is may count on the assistance and faithfulness of friends, possibly young ones, who may be expected to lend a helping hand over difficult and menacing places. The funds are in jeopardy and there may be fraud or duplicity, but good news and friendly succor will bridge serious calamity.

A child born on this day may be versatile and talented in many social and cultural qualities making for its popularity, but it may be extravagant and intriguing.

Friday, May 31

THE sidereal operations for this day point to some definite hazards in employment, with critical issues in dealing with those in places of position and authority. Beware egotism or overconfidence in treating with those in superior posts and be not defeated by overweening ambition. However there is some prospect of an advantageous change or journey, but be careful in making friends.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of peril to position and employment through overweening ambitions and an egotistic and overconfident bearing to those in places of power and authority. Yet a beneficial chang is shown, calling for travel and a new enviroment. Beware casual friendships.

A child born on this day may be clever and ingenious to a degree, but these may be attended by wild ambitions and an unsettling egotism.

"Skinny" Girls! Gain Weight In a Few Weeks With New IRONIZED YEAST

Results Guaranteed—or pay nothing

"Gains 22 lbs. Pimples Gone"
"After 20 days, performance of IRONIZED YEAST was great. Pimples disappeared, no more tired feeling. Have gained 22 lbs."—(Mr.) A. K., Chicago.

"Skinny" Girls Never Attract

Thousands of men and women write that IRONIZED YEAST added 5 to 15 pounds in few weeks. Ugly hollows filled up. Scrawny necks and "broomstick" limbs became round and shapely. Skin cleared. Wrinkles vanished. New pep gained. They look and feel years younger.

How and Why Ironized Yeast Works Wonders with Amazing Speed

Ironized Yeast is two great tonics in one. Weight-building YEAST and strengthening, blood-enriching IRON. The Yeast is the kind used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial.

This Yeast is treated with two kinds of Iron used for years by highest medical authorities. Iron enriches the blood; makes cheeks rosy; tones nerves and muscles.

The Yeast is further treated with Violet Rays, the latest scientific discovery, which increases its energizing and weight-building powers.

Only when Yeast is thus Ironized is it most effective; for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening value of Yeast. By this special formula, Ironized Yeast gives you results in half the time required by Yeast or Iron taken separately.

Don't let a "skinny" body, ugly hollows, or pimply skin ruin your charm. Get IRONIZED YEAST today. Pleasant tablets; no "yeasty" taste. Do not upset stomach; no gas or bloating.

Quick Results or Money Back

Go today to any drug store. Get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If not delighted with results of this generous trial get your money back.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion, anemia, nervousness and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal.—©C. David Returns Home and Finds Don Talking With His Wife

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Don Carlos Whiting goes to Hawaii after he discovers that his wife, Eve, is carrying on an affair with George Phillips, a neighbor. She is a pretty, selfish person, with whose beauty Don Carlos had fallen in love. On landing in the islands he is accosted by a native, David Nahuli, who offers him $2,000 for delivering a black bag. In carrying out this mission he sees Eugenie, Nahuli's wife, a gorgeous creature who fascinates him. In the meantime Phillips carries on his suit for Eve's love, but quarreling brings unhappiness. Then, in wandering around, Don Carlos meets Selma Wilson, crippled mother of an unusual family, which includes a daughter, Ruth. The latter plans a companionate marriage with Al Harding, much to the disgust of her father, Big Tim Wilson. One day while Don Carlos is loafing at his hotel a mysterious letter is dropped at his feet and a woman motions for him to read it. It contains an invitation to meet her at the crest of Tantalus road. The same day Nahuli orders him to carry the black bag again. He delivers the package to an out-of-the-way seashore retreat, thinks he has been followed, but arrives home in safety. The night for his meeting with the woman of the mysterious letter arrives, and he learns that she is Nahuli's wife, the same one he had seen when he first carried the bag for Nahuli. She tells him he has been delivering opium in the black bag and warns him to evade the gang. Among her revelations is that Nahuli forced her to marry him to save her father from prison. Don Carlos spends his time working on a play from which he expects success. Eve Has a quarrel with George Phillips. He and Eugenie fall in love, but the shadow of Nahuli darkens their happiness. On Ruth's wedding day Big Tim goes on a vacation—disgusted.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVII.

THEY were in her own room, under the roof which Big Tim provided for his family. If he had not been so very much in love with Ruth, it would have hurt his pride tremendously to bring his wife back to her father's house. But Ruth had a way of making those who loved her see her viewpoint—cute little wheedling ways which Al adored in her. So Al forgot his feeling toward Big Tim. Besides, he was over on Maui for his month's vacation—he and Elden.

"Let's go to the movies tonight, dear," Ruth suggested. Entertainment in Honolulu was rather meager after one eliminated sports. The movies promised the most diversion, unless one were a bridge fan.

"What's on?" idly asked Al, playing with the deep waves in her dark hair.

"Vilma Banky and Ronald Colman. They're always good. Come on, lazy bones" and she pulled him out of the deep chair into which he had fallen.

They ran down the garden path after they had shouted a gay good-by to Selma, who was reading a novel in the living room.

"Some day we'll have a better car than this one to ride in, sweetheart," Al promised as he helped her into Henriette.

"All things come to him who waits," quoted Ruth. "Hope I won't have to wait too long."

"You won't. Just wait until I get started and I'll show the world. I've got you to work for nowadays, sweetheart. You'll be my inspiration. I'll show your father that I can make good. Just give me a little time."

"I promised the minister today I'd love you until 'death do us part,'" reminded Ruth whimsically.

"You darling! And I'd like to see what could ever come between us. You're mine—all mine—sweetheart. I love you so."

Al crushed her in his arms until she cried out for mercy.

"Old dear, if you don't mind, I'd like to live long enough to ride around in the limousine you promised to buy me some day."

They laughed gaily together. It takes so little to make one happy when life flows by like a song—when two people are madly in love.

Movies in Honolulu produce almost as mixed a crowd as prize fights. They found themselves surrounded by Hawaiians, Filipinos, various types of Orientals and Negroes. One couldn't afford to be a high-brow in this funny outpost in the Pacific. You were thrown in with all the rest of the crowd.

Ruth was accustomed to this atmosphere. She had been born and bred in it. Down here in Honolulu when one went to the movies they know that

"Seven nations mix and meet
In absolute democracy,
Sans sham and sans hypocrisy,
When shadows cross the silver sheet."

They sat close together, their hands clasped, as the love scenes were enacted before them.

It seemed always to be moonlight in Hawaii, Don Carlos thought, as he sat on the lanai of Eugenie's bungalow. The soft mellow light bathed him in its glory, as he sat awaiting her return from the interior of the house.

"I am supposed to be quite famous as a mixer," she had said as she disappeared into the silence of the house. "The servants are asleep, so I shall try to make a drink worthy of our new celebrity."

They had come to the Gray Bungalow atop Tantalus after the successful first night presentation of Don Carlos' play, "Alien Blood." Only the fact that Eugenie could not share the honor box at the theater had marred the occasion for him. The critics had assured him that his play would be hailed as a masterpiece and predicted its success when it reached Broadway, 5,500 miles distant.

When Eugenie returned to the drinks she bore in her hands a carafe and two cocktail glasses upon a tray.

"To happier days," Don Carlos murmured as he drained the glass of its pungent beverage made from okolea hao and fruit juices. There seemed to be no words between them to fit the quiet happiness of the occasion.

Presently she picked up her guitar and began to play some of the lovely melodies of old Hawaii, singing the accompaniment in her charming contralto voice. Each tremulous note hung suspended in the air, casting out its challenge of beauty.

Don Carlos drank steadily. The night called for excess—excess of emotion—excess of sheer joy. . . .

Never had he felt as he felt now; never had he dreamed such beauty could exist.

He wanted to sing; he wanted to dance; in short, he wanted to hold in his arms this mysterious creature.

"Tonight belongs to us, sweetheart. Say you love me, Eugenie, dearest."

"Nights like these must only be recorded in our memory. After all, in those years to come—when memory paints everything with a soft and lovely touch—we can recall that we kept our illusions."

"But, Eugenie, my own—I cannot wait until I am old, until I have only memories to feed upon. I love you. Does that not mean something to you? Eugenie, speak to me! Tell me!"

He looked into her eyes; saw there the same struggle which was being enacted in his own being. But he knew, also, that she was the stronger of the two.

Ominous footsteps on the gravel walk outside; slowly mounting the steps towards them. The blood of Eugenie Nahuli ran cold. The pulses of Don Carlos pounded quickly.

David Nahuli stood before them.

"My wife speaks words of wisdom. Profit in the actual moment, Don Carlos Whiting. And depart. A man's home is a castle."

Don Carlos looked helplessly at the woman standing between them. She had risen at David's approach, her breath coming in short, quick gasps. She nodded her head, slowly. She knew well the price she would have to pay for discovery.

"Very well, David Nahuli. But there will come a day of reckoning—I warn you."

"That is in the lap of the gods, Don Carlos Whiting."

David Nahuli looked at the woman before him. She read in his eyes all the concentrated hatred which even a cruel man feels when he thinks the sanctity of his home has been assailed.

"Unfaithfulness is one attribute I never dreamed you capable of. I shall have to teach you another lesson." He jabbily rolled himself a cigaret. David Nahuli never appeared at a disadvantage; for grace of movement was his.

"What do you mean?"

Her cool measured glance met his, although her heart raced madly.

"You are too clever a woman to dissemble, my dear."

"Please drop any endearing terms between us. Come to the point at once."

"What else could a man think—coming home at dawn, and finding a stranger within his gates?"

"I should say that a man with your mind, and living the life you do, David, could think everything vile."

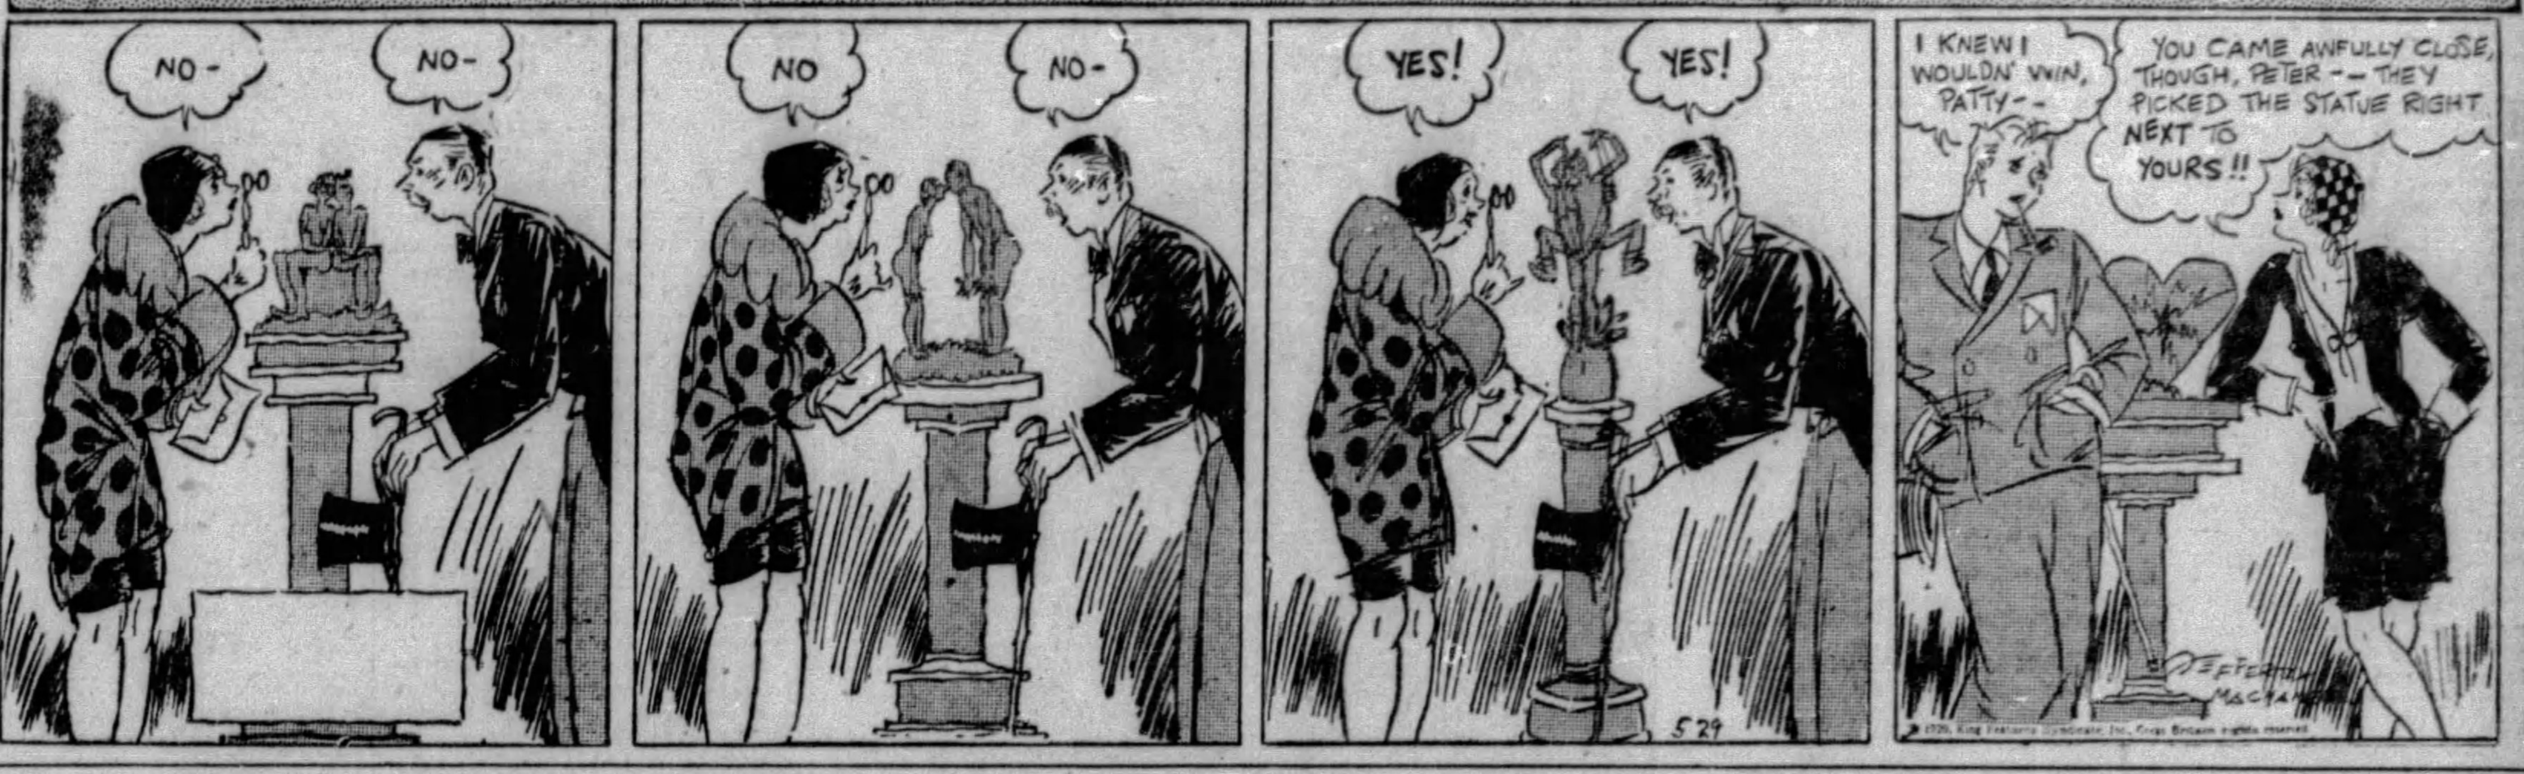
PETTING PATTY — He Almost Won



A SUITABLE WIFE

By N. FLORENCE LEECH

Daily Short Story

HELEN MILLS was the most cheerful girl of Fred Wortham's acquaintance. He had worked in the same office with her for five years, had seen her under the strain of summer heat and in the rush season, and through it all she maintained her brisk cheerfulness. Helen would make some fellow a pleasant wife.

Fred was noticing wives these days—other men's wives. He was almost 30, was earning a good salary, and had decided that it was to his advantage to marry, and of course, to marry well. But the selecting of a wife, he found, was difficult. A poor country boy himself, he aspired to a wife with social background. Having worked his way through college, he wanted a girl who had laughed and flirted, but stood well in her classes.

Esther Johns, a sister of the junior partner, was his first choice. She had youth and beauty, money and culture. And she liked Fred. But Fred realized in time that he couldn't afford her. LaVerne Brown was his second choice, but she was crazy about bridge, and her days were a succession of bridge teas, bridge luncheons and informal tables of bridge. Fred reluctantly relinquished her in favor of his rival, the Jack of Hearts.

But at last Fred found perfection—Patty Reynolds. Full, cupid bow mouth, big blue eyes, hair spun gold, a voice like music, that was Patty. He neglected his duties to go about with her, and her face continually came between him and his work. He even lost the sale of an important property because of Patty.

He compared Patty to an angel, to a purring Persian kitten, and while he sat and dreamed, Helen Mills compiled his forgotten report, typed it, and without comment laid it on his desk for signature.

Helen Mills—she was blonde, too, but her eyes were brown. Patty was like a swaying reel; Helen had hips. And Helen was awkward. Under his searching gaze, she dropped a letter file, and clumsily, with fumbling fingers, collected the scattered papers.

Fred took Patty driving on Sunday afternoon. She seemed tired, so he redoubled his attentiveness. She explained petulantly that she played bridge until after midnight the night before, and that the double helping of salad she ate had disagreed with her. Worst of all, she had wagered and lost her diamond bracelet. She was tired; so tired that she let herself be perfectly natural with Fred.

Everything went wrong that afternoon. They developed a flat tire, and Fred, in his white flannels, got out of the car to change the spare. Patty sat in the car and complained of the heat. Presently she discovered that they had taken the wrong road, and were lost. Patty complained of the bumps, sighed for a glass of water, and finally relapsed into sulky silence. Back on the highroad once more, Fred stopped at the first wayside stand and bought her a bottle of pop and a hot dog sandwich. She tasted the pop with a wry face, then threw both sandwich and drink into the ditch.

"I did the best I could," Fred remonstrated, looking with disillusioned eyes at his scowling angel.

"I pitty your worst," she returned, caustically.

Finally the winking lights of the city welcomed them home. Patty offered a limp hand at parting. "I'll sleep all day tomorrow, and be rested by evening," she said, almost pleasantly.

"I trust you enjoy your sleep," he replied.

Fred drove unhappily through dark streets, put the car in the garage, went upstairs to his one-room apartment. Patty, his beloved, was a plaster saint, she crumpled with rough handling! He wanted a wife he could depend upon in time of trouble. Suppose that after he married Patty, he lost his job, or lost his health, or—not inconceivable—lost his temper. Fred knew that should any of these calamities occur, he would inevitably lose Patty! With a groan he stretched his weary length on the soft bed. How should a well-meaning man go about finding a suitable wife?

Miserable days passed. Fred tried to forget his disappointment in work, but everywhere he turned there were women. Pleasant enough looking women, but what of the real character lurking beneath the pleasing, painted faces? Shrews and idle spendthrifts, most of them. And in the office was Helen, who worked and laughed and dropped pencils all day long.

Saturday afternoon was a big day for the company. They were opening a new sub-division, some distance from the city, and the public was invited. All the salesmen and office force had to be there, and Fred grudgingly offered to take Helen in his car. She matter of factly accepted. The day was hot and dusty, the crowd, out for free entertainment and lunches, was noisy. Fred had a headache, and longed for the solitude of his one room. He and Helen worked steadily all day, and were the last to leave.

Though it was late afternoon, the sun was still hot, the dust stifling, and the country road was terrible. An unexpected bump threw Helen against Fred.

"Some road," she remarked cheerfully, and wiped dust from her flushed face.

"Days like this make me wish I had never seen a real estate office," he grumbled.

Helen smiled. "Hoodoo days come in every business," she answered philosophically.

They were approaching a little bridge. "Let's stop," she suggested. "We can wash our hands and faces, and I have a box of lunch in the car."

Fred watched as she arranged three substantial sandwiches and a piece of cake on a plate for him. Then, as she poured iced tea into paper cups from a vacuum bottle, "You are a good traveling companion," he admitted, and realized as he spoke that the words were true.

"I knew we'd be tired and hungry," she answered, pleasantly.

After they had finished the lunch, they sat on the little hilltop, fanned by a gentle breeze, and watched the moon come up. Fred lay relaxed on the grass. Helen was silent. She was a comfortable person to be with. He thought of Esther, of Lois, of Grayce — of Patty — who nagged when she was tired. Helen was awkward, was always dropping things. She didn't have much culture or background, or any money—

Her hand touched his. "Are you asleep?" she asked softly.

Fred took the hand and pressed it against his cheek. "I was wondering if you would let me pick up after you the rest of my life," he stated.

Helen smiled, and in the moonlight she looked like an angel.

"That will be mighty convenient, Fred," she answered simply, and leaning down, kissed him with awkward tenderness.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Morning Musicale Held In Squirrel Hill Home Of Mrs. H. O. Evans

JUST two more days and June, the month of brides and roses will be here. From now on, social interests are going to be quite "bridal." And no matter how much similarity there is in weddings, one never seems to lose that breath-taking interest in seeing a girl one knows say "I do" to a man one knows. Of course, we never actually hear the vows pronounced, for even these self-sufficient modern young brides are wont to become a bit tremulous.

Just at present, though, there are a few other interests besides weddings, and among them are the continuations of the morning musicales. Another of these affairs, which have been sponsored for the last couple of years by Mrs. Taylor Allderdice and some of her friends, was held this morning in the home of Mrs. Henry Oliver Evans in South Negley avenue.

The program included several solos by Margaret Garrity, soprano, and piano numbers by Katherine Brose. Mrs. W. A. Weldin, who plays the viola, gave solo numbers, and there were groups for the piano played by Mrs. George J. Willock Mrs. William F. Knox, violinist, gave solos, and there were piano numbers by Josef Espisoto. One of the features of the program was a Mozart number played by Mrs. Knox, Mrs. Willock and Mrs. Weldin.

The program had been arranged by Mrs. Willock and Mrs. Knox. And I hear that tentative plans are being made for another musicale to be held in June.

TO return to the subject of weddings, I want to add a bit to the news concerning that of Ellen Page, daughter of the Benjamin Pages, of Colonial place, and Samuel Durand Ringsdorf, son of the Charles Henry Ringsdorfs, of Wilkes-Barre, which is set for Monday, June 10.

I've already told you who the girls of the bridal party will be, and now I can tell you who will serve as best man and ushers.

Anson Barker, of Lawrenceville, N. J., will be his brother-in-law's best man. Francis Le Moyne, Page and Benjamin Page, Jr., brothers of the bride-elect, will be ushers, and other Pittsburgh men in the bridal party are Oliver Evans, Daniel M. Evans, Alan M. Wood II, Cresswell Shumaker, John B. Foley, Jr., John J. Bissell and F. Tremaine Billings, Jr. Paul B. Smith, of Wilkes-Barre completes the list of ushers.

* * *

THE Charles L. Doyles and their daughter, Rebecca, who'll come out in the fall, will not remain in the city for the "little season." They are planning to sail on June 8 for Europe to remain several months. And Rebecca will be presented to the social world at a tea in the family home some time in October. As yet a definite day has not been named.

How Famous Model Bleaches Her Skin

Miss Betty Thatcher, well-known artist's model and noted particularly for the pure beauty of her skin, has her own idea of a skin bleach. She buys no ready-made preparation, but "mixes her own." Her recipe, in her own words, is very simple.

"I get three ounces of Orchard White from the druggist and to this I add the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a remarkably effective and at the same time perfectly harmless bleach. Massaged into face, neck and arms it softens and refines rough and coarse skin and bleaches red, sallow and discolored skin to a clear, rosy white. It also fades away tan and freckles. Nothing like this wonderful mixture can be bought ready to use, for half of its efficacy is due to the fact that it is used while fresh."

Three Changes Made In Congress Heads

OF especial interest always are the annual appointments made at the Congress of Clubs. Particularly is this true when there is a change of administration, as this year. There are to be few changes in the department heads, only three in fact, Mrs. J. H. Dickson taking over the ways and means department; Miss Helen Bennett, the recreation department, and Mrs. C. W. Parker, the department of public welfare. Committee heads are: Advisory, Mrs. Carl E. Coslowsky; finance, Mrs. F. H. Burdick; budget, Miss Alice C. Hall; program, Mrs. J. Charles Wilson; radio, Mrs. Erwin Sohn; calendar, Mrs. Ray S. Judd; house, Mrs. Sherman Massingham; press, Mrs. Paul Hamilton; benevolent-hospitality, Mrs. J. G. Lewis; social, Mrs. John R. Hermes; credentials, Mrs. T. M. Stahlman; permanent loan scholarship, Mrs. J. F. Kirkpatrick; historian, Mrs. D. Allen McCulley, and membership, Mrs. Robert T. Alexander.

MRS. D. EDWIN MILLER, vice president of the home safety division, Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, left Monday to attend the biennial conference of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Swampscott, May 28-31. Miss Miriam Schonfield, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Congress of Clubs, traveled as far as Boston with Mrs. Miller. Returning by way of New York, Mrs. Miller will go to Irving College, Mechanicsburg, where she is to be a speaker on Alumnae Day. Other members of the Pittsburgh Irving College Club who will attend commencement exercises will be Mrs. D. F. Harrison and Mrs. F. L. Schomberg.

Weather Conditions.

Relatively high pressure overlies the states east of the Mississippi River, but there is considerable cloudiness and scattered showers this morning throughout the area. A low pressure area of marked intensity is centered over South Dakota, and covers most of the Plains states section. It is causing showery conditions over all the Plains states. The temperature changes were slight.

River Conditions.

Heavy rains occurred in some localities in the river basins, which will cause some rise in the rivers. Stage at Franklin is 3.7 feet; Lock No. 7, 14.2; Pittsburgh, 13.2; Dam No. 2, 8.2; Dam No. 6, 10.2; Dam No. 9, 11.3, and Dam No. 12, 8.8. The dams are up. The rivers will rise slowly today and tonight. About 15.0 feet expected on the Pittsburgh gauge Thursday morning.

STATE CATHOLIC WOMEN MEET

Several hundred delegates of courts throughout Pennsylvania will attend the biennial state convention of the Catholic Daughters of America, which will open here today and close Friday.

Miss Frances Maher, vice supreme regent and state regent of Pennsylvania, will preside. Miss Mary C. Duffy, of Newark, N. J. supreme regent of the order, will be guest of honor, and a speaker at the reception and banquet.

Reports on the courts' charitable, welfare, educational and civic activities will be presented at the sessions. Election of delegates to the order's supreme international biennial convention at Galveston, Tex., is another item of business on the calendar of the conclave.

Marriage Feature Of Busy Sunday For Pastor

WHEELING, W. Va., May 29.—(AP).—Next Sunday will be a day of much importance to Norman E. Kieffer, Reading, Pa., who graduates from Mt. Airy Seminary, Philadelphia, this spring.

Sunday morning Kieffer will be ordained a Lutheran minister at the convention of the Pittsburgh synod of the United Lutheran Churches of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Sunday afternoon he is to be married, and Sunday night he will be installed as pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Bridgeport, O., near here.

Fruit Fly Quarantine May Include All U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(AP.)—Public hearings on June 1 to consider an extension of the quarantine on the Mediterranean fruit fly from Florida to every state in the Union have been called by Secretary Hyde.

In issuing the call for the hearing, which under the law is a prerequisite to any restrictions imposed, the Secretary said it appeared that the fly had been transported into other states in shipments of Florida fruit.

California Normal Gets College Rank

CALIFORNIA, Pa., May 29.—California State Teachers' College was officially lifted from normal school to college rank this morning by the presentation of the state decree by Dr. LeRoy A. King, of the State Council of Education and the University of Pennsylvania, preceding the granting of the degree of bachelor of science in education to 14 students. A total of 335 students were graduated.

New 'Electric Eye' Sees Through Dark

NEWARK, N. J., May 29.—(AP.)—The possibility of two persons seeing each other in the dark though miles apart is held forth by Paul A. Kober, inventor of a televisor operating with ultra-violet rays. In a test here with his "electric eye" persons in a darkened store were visible to others 70 feet away.

Car Hits Fire Truck; One Hurt, Driver Held

William Halgreen, a fireman at No. 29 engine house, was slightly injured late yesterday when the truck he was riding collided with an automobile truck driven by Ralph Trent, 30, of 7020 Oakwood street, at Hamilton avenue and Albion street. The fire truck was answering an alarm from Murtland and Frankstown avenues. Trent was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

Heat Wave to Stay With Showers Here

Continued hot weather with thundershowers in the afternoon is on the program for Memorial Day, according to a forecast issued by the Weather Bureau. Little relief from the heat wave which yesterday sent the mercury to 86, the highest of the year, was foreseen, it was said. Rain early today added to the sultriness.

Parnassus Man Held After Wild Auto Ride

Claire Hindman, of Fourth avenue, Parnassus, was held for court on two charges by Justice Lawrence Sutton in Springdale yesterday as a result of a wild automobile drive through Cheswick and Springdale Saturday night, after he had broken away from Burgess Thomas H. David, of Cheswick. He was accused of driving while under the influence of liquor and resisting an officer, and was released under bail of $500 for each charge and fined $10 for disorderly conduct.

Woman Near Death From Bite of Snake

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 29.—Mrs. Ida Whitemore, of Ninth avenue, who was called to Kentucky by the death of her mother, is reported in a serious condition. Relatives received word she had been bitten on the hand by a copperhead snake.

YOUNG SUSPECT HURT IN LEAP

Henry Knoll, 19, injured his left knee in an attempt, police said, to escape by leaping from a second story porch of the Newsboys' Home, 5533 Ellsworth avenue, after his companion, Albert Keil, 19, of 2017 Sarah street, had been arrested in an alleged stolen automobile near the home last night.

Knoll, according to the officers, fled from the machine owned by Dr. H. N. Anderson, of 1333 Cardovia road, after Keil's capture by Motorcycle Patrolman George Jantz. The officer, with a firm grip on Keil, raced to the home and nabbed Knoll as he leaped from the porch. The car, it was reported, had been stolen in front of the Schenley Apartments a few hours before. Both youths were held as suspicious persons.

Gets Third License To Marry Same Girl

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 29.—(AP.)—John A. Otley, of Waverly, Neb., second year Harvard law student, yesterday obtained his third marriage license since last November to wed the same girl, Miss Ruth Miller, senior at the Boston University College of Liberal Arts, whose home is in Bellwood, Pa.

Twice before has their application been returned by Otley, but yesterday he announced they would be wed shortly after Miss Miller is graduated. He offered no explanation for his earlier returns of licenses.

3 Held in Killing At Curry Dance Hall

Three men were held by the coroner in $2,500 bail as material witnesses yesterday to await the inquest into the death of Joseph Kijowski, 20, of Port Vue, fatally beaten in a dance hall at Curry early Sunday. He died soon afterward. Those held were Dominick Spasbo, Horning; Americo Caponi, Curry, and Thomas Flaherty, McKeesport.

TRIPLE ILLNESS YIELDS QUICKLY TO NEW KONJOLA

Pittsburgh Man Amazed and Delighted With Results Obtained From New and Different Medicine.

Many of the recoveries brought about by Konjola, the new and different medicine, would challenge belief were the actual facts not known and verified. Every day, in every mail, pour in indorsements, telling of the splendid works of Konjola, the medicine of 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of roots and herbs.

MR. WALTER HENDRICKS

It is not strange that Konjola conquers, even the obstinate cases that have held on with bulldog-like tenacity, for Konjola is actually 32 medicines in one. All of these ingredients work together, yet singly, for each has its own mission to perform in cleansing and stimulating the ailing organs and in driving poisons and impurities from the system. Get the facts about Konjola and its works from the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is conferring with those who come to ask what Konjola means to them in their search for health. Wise, indeed, it is to be guided by the experiences of those who have put their faith in Konjola, and who have been rewarded with new and glorious health.

Consider, as an example of this master medicine at work, the case of Mr. Walter Hendricks, 4546 Carroll Street, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man just a few days ago:

"Most of my life I suffered from a peculiar nervous affliction that baffled absolutely every attempt to relieve it. Were I to get into a crowd my nerves would go to pieces. I became startled at the slightest unexpected sound. I was unable to get a good night's rest because of this terrible affliction. To add to my misery, indigestion developed, and after every meal I bloated terribly. Spots appeared before my eyes, and I had one dizzy spell after another. I had no appetite, was weak and run down, and totally lacking in vigor.

"While I was wondering what to try next I happened to see advertised in the Pittsburgh papers this new Konjola, and the indorsements were so sincere and so enthusiastic that I decided to see what, if anything, Konjola could do in my case. In three weeks the change that came over me was astounding. I was so much better in every way that I could hardly believe that I was the same person. It seemed incredible that such a change could take place in a human being in so short a time. Today I am absolutely free from indigestion, nervousness, dizzy spells, and am eating and sleeping as a normal, healthy man should. Konjola not only relieved me of all my ailments, but built me up in every way. It is easy for me to understand why Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends."

An unusual case, you ask? Not at all; the files of Konjola fairly overflow with such splendid experiences as fell to the lot of Mr. Hendricks. No test is too severe for Konjola. Indeed, this medicine seems at its very best in the strange, stubborn and obstinate cases.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

So in this steamer chair talk a Great New Idea was born

An idea that created a new and scientific laxative . . . bringing relief with comfort and safety to numberless thousands

TWENTY-THREE YEARS ago on the deck of a westbound transatlantic liner, two travelers talked of a wonderful new laxative discovered in European scientific circles.

One of the pair, a doctor, was enthusiastic. The new product, he said, was tasteless, harmless and above all effective; yet easy-acting. It answered every purpose of the old-fashioned violent salts and harsh cathartics without the discomfort and often harmful after-effects.

The other member of the duo was an American pharmacist. To him the new product suggested a practical business idea.

However, he was sceptical. Many new medical agents are produced, but few are stamped with the approval of medical authority.

● DARING EXPERIMENTS ● But the possibilities of the new laxative were too interesting to be forgotten. And interest finally overcoming scepticism, the pharmacist decided to develop the idea that had grown out of a casual conversation on shipboard.

Back in America, he found the new laxative agent difficult to obtain. So he cabled to European laboratories for a supply ample for conclusive tests. In the first trials, he was both experimenter and subject. He took the laxative himself in every conceivable dosage.

Then all of his personal tests were checked in the most thorough manner with a large group of volunteers.

After many months of work, he knew the scientifically correct dose. He knew that the product passed through the body unchanged, unabsorbed—one of the safest agents known to medicine.

● AT LAST—THE IDEAL LAXATIVE! Best of all, he found that the laxative effects were everything a doctor could desire. The product handled the most delicate body tissues with velvet gloves—yet its action was prompt and vigorous but without pain, griping or embarrassment.

The remarkable new laxative incorporated with pure, delicious chocolate gave a product that delighted children and seemed nothing like medicine to grown-ups.

It had all of the fine properties of its active ingredient, plus delicious taste and the quality of gradually dissolving and carrying the laxative into the stomach in a manner that insured the best and most uniform action.

● 23 YEARS LATER—STILL THE PHYSICIAN'S FAVORITE ● In the twenty-three years since the introduction of Ex-Lax, many scientific marvels have been created. Research and ingenuity and genius have brought advance after advance in aircraft, in automobiles, in radio, in medicine and surgery.

But no laxative principle has been found to surpass this discovery made just a little more than a generation ago.

The laxative principle is now the most widely prescribed by the physicians of America. It has won and held the confidence of medical authorities.

And Ex-Lax, improved through the years, remains the ideal means for the relief of constipation.

● EX-LAX IS AN OLD FRIEND OF YOUR DRUGGIST ● ● ● Every drug store carries Ex-Lax. Sold in three sizes—10c, 25c and 50c. Ex-Lax is the modern family laxative. It is safe for the children and equally effective for adults.

PITT PROFESSOR FINDS MAN WHO WROTE MORRISON'S VERSION OF "FAUST"

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

ONE of the learned men out at Pitt University, Prof. J. F. L. Raschen, who is an authority on modern languages and especially on Germanic literature, has just published the results of some researches in the history of the American stage. Old theatergoers will remember Lewis Morrison's "Faust," which used to be a spectacular sensation in the years from 1886 to 1906, when Morrison died. It is this actor and his production of Goethe's masterpiece that Prof. Raschen has made an exhaustive study of, published in the Germanic Review.

Lewis Morrison's real name was Moritz Morris; his ancestry was Jewish and British; he was born in Jamaica and educated in Brooklyn. He played Iago to Tomasso Salvini; Romeo to Adelaide Neilson; King Lear to Charlotte Cushman. He supported Edwin Forrest, Edwin Booth and James O'Neill at various times. Then he put on "Faust," starring as Mephisto.

The Brocken scene became the piece de resistance of his production, the revel of the demons being accompanied with weird and startling electric effects. Weird and startling for that day, when stage lighting was just beginning to be developed.

Prof. Raschen Found Author

While Morrison presented his play as "based on the immortal poem of Goethe," that was more or less blasphemy. The old sage of Weimar would not have recognized his creation. It was Prof. Raschen's fortune to find the real author of Morrison's version—Dr. Gustavus Haas, who is still living in New York City.

Morrison started out with a version by Bayle Bernard, an English dramatist who was inspired by the success of Gounod's opera, and followed the libretto very closely. Morrison met Haas in the street, told him he needed a new version with "a rather strong Mephisto," and Haas delivered the goods.

Morrison must have made his Mephisto still stronger as he went along, for after awhile he dropped the name of the author and assumed most of the credit for the version himself.

Villains and demons were his delight—he once played Judas in the Passion Play and he played Simon Legree in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." John McCullough first suggested Mephisto to him, out in San Francisco.

Imitator Won Suit Over Name

Morrison's success had the result that many imitators sprang up. One of the most annoying was Louis Morrison. He was attacked in court by Lewis Morrison, but won the case because he could prove that his name was really Louis Morrison, while Lewis Morrison's name was actually Moritz Morris.

During 20 years Morrison must have played his "Faust" at least 6,000 times. Sir Henry Irving also played "Faust," using a version made by the Irish dramatist Wills. When Beerbohm Tree put on "Faust," he had Stephen Phillips and Comyns Carr make still another version.

Another interesting link between Lewis Morrison and our time is the fact that his daughter Mabel married Richard Bennett.

Morrison is buried at Yonkers, and his fame has been almost forgotten till one of the literati at Pitt unearthed the facts about this once popular Mephisto.

MARION NIXON DONS MAKEUP WEIGHING 28 POUNDS FOR PICTURE ROLE

By DOROTHY HERZOG
(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, May 29.—HERE'S a mathematical problem. If Marion Nixon tips the scales at 96 pounds, and she wears a costume in "General Crack" that weighs 28 pounds, how much does Marion weigh? The problem may or may not be easier if you know it takes her two hours to make-up. For the picture, of course.

And now they tell me that, Count Andres De Segurola is to be haled before a judge for singing in his bath! Heywood Broun must be right. The Statue of Liberty is just a publicised symbol of the great American strap hanger.

In front of the Biltmore Hotel is Los Angeles' most renowned newsboy. Barney is 19. He's a crippled lad with a sweet gift for singing. It seems that Sid Grairian and Alan Hale heard him warbling 'tother day and opined his was a voice fit to intrigue the song searching producer. So mayhap Barney will turn his stand over to a pal and bee-line into camera range yet.

Jolson Relates Funny Story

AL JOLSON tells a new one. About a young married couple. The lil' woman cooked hubby's first dinner with critical care. He liked it, but complained two slices of bread were not enough, bread being the staff of life. The next eve., wifie had four pieces of bread at his place. Still not enough. The next eight slices. Not enough yet! In desperation she purchased a terrifically long French loaf, cut it in half, and plunked it before her husband. He stared at it dismally and moaned: "Now, we're back to two slices again!" Can you go for that one—as Al puts it.

Al Jolson

Last Sunday eve., the Masquers staged their third annual revel at a midnight performance in Warners Theater. And you can take it from one who squinted at yesterday's dawn that Hollywood that night was no nine o'cloc' town.

FRANCIS X Bushman, Jr., as a model aroused amusement and applause. He's six foot three and bulkily husky. With low cut gown and high grown heels he presented a topping figgur, don cha know. Likewise Robert Frazer, Cornelius Keefe, Mahlon Hamilton, Anthony Merlo, and Walter C. Percival, all of whom paraded in "The Modiste Shop" dress strut. Let the cynics take heart. If there is one thing a man has vast respect for its walking on high heels! He takes to his Pike's Peak elevation like a fish to land.

Sheridan Square Installs Cooler

A new cooling system installed in the Sheridan Square Theater received a thorough test in the heat of Monday and Tuesday, and has proven to be satisfactory, maintaining a uniform temperature of 70 degrees, with a minimum of humidity. Installation of the plant has been going on for several weeks, no announcement being made by the management until tests proved it would work satisfactorily.

Pool at Kennywood To Open Tomorrow

The Kennywood Park swimming pool will be open tomorrow, Decoration Day, and for the remainder of the season. Other features tomorrow will be of the Duttons Circus at 12 o'clock noon. The Playboys, under the direction of Izzy Cervone, will again furnish music for the dancing in the pavilion afternoon and evening. There will be free band concerts by Capt. Cervone's musicians.

Molly Picon Here Thursday, Friday

Molly Picon and her company of Yiddish players will present a musical operetta, "Hello Molly," in the Alvin Thursday and Friday evenings.

Those who play important roles in support of Miss Picon are Sam Kasten, Max Wilner, Gertrude Bullman, Betty Semonoff, Rose Greenfield, Max Rosenblatt, Clara Honigman, Herman Sherotzky, Leon Charas and Sam Levin.

J. S. Murray, Pittsburgh resident actor, is playing character parts with the George Sharp Players, who are to present "Pigs" in the Pitt next week.

Shush

Lola Lane, not difficult, by any means, to look at, is featured in "Speakeasy," coming to the screen of the Aldine.

Klein Villa Presents Memorial Day Bill

A special Decoration Day program will be staged tomorrow night at Eddie Klein's Villa, Thompson Run road and Babcock boulevard. Jimmie Comoroda's Americus Orchestra, with new music and features, will top the program. Ruth Petty, former "Miss St. Louis" of a national beauty pageant, will be on the list of entertainers.

BILL CHANGES ON STAGE, SCREEN

The George Sharp Players will present in the Pitt, beginning Monday, June 3, the popular comedy success, "Pigs." It tells the story of a young man who banks his fortune and future happiness on nursing back to health a litter of sick pigs. This leads to financial success and is the means of winning the girl of his heart.

Billie Dove comes to the Stanley Monday in her first talking picture, "Careers," with Antonio Moreno, also talking for the first time, playing opposite her.

NOVARRO TO SING

Ramon Novarro's operatic tenor voice will be heard for the first time singing the "Pagan Love Song" in his latest starring picture, "The Pagan," which comes to the Penn next. Wesley Eddy will head the stage show, "Castle of Dreams."

"Speakeasy," talking, singing and dancing film, is to be the next attraction in the Aldine. Featured in the cast are Paul Page, Lola Lane, Henry B. Walthall, Helen Ware and Sharon Lynn.

"The Desert Song," an exact duplicate of the stage play except for the great outdoor scenes made possible by motion pictures, stays in the Grand for its third and final week, opening Saturday.

MUSIC IN TOP ACT

The Seven Musical Enchanters will top the stage vaudeville at the Harris the last half of this week. The talking screen feature will be "Blockade," with Anna Q. Nillson.

"The Bachelor Girl," a talking picture starring William Collier, Jr., and Jacqueline Logan, is coming to the Enright screen Saturday.

Richard Dix, in his first talking picture, "Nothing But the Truth," is the screen attraction coming to the Regent, opening Saturday for three days, to be followed by Davey Lee in a talking picture, "Frozen River."

Ken Christie and his group of funsters will top the stage attractions in the Sheridan Square Theater the last three days of this week. The screen talking feature will be "Blockade," with Anna Q. Nillson.

Natural

Billie Dove, in "Careers," in the Stanley next week, has only to look in the mirror to learn that her career is beauty.

The problem has been to secure in one oil the best qualities of the finest paraffine and naphthene crude oils. In our laboratories we have perfected a blend of lubricating oil made from two crude oils. It has advantages only to be found in a two-base oil. Eczema Itched and Burned Badly. Healed by Cuticura.

"Eczema broke out in pimples all over my face, neck, hands and arms. It itched and burned so badly that I scratched it causing sore eruptions that used to bleed. I could not stand sleeves on my arms or put my hands in water, and was unable to do much work. The irritation caused me to lose my sleep and I was a terrible sight.

"A friend advised Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a free sample. After using it I purchased more and in a few months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Manno, 128 East Ave., Williamsport, Pa., July 30, 1928.

TWO ORPHANS WIN FLAG CONTEST HERE

SIDE-WALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

MANY thousands walk into drug stores, confectionery stores, and ice cream parlors to ask for sundaes. Cogitating this, a correspondent digs into history, uses a little imagination, and comes up with the origin of the term "sundae."

"I believe," he writes, "the term sundae originated in Pittsburgh. I remember back in 1903 and 1904 when there was an outburst of blue law enforcement drug stores were not permitted to sell ice cream sodas on Sunday. Several stores hit upon the idea of serving two-thirds of a soda by serving ice cream (in a white saucer) with flavoring syrup poured over it, thereby staying within the law by not selling soda water. These were called 'Sundays' by the local cut-ups owing to the fact that their sale was confined to Sunday. However, their popularity increased so that they were in as great demand as the soda. Eventually the word was ritzed to the extent of using the 'ae' instead of the 'ay.'

"You might investigate this important matter and if it is a fact that Pittsburgh originated the sundae the Chamber of Commerce should be duly notified so that this item may be included in the many things that go to make up Pittsburgh's greatness."

The whole question has been referred to the ice cream investigator who will appoint a committee on research, a finance committee, and two auditors to check the work of the finance committee, after which, say in a few years, a bulky volume will be submitted giving the facts.

My own skepticism moves me to believe that the report will read: "The first sundae was served in Pittsburgh on Thursday, July 23, 1903, the concoction coming this way from Des Moines, Ia."

Perhaps, the most forlorn place in town of a Sunday twilight is the postoffice. The quiet is depressing and the scene somehow sad. At the various desks for letter-writers you see men and women laboring over letters to friends and one-time friends. Sunday twilight in the downtown to a resident brings a sense of loneliness; to strangers it drives them to the postoffice to write a letter home. And the locale of the letter-writing is a strong indication that those who stand and write are without benefit of hotels. They have deserted hot, shabby rooms in the cheaper rooming houses to get free ink and pen in the Federal Building.

A BOXER was in town the other day, who, a few years ago, would have considered a caboose a luxury. But his manager on his recent visit here said he would have to take a late train out of town as his boxer positively would not ride in an ordinary lower berth, the only thing available on an early train. He always demanded a drawing room. The boxer in question is under 25. In the last five months he has made $85,000. "Is he saving his money?" the manager was asked. "He has about half of that last $85,000 left," replied the manager. Boxers, like many other athletes, are always being helped by advice from admirers and the usual result is they lose a great deal of money. Athletes are almost as easy a mark as physicians for stocks of a dubious nature.

Decoration Day always brings back memories of school days. Do the old boys in blue, with gray hair under small blue caps, still go around to the schools before Decoration Day? They came around to gather flowers donated by the students to mark the graves of comrades long since dead. In the suburbs, holding graveyards, Decoration Day, with the morning parades, and the memorial services, is one of the most impressive. You can still talk to aged men who can recount the stirring scenes around Pittsburgh when Lincoln asked for volunteers.

MILK RIOTING INVESTIGATED

With the quizzing of witnesses, police today pushed their investigation into the slaying yesterday of Michael Rockford, 24, of 3 Horner street, when a crowd of 20 men attacked a Liberty Dairy Products Company wagon on West Carson street. R. B. Fink, 51, of 515 Merchant street, and Christ Vierling, 51, of 2466½ Charles street, deputy sheriffs, who are alleged to have fired into an attacking crowd when the wagon was surrounded and stoned, were released late yesterday on bail of $5,000 each by Coroner W. J. McGregor.

Wagons of the dairy company left the plants on time today, each accompanied by a deputy sheriff as has been the practice for the past week. Officials and police said they had no reports of attempted violence.

DOGS ATTACK TWO BOYS

Two South Side boys were bitten by dogs near their homes yesterday, according to the South Side police report.

R. Ganserwicz, 2, of 2316 Seticoe street, was bitten on his right arm by a dog owned, it is said, by David Darrey, 2320 Seticoe street, while playing in front of his home. He was treated at South Side Hospital.

William Winkler, 16, of Warrington avenue, was bitten on the left thigh by a dog owned, it is said, by Mrs. L. Flacica of 986 Warrington avenue. His wound was also cauterized at South Side Hospital. The owners of both dogs were notified by the police to keep the animals tied up.

Children Must Wish Soon To Get Circusland Trip

Boys and girls everywhere in Allegheny County today are wishing their best and truest wish, and hoping that when Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey's circus comes to town next Monday their wishes will have been big enough and true enough to have won them a trip to fairyland as Cinderella and Prince Charming.

Any boy or girl under 9, and not over 12, can send a wishing letter to the Circus Cinderella Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. But it should be sent soon, for wishes without action never would have pleased Cinderella's fairy godmother.

The rules for writing the wishing letter are on this page. Read them, make your wish tonight, and write the wish in not more than 200 words to the Circus Cinderella Editor.

The next Monday you may be picked as Cinderella or Prince Charming. If you are, many marvels await you.

For the next day the lucky girl selected will ride in a coach as fair as Cinderella knew and with her will ride Prince Charming, at the head of the circus procession. The gay clowns, the beautiful ladies, the bright-garbed guardsmen will be their escorts. And Sir Dexter Fellows, knight of circus land, will be their guide.

They will watch the show from special seats after the procession has ended, and later they will see the marvels behind the scenes, in the cook tent, the dressing rooms.

Write your wishing letter now.

Mt. Lebanon Unit Spends Day at St. Clair Club; Lloyd to Be Speaker

The Lions Club of Mt. Lebanon celebrated Memorial Day yesterday. The regular weekly meeting scheduled for this evening was held yesterday in the St. Clair Country Club, Bethel Township, which was preceded by a golf tournament and later followed by a dinner dance and bridge.

Dr. A. F. Haines, district governor of the Lions Clubs of the State of Pennsylvania, spoke on "Lionism."

Ben F. Conaway was admitted as a new member.

Rolf Grien won the weekly door prize, a box of candy, donated by the Rev. W. C. Herrick.

Dr. Haines awarded golf prizes for the tournament, which was held in the afternoon, to the following: Robert K. Boyer, Dr. Haines and E. H. Schaffer. The prize for digging up most of the turf was awarded to H. Peter Van Buil. He received a package of grass seed. H. R. Haines won the prize for the greatest number of strokes taken in 18 holes. His score was 173.

Bridge and dancing followed in the evening.

There were 55 couples present.

It was announced that Walter J. Lloyd, head of the State Employment Bureau, will be the principal speaker at next Wednesday's meeting.

RODGERS FIELD DEFENDED

The incompatibility of droning motors and landing planes at Rodgers Field and the peace and tranquility of the adjoining Fox Chapel Country Club today found its way once more into public notice.

Robert A. Laedlein, president of the Aero Club of Pittsburgh, publicly took exception to criticism of the field by Attorney James Francis Burke, a member of the golf club and director of the Chamber of Commerce. Attorney Burke found Rodgers Field "poorly adapted and poorly managed," in an article he wrote for "Greater Pittsburgh," Chamber of Commerce publication, and repeated his comments in a radio address.

Writing to the Chamber of Commerce and newspapers, Laedlein had this to say:

DECLARED SAFEST

"In that portion of his article devoted to aviation, we are pleased to note the enthusiasm Mr. Burke feels for this industry and the confidence he has in its future.

"However, when he speaks of Rodgers Field as being 'poorly adapted and poorly managed,' he is, in our opinion, either grossly ignorant of the facts or he trifles with the truth. The matter of safety is of paramount importance in aviation, and Rodgers Field was then, and is now, the safest field in Allegheny County. Of the number of fliers who have met their deaths in accidents in Allegheny County, not one such accident occurred at Rodgers Field. There have been as many forced landings at Rodgers Field as at any other; the safety of the surrounding terrain explains the enviable record established at Rodgers Field.

MANAGEMENT PRAISED

"As to management, the thousands of hours of mixed commercial and military flying at this field without a collision or a serious accident, bespeaks the very highest type of management.

"Rodgers Field has more than justified its existence. It has forced aviation upon some people, it is true; but in the case of the vast majority of citizens, it has served to acquaint them with aviation and its possibilities, and, in so doing, has rendered a signal service to the community."

Judge James H. Gray Bible Class Speaker

Judge James H. Gray, of the Common Pleas Court, will address the Men's Bible Class at the Dormont Presbyterian Church, Potomac and West Liberty avenues, Sunday, at 9:45 a. m. John H. Snyder is president of the class. The Rev. U. Franklin Smiley is the pastor of the church.

Walks With Girl, Slugged by "Steady"

"The next time you meet a girl, take her skiff riding, instead of a walk through the park," Magistrate John J. Sweeney told Van Hall, of Buena Vista street, when he discharged him, in South Side Police Court yesterday.

Hall said that he met a girl on the North Side, and was taking her home early yesterday morning. Walking along, he was accosted by a man who said that he was her sweetheart. "He knocked me down and kicked me in the face," he said.

MAITS WARNS OF MAD DOGS

Children playing on the streets are constantly menaced at this time of the year by stray dogs suffering from rabies, according to a warning issued by Dr. Charles B. Maits, city health director.

The bite of a mad dog meant probable death for the victim previous to Pasteur's discovery, Dr. Maits said. Since then, Pasteur treatments have been given successfully to thousands of people.

The value of the treatment depends to some extent upon the prompt diagnosis of the disease. The problem now is to continue working toward the elimination of rabies in the dogs, according to Dr. Maits.

Current experiments on animals encourage scientists to hope that a vaccine will be found which can protect a dog from rabies.

At present, however, Dr. Maits urges that the victim of a dog bite be taken at once to a doctor or a hospital where it may be determined whether the Pasteur treatment is needed.

The dog should be tied up immediately for observation, but under no circumstances should the animal be killed until an examination has been made, Dr. Maits declared.

HAZELWOOD AVE. PAVING HELD UP

The repaving of Hazelwood avenue from Second avenue to Murray avenue was stopped today by Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works.

Lang said he would ask Council for $14,000 additional to buy a better grade of paving blocks than was originally provided.

The project was begun by using the paving blocks in the old pavement that had been clipped for the present job. Lang discovered today that the paving blocks were often at considerable variance of size which would result in a poor job if the practice were continued.

Cab Driver Arrested After Hitting Horse

Tony Maddolan, 21, of Broughton, a driver for the McKees Rocks Taxicab Company, was arrested for reckless driving early today after his cab crashed into a team of horses drawing a Consolidated Ice Company wagon on Point Bridge, knocking one horse down, breaking its leg. H. C. Shaffer, 404 Grace street, Mt. Washington, an agent of the Humane Society, who was passing, ordered the horse killed. It was shot by Patrolman William Dillon, who later arrested Maddolan.

Accused of Abusing Wife and Baby, Fined

Police Magistrate E. M. Trich in McKeesport fined Chester Thomas, 38, of 1124 Railroad street, $50 and costs when his wife testified that he abused her. A blow aimed at her, she said, struck the baby she was carrying.

COMPLAINTS ON RUBBISH GROW

Complaints of failure to collect garbage and rubbish from homes have increased 100 per cent in the last month, according to records in the city health department.

Complaints from sections of the city other than the North Side now average 60 a day and those from the North Side average 45 a day. The American Reduction Company collects in sections other than the North Side where the Allegheny Garbage Company collects.

The increase occurs annually at this time of the year and continues through May and June, due to housecleaning and moving, according to Dr. Charles B. Maits, director of health. From July on the pendulum will swing backwards until the complaints reach a normal average of 30 a day, from the 140,000 householders served, he said.

The health department keeps an accurate record of each complaint and forwards a copy to the contractor serving that particular territory. The department acknowledges the complaint by sending the complainant a postal card with a return card.

The complainant is asked to notify the health department by the return card the exact date and time the collections have been resumed. If the complainant sends back word that relief has not been obtained, the health department continues to notify the contractor until collections resume their natural stride.

The health department requires the contractor to collect garbage and rubbish once a week from every home. The contractors are required to collect garbage once a day from hotels, restaurants, schools, hospitals and other institutions where meals are served.

Contractors are paid on the amount of tonnage collected.

Tarentumite Named On County Tax Board

By a vote of two to one, the county commissioners today appointed Elmer E. Stark, of Tarentum, a member of the Board for the Adjustment and Revision of Taxes. He fills the vacancy caused by the resignation of Congressman P. J. Sullivan.

Stark has been employed in the office of the board for more than 15 years. His name was proposed by Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong of the County Commissioners. Commissioner C. C. McGovern proposed the appointment of H. E. Kunde.

South Park Water Contract Awarded

The Pittsburgh Des Moines Steel Company was awarded a contract by the County Commissioners for the installation of a complete water system in South Park. The contract price was $28,250.

The Commissioners also awarded the contract for the building of the Tarentum-Culmerville road to A. N. Carani & Co. at $98,342.

Police Trap Dope Peddling Suspect

Joseph McKenna, 30, of Stevenson street, sold an ounce of morphine for $65 to the wrong man, police alleged today. The man had been detailed by police, they said, to make the purchase. McKenna was arrested. At a hearing in Central Station he was turned over to government narcotic officers by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones.

600 Castle Shannon Pupils Hold Picnic

More than 600 pupils of the Castle Shannon public schools left the borough this morning in special street cars to West View Park where they are holding their annual school picnic. The school board is in charge of the celebration.

WOMAN JAILED FOR 2 YEARS

Mrs. Agnes Pandaglio, of Scottdale, was sentenced two years in the Federal prison at Alderson, W. Va., by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker for violating a three-year parole of the Federal Court, imposed May 15, 1928. The revocation of the parole and sentence was because of a recent conviction in the Fayette County courts for a liquor violation.

The Federal Court parole was granted after the conviction of herself, her husband, Joseph Pandaglio, a grocer, and her son, Benny Pandaglio, for violating the Harrison narcotic act. They were convicted with others who were members of a drug ring in Fayette County, under the Harrison narcotic act.

The husband was sent to the penitentiary for three years and the son to the National Training School at Washington. The later escaped soon after his commitment and is now a fugitive. Under the parole granted her she was to obey the laws. Upon her conviction in Fayette County she was turned over to Federal authorities.

CITY HALL SITE DISCUSSED

The Castle Shannon Businessmen's Association at its regular monthly meeting held in the Administration Building of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, last night, heard speakers on the location of Pittsburgh's proposed town hall and the Metropolitan Plan.

A general discussion in regard to local topics were held. The members also discussed the organizing of a permanent body for people in the communities which will be benefited by the new Saw Mill Run road, now under construction.

Prof. John C. Fetterman, president, presided. There were 50 members present.

FOUR OTHERS RECEIVE AWARDS

Victors to Leave Friday for Washington; Also Win Preferred Scholarships

Two orphans have won the Regional Championships of the first annual Flag Contest in the Pittsburgh district.

Rosa E. Wilson, 15, National Home for Orphans of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, Tiffin, O., and Thomas Paul Derdock, 14, of St. Joseph's Orphanage, 1366 Troy Hill road, are the girl and boy picked to represent the Pittsburgh district in the final Flag Contest in Washington and the Patriotic Pilgrimage to historic spots of the East.

TYPICAL AMERICAN

Thomas is a typical American youngster. Of Hungarian extraction, his mother died some time ago leaving Thomas, two sisters and two brothers.

Mr. Derdock, the father, is a baker, and found himself unable to educate and care for this large family in a satisfactory manner, so all the children have lived in the St. Joseph's Orphanage and learned the three "R's" from the good Sisters there.

Many tales of Thomas' persistency and desire to learn are told by these teachers at the Orphanage. Among them, one of the most striking is that he sacrificed all of his recesses and most of the play periods while he worked on his essay for the Flag Contest. It is related that he worked until he was forced to stop, and went back to work as soon as the Sisters would allow him to.

WILL LEAVE FRIDAY

The winners will leave Pittsburgh, Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Eva M. Barrett, and the Detroit delegation. The final recitation of essays will be in Waashington, D. C., during the week of June 8. The travellers will return to their homes June 15.

The winners of the National Flag Contest will be given a trip around the world, a complete travelling wardrobe, and generous scholarships.

The two regional champions from each district are given a $200 cash scholarship to be applied to any schooling they desire. Besides Thomas and Rosa, Alberta Anne Howard, 99 S. Fremont street, Bellevue; Margaret Boland, 18 Oak street, Oil City; Kermit Stearns, Cambridge Springs, and William Francis, 338 Fifth avenue, Huntington, West Virginia, will receive $200 each.

LUNCHEON HELD BY KIWANIANS

Kiwanis Club of the South Hills held its regular weekly luncheon meeting in the Mt. Lebanon Lutheran Church, Washington road, yesterday. Vice President James T. Hibbard presided in the place of President Ben F. Williams, who is still ill in his home.

After the regular routine of business, speeches were made by Kiwanians W. H. Rowswell and Jack Thompson, the song leader of the club.

The luncheon visitors were: Howard R. Haines, secretary of the Lions Club of Mt. Lebanon, and John Petaichak of Mt. Lebanon.

Will Rogers Says

PITTSBURGH, May 29.

Well, Lindy put one over on 'em, didn't he? Everybody is tickled to death he did. The papers and photographers had hounded him so much since his engagement that everyone was pulling he would be able to marry in his own quiet way.

He knocked himself out of more wedding presents than any man that ever married. In his old days he will miss those carving sets, butter knives, salad bowls, Haviland dinner set (six of each), and I'll bet Ford would have given 'em a car.

Well, the boy just never was born to be a business man.

Yours, WILL.

WARNING GIVEN LUTHERANS

WHEELING, W. Va., May 29.—Pastors and delegates attending the eighty-seventh annual convention of the Pittsburgh Synod of the United Lutheran Church, which opened its sessions here Tuesday, were discussing today a warning against modernism delivered by the Rev. Dr. Ellis B. Burgess, of Pittsburgh, president of the synod, last night.

In a sermon delivered in connection with observance of the Lord's Supper, Dr. Burgess admonished his large audience not to be too easily influenced by the writings of the modernistic press, as "they would undermine their own spiritual lives and ruin their effectiveness in their parishes."

More than 300 pastors and delegates partook of the communion. Dr. Burgess was assisted by the Rev. P. H. R. Mullen, Swissvale; the Rev. A. J. Holl, Pittsburgh; the Rev. S. G. Dornblaser, Freeport, and the Rev. W. E. Arnholt, Ruffsdale, Pa.

Earlier in the day a conference of rural pastors was held, at which problems peculiar to their work were discussed by the Rev. W. D. Allbeck, the Rev. H. J. Behrens and the Rev. E. A. Ortner.

The convention will sit throughout the week.

2 KILLED, 7 HURT BY LIGHTNING

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 29.—(AP.)—Two youths were killed and six hurt, five seriously, late yesterday when lightning struck a grandstand under which they had taken refuge at the Central City ball park during a severe electrical storm. Central City is 18 miles from here.

Those who met death were Charles Bobach, 18, of Central City, and Peter Solpnich, 16, of Miller Run. The injured were Raymond Weyandt, John Mauger, Frank Zarman, John Skreener, George Swan and Michael Adamitz. All but the latter were in a Windber hospital.

J. P. Jackson, 45, of Hillside, near Latrobe, was seriously burned when lightning struck a pump while he was operating it.

OBITUARY

John Reyer

SHARON, Pa., May 29.—Funeral services will be held today at 2 p. m. for John Reyer, aged 80, prominent shoe merchant who died after a short illness. Burial will be made in Oakwood Cemetery. He was born in Germany but came to America when 17 years of age, settling in Wampum, Pa. A short time later he located in Canton, O., but moved to Chicago. After the disastrous Chicago fire of 1871, which wiped out his business, he moved here. Mr. Reyer established his store in Sharon in 1885 and was in active management until last January, when he turned the business over to his sons, Carl and Fred. Mr. and Mrs. Reyer celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on October 30, 1927. He was a member of the Masonic order, Sharon Fishing Club and St. Paul's Reformed Church. His sons, widow and two daughters, Mrs. Dan T. Burn and Miss Freida of Sharon, a half brother, Herman Schall, of Chicago, and a sister, Mrs. Marion Hohlach, of Youngstown, survive.

Mrs. J. K. Burnett

Mrs. J. Kingsley Burnett died at her home on Ridge avenue, Ben Avon, yesterday, following a long illness. She was bor in West Middlesex, Pa., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones. For many years she had been active in the affairs of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Pittsburgh, of which she was a member. She leaves her husband, state editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; a daughter, Mrs. Byron W. Nettrour, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Gertrude Reed, of Minneapolis; Miss N. C. Jones, of Pittsburgh; J. Fred Jones, of Jamestown, N. Y.; Arthur D. Jones, of Tulsa, Okla., and Howard J. Jones, of Ben Avon. Funeral services will be held at the home tomorrow night, with interment the following morning at the Heywood Cemetery, West Middlesex.

The Rev. J. D. W. Heazelton

FREEDOM, Pa., May 29.—The Rev. J. D. Heazelton, retired Methodist minister, died yesterday at his home, 471 Fifth avenue, after a lingering illness. He came to Freedom many years ago, his first pastorate being here. Later he held the pastorate of Methodist churches at Cokeville, Waynesburg, Canonsburg, Bellevernon, Bridgewater, Ellwood City, Leechburg, Springdale and Bingham street, Pittsburgh. Seven years ago he retired and since that time, due to ill health, he has been spending each winter in Florida, returning here for the summer months. He returned from Florida only a month ago.

Mr. Heazelton leaves his widow, Mrs. Alma Wilson Heazelton, and one sister, Mrs. Ellen Goff, New York. Funeral services will be held at the Sampson Funeral parlors, Neville street, Pittsburgh.

William J. Manley.

William J. Manley, of Cleveland, assistant to F. E. Taplin, president of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway, died last night of acute indigestion during a business trip here. Mr. aMnley formerly lived in Pittsburgh and recently had made his home in Cleveland with his wife, Minnie Irene Manley, and his six children. Mrs. Manley is now in Kentucky on a visit with her daughter Catherine, who is in school there. A son, William J. Manley, Jr., is in school in Sanville, Va. Mr. Manley was the son of a prominent railroad official of the Great Northern Railroad at St. Paul, where he was born April 6, 1882.

GETS 2 MONTHS IN MANN CASE

John Saredolas, convicted in Federal court of violating the Mann act, was sentenced two months to jail by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker. The victim in the case was Mrs. Catherine Magoulas, 27, of New Kensington, mother of five children.

On the witness stand she testified she was under a "spell" when she left her home and went to Toledo, O., with Saredolas and John George, deserting her husband and three of her children. She took two of the children with her.

George, who was indicted with Saredolas, was arrested but jumped his bond and never was re-apprehended. According to the testimony, Saredolas brought the woman from New Kensington to Pittsburgh, where they met George, who provided the transportation to Toledo for himself, Saredolas, Mrs. Magoulas and the two children.

The woman testified that George, upon their arrival in Toledo, told her that her husband would kill her if she returned home. The husband directed the search that resulted in the arrest of the two men and the return of his wife and two children.

M'Keesport Woman's Death Held Accident

AMBRIDGE, Pa., May 29.—Death of Mrs. Pearl Buya, 47, of McKeesport, whose body was found Sunday at the foot of a flight of steps in the basement of a house in Marshall alley, is believed to have been accidental.

John Sobkowicz, of McKeesport, who came to the house with the woman a week ago, police say, probably will be released, Coroner Harry C. McCarter said. Charles Bennett, Ambridge, who heard the woman fall down the steps as he sat in a nearby room, was released from custody.

2 Glasses Water Clean Kidneys!

When you have to get up frequently during the night to relieve your bladder and the urine is cloudy, offensive and scalding in passage, it may mean your kidneys are clogged with acids. This is especially likely if you experience backaches, headaches, dizzy spells during the day, and rheumatic twinges when the weather changes.

When the kidneys become clogged they fail to filter the wastes and poisons properly from the blood and trouble follows. The first thing to do when kidneys act bad is to begin drinking lots of water. Drink at least two glasses of water every morning about an hour before breakfast. This helps to flush the kidneys of the accumulated acids and waste.

You can make the water doubly effective by adding to one of the glasses a tablespoonful of Jad Salts. This makes a splendid kidney diuretic which helps to clear out the clogging acids and restore the sluggish and tired kidneys to full activity. Jad Salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of men and women to keep their kidneys in good order and prevent serious kidney and bladder diseases.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a refreshing, effervescent lithia-water drink. It cannot hurt you. All druggists sell it. Get about four ounces to start with. You'll soon see a change in your condition.

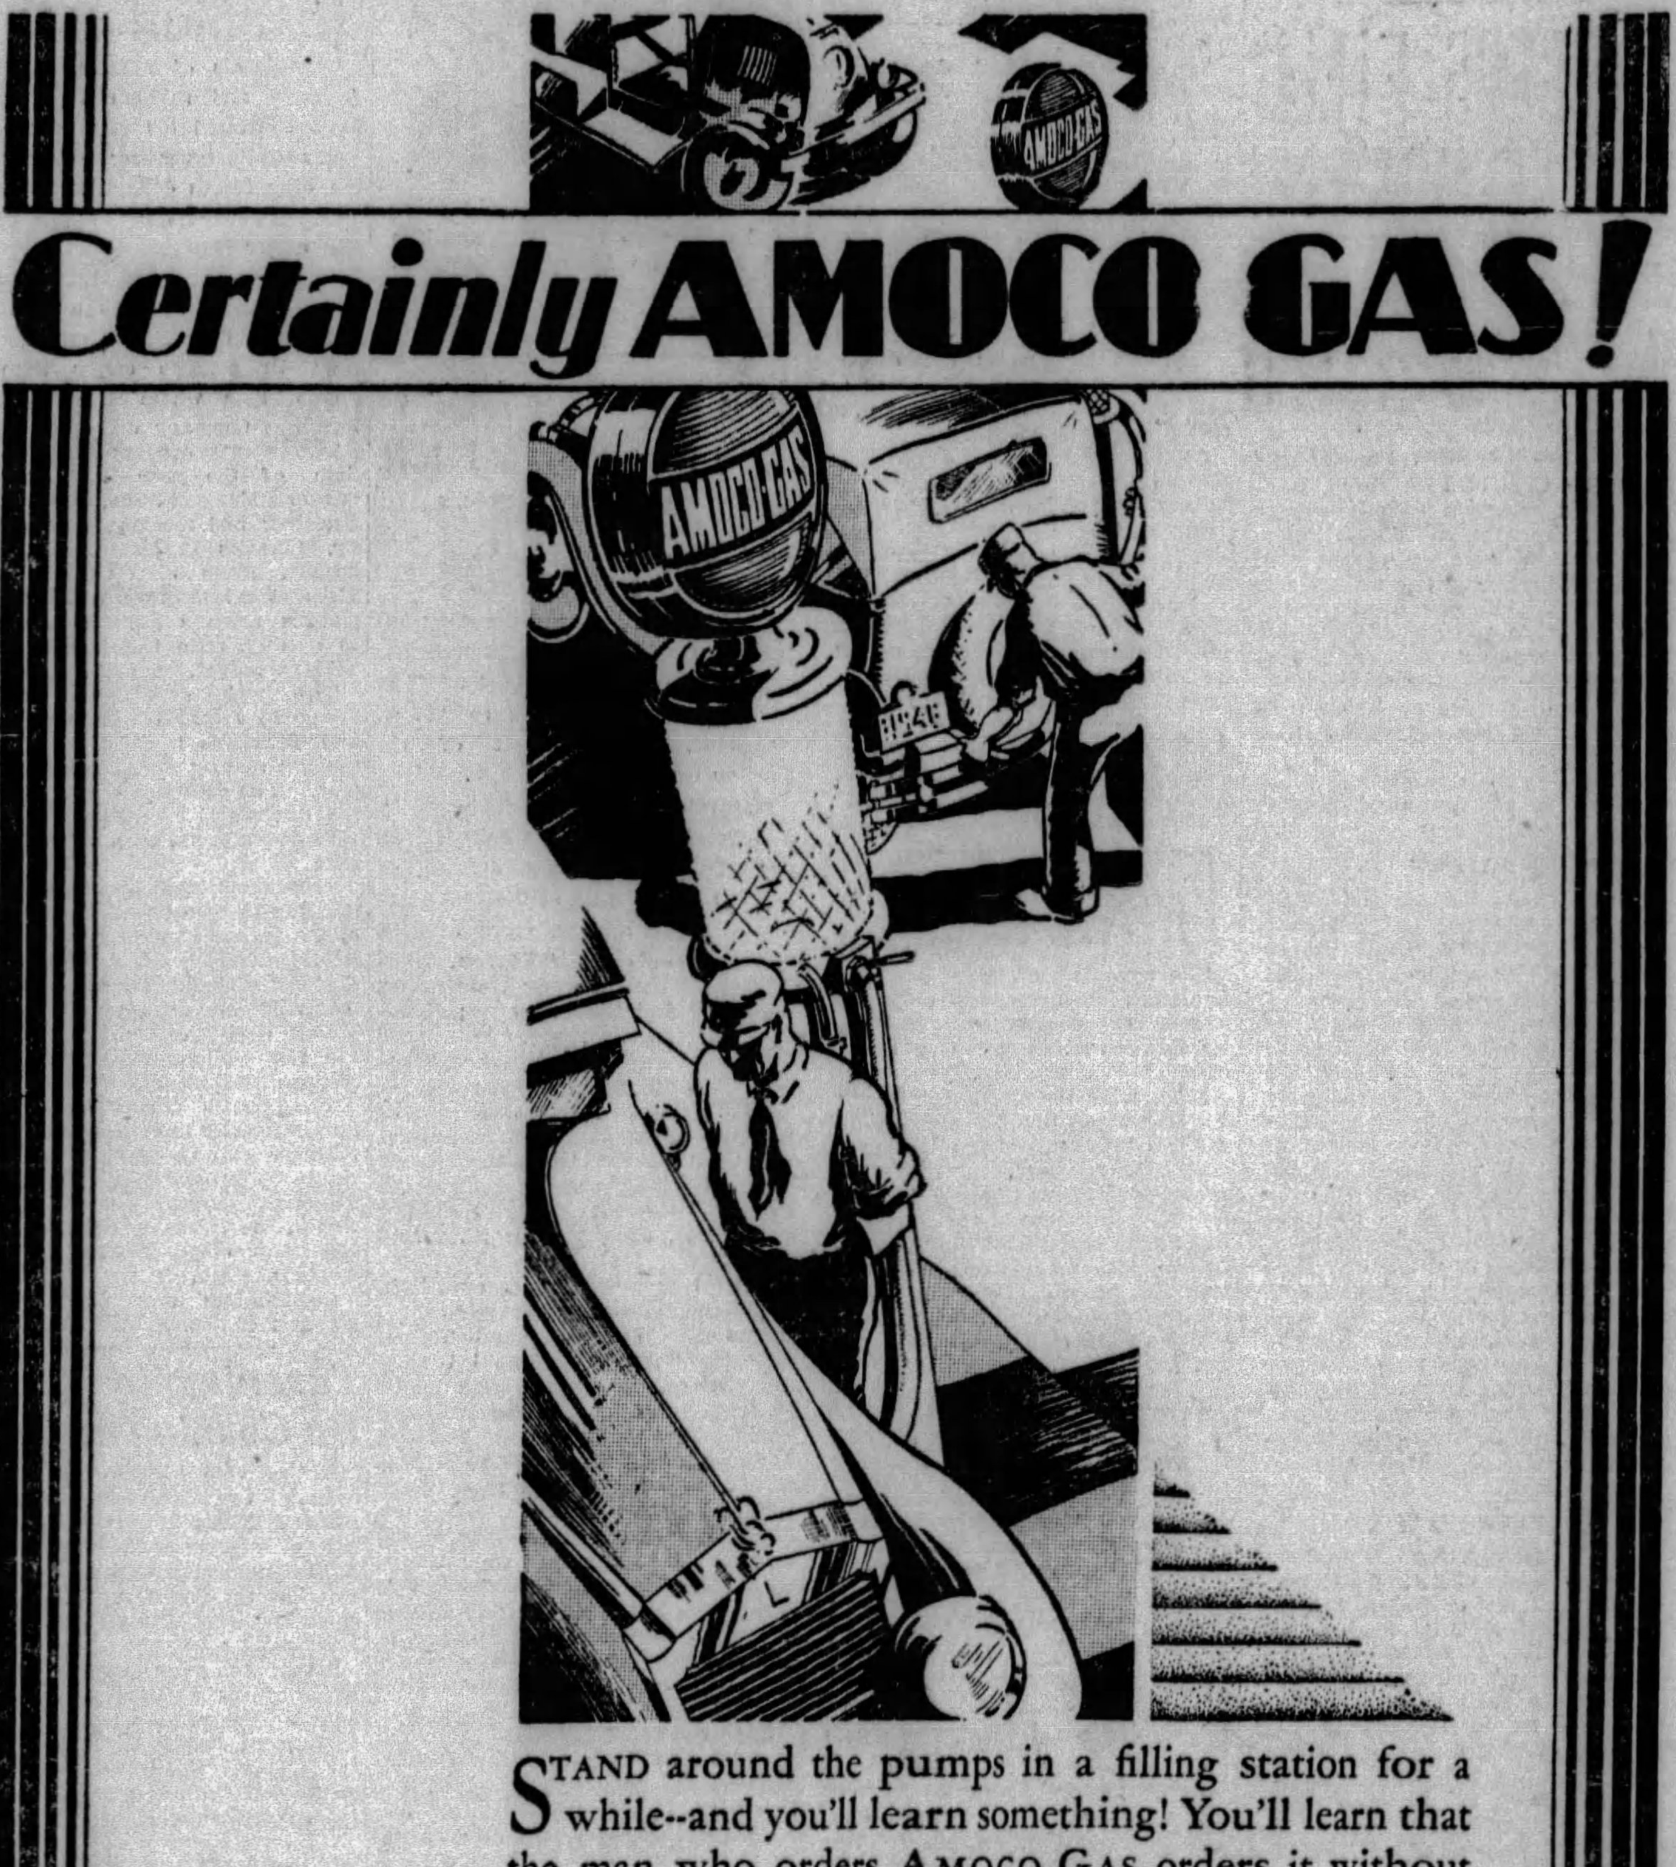
Certainly AMOCO GAS!



STAND around the pumps in a filling station for a while—and you'll learn something! You'll learn that the man who orders AMOCO-GAS orders it without hitch or hesitation—in a tone of voice that leaves no doubt that he knows what he wants and intends to get it!

You'll find that the man or woman who orders AMOCO-GAS manipulates his or her car with certainty and assurance that comes from confidence—that AMOCO-GAS users are plainly motorists of experience. And that their cars—whether brand new ones or veterans of the road-show by performance that they have been carefully driven and kept in the best of condition!

For when a man or woman is proud of a car—you may be sure that it's on an AMOCO-GAS diet—receiving the best of treatment in return for the best of service!

"Certainly, AMOCO-GAS!"—that's the order of the motorist who knows what's what and intends to get it!

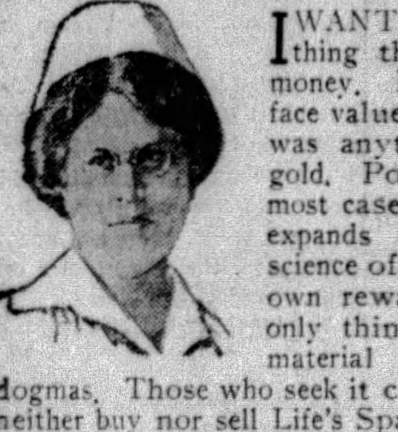
While You May Add Years To Your Life's Span



I WANT to talk to you about something that cannot be bought with money. Diamonds and gold have no face value. You never thought there was anything more valuable than gold. Poverty is a good thing in most cases—it wrings the heart but expands the soul, creating a conscience of love for truth, which has its own reward. In fact, truth is the only thing that can exist without material force correcting all false dogmas. Those who seek it can always find it. You can neither buy nor sell Life's Span. So we all get a square deal in this world. To begin with, we behold one-third of the human race dying with High Blood Pressure. No one tries to stop or remove the cause. One germ causes 70% of all operations and still no effort is made to arrest it. All diseases of faulty Metabolism can be prevented, hence Life's Span can be lengthened by no other process.

If this law is infallible, educate the mind to rule the body so your Heritage will not be stolen. Twenty years of effort with thousands of grateful patients who found a better way than drugging the stomach to get relief in 20 years of trial. NO SUBSTITUTE can be offered for BLOOD CELL SERUMS. There are none. Listen to me, if all our organs receive a normal blood supply, how can we be sick?

BUCS, CUBS CLASH FOR LEAD

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

Pirates' Drive to Top.
Win 17 Out of 22.
Brame Adds Slab Power.
Mitchell Jinx Routed.
Rigler Notes Changes.
Rabbit's First Muff.

BUCS LOSE ONLY ONE SERIES IN LAST EIGHT

THREE weeks ago last Sunday, the Pirates were only half a game above last place. Today they came home after a clean sweep of four games against the National League champions in St. Louis, tied with Chicago for first place in the pennant race. They accomplished the sensational climb by winning 17 of their last 22 contests, topped off with a string of seven straight victories up to today. The seven consecutive wins give the Bucs the National League record for the season. No other club in the Heydler loop has won more than five in a row. Boston did that early in the campaign and New York registered its fifth straight yesterday. The major mark for the year is 11 in a row, made in the American League, at which total the Athletics yesterday were stopped by the Redsox.

Ervin Brame

During their great streak Donie Bush's onrushing Corsairs have met every other club in the league, and the only series they lost in the entire lot, totaling eight, was one to Chicago. They won the last two games of a three-game series in Boston, took three out of four in New York, broke even in two meetings with the Phillies in Quakertown, won two in Brooklyn, grabbed two out of three from the Cardinals here, lost two out of three to Chicago, swept three straight against the Reds at Forbes Field and then cleaned up in a four-game set in St. Louis.

NO CLUB in either big league has played more consistent ball over a similar period. The achievement of the Bucs stands out all the more prominently for the reason that of the 22 games in which they won 17, all except six were played away from home. They have defeated the St. Louis National League champions six times in succession in two series.

The final victory in St. Louis yesterday was all the more gratifying because the pitching hero was Ervin Brame. It was the first game started by Brame this season, and the first he ever started against the Cardinals, and the manner in which he came through indicates another gain in strength in the all-important pitching department. Incidentally, yesterday's game marked the first time in almost two years that the Bucs have defeated Clarence Mitchell. Their last previous victory over the left-hand spitballer was scored on August 3, 1927, while he was with the Phillies. Since then he had downed them four consecutive times.

IN connection with the reported edict by President John A. Heydler, of the National League, which will keep baseballs in play over a longer period with a view to cutting down on the pop-fly home runs that are cheapening the sport, Cy Rigler, the veteran umpire, makes some interesting comment.

Cy Rigler

"It would be a wise move," Rigler said. "This stuff about the baseballs being scuffed and rendered unfit for further use after they are batted against a grandstand or bleacher fence or a park wall is largely imaginary.

"WHY, I remember a game played on a holiday at old Exposition Park in Pittsburgh more than 20 years ago that will show the difference between past and present customs. I was one of the umpires, and I remember distinctly that nine innings were played with one baseball. Just think of that. And to make matters more complicated in the game, there were spectators on the field. It just so happened that the ball always could be returned quickly when it was fouled off, and when the battle ended the same rocket was in play.

"HERE'S another slant on the contrast between the present and the old order of things. In the old days umpires went to the field with only two baseballs with which to run off a game. Now we get three dozen before a game starts. As soon as a ball gets a tiny mark on it, somebody wants it thrown out, and the habit has gripped everyone connected with the sport."

Rigler's crisp comment is timely and will strike a responsive chord among the fans here and elsewhere. Baseball is suffering from a lot of "Chinese" homers that have cheapened the game. In the bygone a home run was a big event, baseball's greatest thrill, and left a pleasing flavor that lasted. Nowadays a club can park four or five ordinary flies in the close stands—five of the eight runs scored in the Giant-Robin game at the Polo Grounds in New York yesterday were homers of that sort—and the average fan will hardly smile.

DURING the four years that Rabbit Maranville played with the Pirates, or in any of the many other seasons in which he appeared at Forbes Field as a member of the Braves, Cubs, Robins or Cardinals, did you ever see him muff a fly ball in trying for one of his famous "basket" catches or in any other sort of attempt?

A search of your memory will convince you that you did not. Neither did any one else, for the simple reason that the Rabbit, according to his own assertion, never muffed a fly ball—until last Sunday in New York.

Rabbit Maranville

NOW Maranville's great record is broken, for in Sunday's game at the Polo Grounds Walter stood under a pop fly from the bat of Eddie Roush and allowed the ball to jump out of the "basket." It happened in the sixth inning after Pat Crawford had hit a pinch homer with the bases filled. Maranville himself is the authority for the statement that it was the first time he ever muffed a fly ball in a major league game. And with the exception of a short period spent in the minors a couple of years ago, the Rabbit has been in the big tent since 1912. They'll

JONES' CLUBS STOLEN

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP.)—pMobby Jones' complete set of golf clubs was stolen from an automobile parked in front of an apartment house last night and no trace of them had been discovered by the police today, the amateur golf champion revealed just before taking a train for Atlanta.

Middies Name New Graduate Manager

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 29.—(AP.)—Choice of Lieut. Commander Frederick G. Reinicke to be graduate manager of athletics at the United States Naval Academy has been announced by academy officers. He will succeed Lieut. Commander O. O. Kessing, who has completed three years of duty at the post here and under Navy practice must be transferred to other duty after that length of time.

RACERS READY FOR MEMORIAL DAY GRINDS

Finishing touches will be put on racing and stock cars at four tracks today in preparation for the Memorial Day auto races. Century grinds are on the program for Ebensburg, Bridgeville and Monongahela, with a 50-mile event listed for Apollo.

Drivers and their mounts began arriving at Bridgeville yesterday, and the pilots will devote the greater part of today to tinkering with their machines and taking trial spins about the track. The early birds at Ebensburg were augmented with the arrival of two Altoona racers, Al Snyder and Harry Hoyer, both of whom will drive cars in the Cambria County race tomorrow.

Lou Hornetta

Wilbur Shaw, who won the 100-mile event at Toledo, O., last Sunday, led the pilots to Bridgeville. Included among the entries who will face the starter's gun tomorrow are Bob Schneider, Shorty Cantlon, Jack Casey, Johnny Krieger, Whiz Sloan, L. Hickson and Fred Bianchi. Eighteen are expected to qualify tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

SHAW AT BRIDGEVILLE

Jack Casey and Ivan Mikan, local drivers, were among the last to file their entrance with the officials of the race and will team with Mike Hickson, Bianchi and Andy Marshall in an effort to grab off some of the prize money for Pittsburgh.

Ebensburg, putting on its first auto race in the history of Charles M. Schwab's palatial Cambria County Fair Association track, expects a fine turnout for tomorrow's 100-mile grind. Some of the leading dirt track drivers of the tri-state district are entered, including Art Stewart, of Greensburg; Speed Fechter, Pittsburgh; Sammy Grabiak, Slickville, Pa., Benny Buntz, Johnstown; Howard Patterson, Ambrdge, and Henry Langer and Lafe Stallman.

In the event of rain, the directors of the race have announced that the affair will be held over until Saturday.

A fine field is entered for the Apollo race, a 50-mile event scheduled for the Apollo Fair Grounds. A series of motorcycle races will precede the main event.

STAR DRIVERS ENTERED

Included among the list of drivers who will compete will be Lou Hornetta, Leland Moyer, Jack McCarthy, Fred Stein, Bob O'Niel and William Baird. This race also will be postponed until Saturday in the event of rain.

J. F. McCarthy, well known racing driver and one-time partner of the late Dario Resta, Italian ace, will drive in the 100-mile stock car race at Monongahela. He will pilot the famous Dodge No. 16, the first car of its make to be sold in Western Pennsylvania, and which is still in service.

Eighteen drivers are listed to start at Monongahela.

WANERS PLAY STAR ROLES

Perhaps it was Paul Waner's wife and baby that brought him all the good luck, anyhow the daddy of the happy family was in a great mood on the way back from St. Louis, where he combed the plain and fancy pitching for nine hits. It was a great series for the little slugger, and the fact that three left-handers were opposed to the Buccos did not prevent Paul from clouting the rocket to all corners of the lot.

BUSH NAMES SWETONIC AS DAY'S HURLER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Tied for first place, the Pirates are back in town today after their victorious invasion of St. Louis, and to make the situation more exciting for the Memorial Day period, the fascinating Cubs, who share top honors with the bold Buccos, are in town for a three-game series which starts this afternoon in the Oakland Orchard.

Manager Donie Bush announced this morning that he would entrust the hurling job to Steve Swetonic today. Stephen faced the Bruins on their last appearance here and was knocked out of the box in the fifth inning. He hopes for better luck this time.

With Ervin Brame pitching like an Alexander, the Freebooters made their fast excursion to St. Louis one of extreme delight by winning their fourth straight triumph yesterday afternoon. The score was 5 to 2.

The tall Kentuckian held the league champions to four hits and from the second to the ninth he did not allow a single safety. In the ninth round, with two gone, Chick Hafey broke the hitless continuity with a slow roller which Dick Bartell could not field. It was a very scratchy hit.

WANER STARS AFIELD

Little Lloyd Waner helped to bring Brame through the rough waters by capturing nine lofts and liners that required all the speed at the command of the Oklamoha jack rabbit. The youngster flirted with the stands on several occasions to stop the Redbirds' wreckers.

Adam Comorosky was injured in crashing into the stands in the seventh inning. The flying Pole was flying at a furious rate in pursuit of a foul from Andy High's bat. He crashed into the concrete and hurt one arm and one leg. The immediate effect did not seem to bother Comorosky, but after awaiting for several minutes the other players learned that Commy was injured sufficiently to cause his retirement. He was replaced by Fred Brickell.

It is not believed that Adam will be long out of action.

The Pirates had to drive a wedge through the spitball pitching of Southpaw Clarence Mitchell to win their seventh victory in a row. The Cubs being idle, the Buccos reached the same level at the crest of the standing, each team having won 21 and lost 12 games.

HIGH HITS HOMER

Andy High reached Brame for a homer in the first inning, but, although the Cardinals took the lead in this round, Brame refused to be flustered. Beginning with the second round the mastery of the tall right-hander over his stubborn foemen was remarkable and his supporters glistened.

The Redbirds were quick to take the lead. After Douthit had been retired, Andy High registered his sixteenth game of consecutive hitting by dropping a homer into the right field stands. Frisch followed with a double and Bottomley waited for a pass. Hafey came through with a little hit to right, scoring Frisch and sending Bottomley to third, but Brame put on the brakes well by making Orsatti hit into a double play.

Reliable Dick Bartell opened the offensive against Mitchell with a hit to center. He stuck around first while L. Waner flied out, but he moved ahead to second when P. Waner singled to left. When Traynor grounded to High, Andy tried for a double play, but Frisch muffed the ball and the bases were filled with Pirates and only one out.

Sunny Jim Bottomley may have been trying a smart move when Grantham grounded to the Card gate tender. Instead of tossing the ball to Wilson to make sure of a

WESTMINSTER MAY UPSET CHAMPS

By JESS CARVER

The sixth annual Tri-State Conference track and field championships will be held tomorrow afternoon at Reeves Stadium, Geneva College's own bailiwick, in Beaver Falls, with the Covenanters as defending champions. The Genevians have been champs ever since the conference was formed, so they will be perfectly at home in the role.

For the first time, however, the various oracles about the sector profess to see a rocky and barrier-strewn way ahead of the Covenanters as they go about defending their long-held laurels. Westminster, boasting a powerful and well-balanced squad, figures to give the Gold and White a tussle, ably backed, of course, by some specialists from Duquesne and Bethany. The Dukes, with Joe Pesci, Snellenback and Kemp, and Bethany, with Fiers, Morris and one or two others, will cut heavily into the scoring column, heavily enough, it is believed, to enable Westminster to emerge on the top of the heap.

This meet will be the only collegiate event of the Memorial Day card and will bring to a close the college spring sport program in this section. While it is hard to lay one's finger on a definite individual, like they say of the bum in the gutter, somebody cares.

TO HONOR MERRIMAN

In connection with the conference meet, friends of Clair Merriman, Geneva's star basketball and track man, will present him with a cup as a testimonial to his fine record made during his four years at Geneva. I know of no athlete in the district more deserving of such an honor than Merriman.

PITT GOES EAST

Pitt's big five—Vic Pickard, Pete Bowen, Everette Utterback, Don Gwinn and Ed Knoblock—leave tonight for Philadelphia, where they will participate in the annual I. C. A. A. A. A. championships at Franklin Field, Friday and Saturday.

MANDELL BOUT POSTPONED

CHICAGO, May 29.—(AP.)—Difficulty with federal revenue tax collectors today caused Promoter Jim Mullen to indefinitely postpone the 10-round match between Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, and Louis (Kid) Kaplan, former featherweight titleholder, scheduled for Friday night.

CUYLER HONORED

DE LUCA VICTOR AT CHICAGO

The light-heavyweight title was carried back to Grand Rapids, Mich., by Martin Levandowski, who handed Harry Allen, Boston, a terrific beating in their three-round final.

Two little fellows, Paris Apice, of Providence, R. I., and Frankie Wallace, of Cleveland, also added titles to their holdings. Apice, junior champion, took away the flyweight title by defeating Malcolm Mathieson, of Toronto, Canadian champion, in a hot three-round final, while Wallace, another Junior A. A. U. titleholder, became bantamweight king by outpointing Don Gonzales, also of Cleveland.

Joe Mack, of New York, was forced to go an extra round to win the 160-pound championship from Ray Tramblie, of Rockford, Ill., and Cowboy De Luca, Pittsburgh, required another session in which to outpoint Johnny Judd, Cleveland, for the welterweight prize.

Wilfred Caruful, an angular lightweight from Montreal, gave Canada its only title. Caruful was given a hard battle by Joe Portek, of Cleveland, but finished fast to gain the decision.

The 122-pound final produced Chicago's lone titleholder when Barney Ross gave Stanley Knatek, of New York, a sound beating.

MRS. RILEY WINS IN ONE-DAY TOURNEY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Shooting a fine 89, despite the handicap of a soggy course, Mrs. L. G. Riley, Edgewood Country Club, former women's city champion, won the honors in the first one day tournament of the Women's Golf Association, held over the Pittsburgh Country Club course yesterday.

Mrs. D. A. Garber, of Montour Heights, with a 93-12-81, finished in second position among the Class A field. Mrs. Carl Vandervoort, Shannopin, was third with 99-14-85, and Mrs. F. C. Campbell, with 94-7-87, fourth.

In the second division, two players divided the honors. Mrs. Hockburg and Mrs. George Kuntz each turning in cards of 101-21-80. Mrs. W. W. Martin was third with 103-22-81.

In the third division, Mrs. C. Marshall led with a 110-25-85. Three were tied for second with 86's, Mrs. King scoring 109-23-86; Mrs. O. M. Boschert 111-25-86, and Mrs. Roth 109-23-86.

The one day tourney scheduled for the Westmoreland Country Club was called off on account of rain and will be held at a date to be set later.

Iovino Scores Win Over Joe Shurra

BUTLER, Pa., May 29.—Al Iovino won a 10-round decision over Joe Shurra in the windup of the opening boxing show at the Armco Field last evening before a crowd of approximately 1,500 fans. Iovino chased Shurra around the ring for the entire 10 rounds, Shurra backing against the ropes repeatedly and covering up.

The sensation of the show was the work of Chuck Taggert, who knocked out Jimmy Connelly, of McKees Rocks, in the fourth round of a scheduled six-round fight. Taggart scored a knockdown in every round.

GUS WINS ANOTHER

BOSTON, May 29.—(AP.)—Gus Sonnenberg's famous flying tackle proved to be too much for Marin Plestina, Chicago, and the former Dartmouth football star retained his wrestling title by pinning the "trust buster's" shoulders to the mat twice here last night. The first fall came in 45 minutes and the final in 10 minutes and four seconds.

M'VEY FOLLOWS LI'L ARTHA'S RING STYLE

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Jack McVey

Jack McVey, the Negro middleweight of Harlem, in New York City, who meets Osk Till, of Buffalo, in the 10-round main bout of the second show in the Meyers Brothers' bowl, in North Braddock, next Monday night, is a disciple of the Jack Johnson school of boxing.

Like Johnson, when the former heavyweight champion of the world was in his prime, McVey ranks as one of the cleverest men in his class. And, like Johnson also, he is of the smothering type. That is to say, he catches most of his opponents' leads in mid-air and steps in close to score his own blows. He shuffles about the ring in flatfooted fashion, which also was one of the Johnsonian tricks.

McVey has met almost all of the stars in the welterweight and middleweight classes, including Pete Latzo, Frankie Schoell, Phil (K. O.) Kaplan and Dave Shade, and he plans to go through with his postponed bout with George Courtney, the hard-hitting title contender, on the all-star card headed by Kid Chocolate and Videl Gregorio in Philadelphia two nights after his meeting with Till here. He is managed by Billy McCarney, one of the real veterans among the pilots and the man who was grooming the late Luther McCarthy for the heavyweight crown when the latter met his death in the ring against Arthur Pelky back in the White Hope days.

TILL'S RECORD GOOD

Till has a bit of a record himself and is well know to the fans of this section for his battle with Garfield Johnson at Duquesne under the auspices of Jules Beck, now matchmaker of the Meyers Bowl, last year. He is a clever boxer and a hard body walloper and a former sparring partner of Gene Tunney when the latter was heavyweight champion. He is managed by Paul (Red) Carr, of Buffalo, who also handles Jimmy Slattery and Jimmy Goodrich, among others. His record during the last year includes knockout victory over Archie Cross, Vic McLaughlin, Young Fisher and Boboy Williams, victories by decisions over Charley Arthurs, Billy Vidabeck, Art Weigand, Garfield Johnson and Harry Ebbets, draws with Sunny Jim Williams, and Garfield Johnson and a defeat by Maxie Rosenbloom.

Augie (Young) Zabish, Beltzhoover's comeback star, who meets Tug Phillips, of Erie, and formerly of this city, in the 10-round main bout of the final show of the season in Francis Flynn's Moose Temple arena Friday night, is doing his training for the battle in the gymnasium of St. Joseph's Lyceum, Mt. Oliver, and going on the road for a long stretch each morning. He is anxious to be at his best for the battle, for he realizes a victory in decisive fashion will put him in the running for a "big shot" in the Meyers Brothers bowl at an early date. Augie is ambitious and wants to meet some of the stars in the lightweight class. Al Rammey, the German, whom he knocked out in six rounds at Johnstown last Thursday night, is fighting an eight-round windup at Mitchel Field, L. I., tonight, against Frankie Oben. He has had a number of bouts since his arrival in this country and was keenly disappointed over his knockout at the hands of Augie.

GLASSMAN BUYS WALLACE

Phil Glassman, manager of Benny Bass, has purchased the contract of Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, for a reported sum of $10,000.

Al Singer, recently knocked out by Ignacio Fernandez, has been signed to box Leo (Kid) Roy, of Canada, in the main bout of a show at the New York Coliseum, June 6. Pete Nebo and Al Ridgeway likely will box the semi-final.

Midget Wolgast, state flyweight champion, boxes Steve Cole, Allentown (Pa.) veteran, in the main bout of a show at the New Broadway arena in Philadelphia tomorrow night.

Jack DeMave, New Jersey heavyweight, who recently registered a hit although he lost on a foul to Ike McFowler, of Johnstown, at Motor Square Garden, and then was knocked out by Otto Von Porat in Chicago, boxes Germany Heller in a 10-round bout at West New York, N. J., tonight. Petey Mack and Al Bryant are in the semi-final. Jock Malone meets Wilson Yarbo at Oakland, Cal., Tom Heeney boxes Elzear Rioux at Montreal and Willie Davies, Charleroi flyweight star, battles Luis Carpentero, Filipino, at Akron.

Reed Brown has matched his light-heavyweight, Frank Monroe, with Maxie Brown, of Youngstown, at Youngstown next Tuesday night. It will be a six-round battle and their third meeting.

Fairhope Swamps Vesta No. 6, 15-0

DENBO, Pa., May 29. — Fairhope had an easy time defeating Vesta No. 6 in the Monongahela Valley League here yesterday, 15 to 0. The game was loosely played. The visitors scored two or more runs in each inning.

MEMORIAL DAY MEET CARDED

One of the most interesting features of Greater Pittsburgh's Memorial Day celebration tomorrow, in an athletic way, will be the track and field meet to be held at Kennywood Park, following the conclusion of a modified Marathon race, which will start in the downtown district of Pittsburgh at noon.

The field in the Marathon run is a classy one, and includes such well-known stars as Rufus Tankins, who for a long time was supreme in these parts; Frank Jerry, of New Castle, a veteran racer; Mose Smith, champion 30,000-meter walker of the A. M. A.; Donald Rowbottom, of the North Side; Richard Dewhurst, Alfred J. Patton, of Monon City; Clark M. Lockard, of Duquesne; John F. Kelley, of Carnegie Tech, and a score of others.

PIRATES, CUBS TIE FOR LEAD

force at the plate, Jim ran to the bag, retired Grantham, but his shot to the plate was high and Bartell was safe. Bottomley may have figured that he could not have doubled Grantham by throwing to the plate first.

Lloyd Waner tied up the game in the third after forcing Bartell, who opened the round with a walk. Brother Paul whipped a single to right that sent Lloyd on his way to third, from whence he tallied on Traynor's clout to Orsatti.

Gelbert's low throw to Bottomley allowed Brother Lloyd to dent the home plate and break a deadlock in the fifth. Lloyd doubled to center with one out. P. Waner grounded to Gelbert, who tossed low to Bottomley, the center fielder scoring.

Comorosky pried off the sixth with a triple to right center. Sheely walked, but Hargreaves popped to High. Commy tallied as Brame was forcing Sheely.

Hargreaves gave the Buccos their fifth tally in the eighth after being struck with a pitch. One was out at the time, but Brame came through with a fine double to center, scoring his catcher.

YOST ADMITS TAD THROUGH

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 29.—(AP.)—Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at the University of Michigan, who on several occasions has announced his retirement as football coach only to take up leadership with the opening of the gridiron season, has permanently retired, he said today.

"I will never coach again under any condition; I have permanently retired," he said.

The statement was made after Yost had admitted that Elton E. (Tad) Wieman would not be a member of the football coaching staff next fall.

Asked who would coach the team Yost said:

"Our coaching plans for football have not been completed; I expect to complete them soon."

He volunteered no comment when the name of Dr. John W. Wilce, retired football coach of Ohio State, was mentioned.

While Wieman was regarded as head football coach at Michigan last season, he was never officially designated as such. The official directory of the Michigan coaching staff does not include a football nor a basketball coach. Specialists are named as coaches for seven different sports, but football and basketball are not included.

Long's Sport Comment

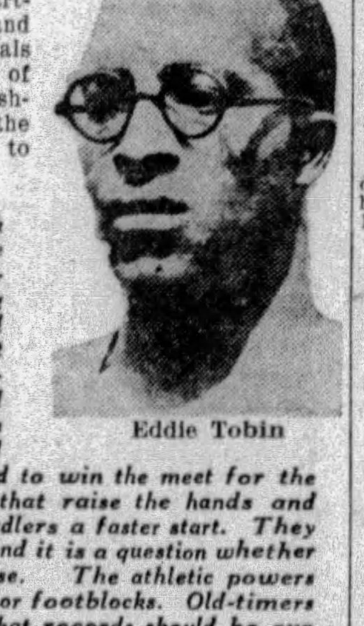
have to find a place for that long career without a muff among baseball's most extraordinary performances.

THE old and popular Withers Stakes will be the next horse race to claim the attention of turf fans. It will be run tomorrow at Belmont Park, and added interest is given to it by the fact that Blue Larkspur, the Kentucky Derby favorite that finished fourth, may be among the starters. It will be his third race of the year, if he starts, and if the course is dry and fast it may show whether or not the muddy track has anything to do with his defeat at Churchill Downs.

The first running of the Withers dates back to Jerome Park in 1874. The race was shifted to Morris Park in 1891, and has been a fixture at Belmont Park since 1905. Man o' War set a new record of 1 minute 35 4-5 seconds for the mile distance in 1920, and this was equaled by Snob II in 1922.

COLLEGE sprinters have been equaling the world record of 9.6 seconds for 100 yards numerous times this season, and in the Big Ten championships last Saturday, Eddie Toben, the bespectacled Negro flier of the University of Michigan, was clocked at the record time of 9.5 seconds in defeating George Simpson by an eyelash finish.

All along there has been a question as to whether these sensational performances would be accepted officially, owing to the fact that the runners have been aided by possibly a fifth of a second in starting speed by the use of the starting foot-blocks introduced by Baird and Cushel, of Iowa, in the final Olympic trials last year. These blocks raise the feet of the runner, give them a much better push-off and are a great improvement over the jagged holes that the runners were wont to dig for their feet.



Eddie Tobin

HOWEVER, that isn't the only block question before the house. There is another to be considered, and those interested in track sports are wondering what action the I. C. A. A. A. A. will take on the matter when it comes up at the big annual meet to be held at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, next Friday and Saturday. The second debate centers around a different kind of blocks used by Stanford University, generally picked to win the meet for the third straight time. They are blocks that raise the hands and shoulders, giving lanky sprinters and hurdlers a faster start. They have never been introduced in the East, and it is a question whether the I. C. A. A. A. A. will allow their use. The athletic powers have never sanctioned either handblocks or footblocks. Old-timers insist that they should not do so, and that records should be run against in the same manner in which they were made—by natural ability and developed style instead of with the aid of outside appliances.

IOWA MAY BE REINSTATED

IOWA CITY, Ia., May 29.—(AP.)—Reconsideration of the action taken by the Western Conference Saturday in severing athletic relations with the University of Iowa, has been asked by the Hawkeye institution in a resolution telegraphed to Prof. G. A. Goodenough of the University of Illinois, chairman of the faculty committee of the Big Ten.

This was revealed after a four-hour session by the Iowa athletic council. President Walter A. Jessup, E. H. Lauer, athletic director, and Maj. John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner, asserted that the issue was not one of a "slush fund" but one of complete faculty control of athletics.

Resolutions passed by the Iowa athletic council yesterday, asking for a hearing on the charges by the Big Ten faculty committee, promised complete control of athletics by the university.

Charges of subsidizing athletics, the university officials said, did not form the issue at the conference with Maj. Griffith. Such charges, it is said, will be taken up at a rehearing by the conference faculty committee. An immediate hearing has been asked.

SPECIAL MEETING PLANNED

CHICAGO, May 29.—(AP.)—Recovery from its most painful illness during its long existence today was in sight for the Big Ten Conference.

The athletic council of the University of Iowa, expelled from the organization for violation of rules concerning the subsidizing of athletes, last night wired Prof. G. A. Goodenough, of the University of Illinois, chairman of the faculty committee, that it had requested President Walter Jessup to ask reconsideration of the drastic ruling.

Prof. Goodenough said he would not call a meeting of his committee until he had received a formal request from President Jessup, and until he had sounded out his colleagues, but indicated the latter would be favorbale and that such a meeting would be held soon. Goodenough said he would communicate with other members of the committee today and would call a special session if instructed by them.

The Illinois representative on the committee also declared that a special committtee appointed to investigate evidence of violations on the part of other Big Ten schools had no specific cases on hand, but was looking into the affairs of each school generally.

CRACK SHOTS AT CONNEAUT

A number of crack shots from the Pittsburgh district and hundreds from other parts of Pennsylvania will gather tomorrow in Conneaut Lake, Pa., where, as one of the many activities of the annual contact camp of the Reserve Officers of Pennsylvania, they will shoot it out for three trophies, donated for pistol shooting competition by Pittsburghers.

Capt. Roger Metcalf has been appointed chairman of the pistol contests. He announced that there will be elimination tests Friday and Saturday, with the finals to be held Sunday afternoon—the closing day of the contact camp.

The trophies, large silver cups, have been given by two department stores and the third by Irving Wolffe, local merchant. They will go to the best individual, team and chapter scorers.

Capt. A. A. Smith, of Sharon, is chairman of the golf tournament, which, like the shooting, will have its finals Sunday. The camp, under the command of Col. Thomas M. Anderson, will give credits for actual hours spent in military maneuvers. More than 500 officers will attend.

WESTINGHOUSE TAKES LEAD IN SECTION I

Westinghouse High School slipped into undisputed possession of first place in Section 1 of the City League yesterday, defeating the defending champion, Schenley, 6 to 5. As a result, the Section 1 race, already a week late, due to postponements, will very likely be extended for another week at least. Schenley, with one game remaining, that with Fifth Avenue, is certain to wind up in a tie with the team that defeated it yesterday.

Jim Matoney, Westinghouse's righthand flinger, limited the Bellefielders to six hits and struck out six men, three of them in the final inning. He had one bad inning, the sixth, when Schenley bunched hits to score three runs.

ERRORS COSTLY

Heavy hitting by Rentler and Dermer, of Westinghouse, along with some costly errors, contributed to Schenley's downfall.

In the final inning, with two retired via the strikeout route, an error and a single put the tying and winning runs on the bases, but Mtoney fanned Joe Mihm, Schenley catcher, to save his own game. The score:

OLIVER SCORES WIN

Oliver put on a three-run rally in the final innings to defeat Allegheny, 4 to 2, in a Section 2 game and hold on to its mathematical chance of tying Langley for the sectional lead. Carmody, Oliver hurler, continued his fine pitching, fanning 10 Allegheny batsmen.

FERRY STOPPED BY PROFIO

Harry (K. O.) Ferry, former McKeesporter, who had to go to New York to win fights, came back to his home town last night and lasted less than two rounds against Dominick Profio, Red Mason's slugger from Cecil, Pa. Ferry was half-pushed, half-punched over the ring ropes in the second round and after being helped into the ring by Referee Al Grayber, was unable to arise from the floor until after the fatal 10 had been tolled over him.

Profio therefore got credit for a two-round technical knockout over Ferry, the end coming 30 seconds after the bell sent the fighters on their way for the second round. Ferry suffered a sprained back in falling over the ropes and was hurt. At least that's what the boxing commission doctor said after examining Harry.

The semi-final bout of six rounds brought together Allen Beatty, home town favorite, against Leo Kyburski, hard rock from Swissvale. At the conclusion of what proved to be the best bout on the card, a draw verdict was announced.

After punching Mike Rubby, of Connellsville, around the ring for more than five rounds, Howard Williams, Swissvale Negro, socked a hard right to his opponent's chin and Ruby went down and out. Referee Grayber did not even take time to count over the Connellsville novice, but picked him up and helped him to his corner. Ruby was a substitute for George Kerston of McKeesport.

Frankie Lanz, of Sharpsburg, weighing 126¼, and Joey Angelo, Frank Klaus' protege from Braddock, scaling 127½, punched each other around the ring for six rounds with Lanz getting the verdict in the opening bout.

Carpentier Plans Movie Career In Hollywood

NEW YORK, May 29.—(INS.)—Georges Carpentier, debonair Frenchman who once held the light heavyweight boxing championship of the world, plans to leave here soon for Hollywood, where he expects to appear in the movies. Following his arrival here from Europe last night, the "orchid man" hinted somewhat vaguely that he might attempt a ring comeback if the offers of the moving picture magnates are not sufficiently lucrative.

At the same time another former champion of the light heavyweight division, the veteran Mike McTigue, announced he had definitely retired from the ring. Mike was knocked out by George Hoffman, a youngster, here Monday night.

Incidentally McTigue revealed that he is no less than 45 years old. He was generally believed to be between 38 and 40.

WANERS STAR IN ST. LOUIS

ica roving center in the last melee. Ervin Brame was smart enough to make the St. Louis sluggers paddle the ball the longest section of the park, and little Lloyd cruised about like a sub chaser in quest of the long lofts. He rang up nine putouts, which is just about par for the course.

COMMY INJURED

Adam Comorosky probably will limp for some time as a result of his collision with the left field stands. The Polish boy apparently was thinking of nothing but the runway rocket as he crashed into the concrete. After a brief respite he wanted to continue, but Capt. Traynor, who ran to Commy's aid, realized he was hurt, and Pie held up the game until Brickell replaced Adam.

Hours after the accident, Commy suffered considerably and he was given a lot of treatment on the return journey. His left knee was painfully jammed.

The quality of Brame's pitching is difficult to overestimate. From the start of the second until the battle ended he was the complete master of the Redbirds, sending them back to their coop in silent procession. Just one lone Cardinal worked his way to second base after the second round and he went to that point with Ervin's permission.

After two were out in the ninth, Chick Hafey tapped a slow roller to Dick Bartell. The chance was easy compared to some of those handled by Daredevil Dick in the big series. In trying to scoop up the easy roller, Dick failed to get hold of the ball and it was called a hit. Brame then elected to concentrate on Orsatti, so Hafey went to second unmolested.

BRAME SHOWS CLASS

Any sharpshooter who holds the slugging Cardinals hitless through seven innings has to have courage, control, stuff on the ball and pitching intelligence. Brame combined these four essentials in a beautiful manner.

And he contributed to his own success with a smashing double that scored Charlie Hargreaves from first base.

City Pools to Open For Season Tomorrow

The 1929 outdoor swimming season at the Bureau of Recreation pools will open tomorrow morning. The 11 municipal pools will have suitable opening day programs, which will continue from the 10 o'clock opening time until 6 in the evening.

The following pools will be opened: Oliver, South Tenth and Bingham streets; Arlington, Sterling and Eccles; Homewood, Hamilton and Lang; Katherine Kline, Washington boulevard and Burpee street; Kennard, Kirkpatrick and Reed; Leslie, Forty-sixth and Butler; Olympia, Virginia avenue and Olympia street; Ormsby, South Twenty-second and Sidney; Phillips, Phillips Park, Carrick; Schenley Park, and the Sheraden pool, Surban, near Sherwood.

Carpentier Wins Over Joe Boychan

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., May 29.—U. S. Carpentier defeated Joe Boychan, of Steubenville, in the 10-round main bout of the opening show of the new local outdoor arena last night. Boychan led the early stages of the battle, but gave way before a great rally by Carpentier over the last half of the route.

Ken Hargraves defeated Frankie Buff in the semi-final of six rounds, while Young Hart, dusky Leechburg battler, took the easiest way out in his bout with Jim Duffy, of New Kensington, by flopping in the first round. Luther McCarthy, Harwick, scored a knockout over Gussie Lewis in the fifth. Joe Keally was the referee.

CITY LEAGUE NINES CLASH TODAY

By TOM BIRKS

The weather man certainly put a crimp in a good sandlot card last evening, when a heavy storm at game time practically killed off every game in the district. Pop Geer, wide-awake manager of the Stowe Civics, got on the phone and, together with Ed Book, arranged for the Book Shoe game to be played this evening at Stowe Field.

CALLAHAN TO HURL

With Callahan scheduled to oppose Gue Otey, the Rox fans should see a real ball game. The Shoe boys usually put up a great game at Stowe, and this session should be just as good. The other game in the City League will find the W. L. Reineckers meeting St. Johns at Sullivan Field.

Two games will be played in the Inter-County League. The Jimmy Smith club will tangle with Dormont, and Beaver Falls clashes with Butler. This game will find Fritz Wilson in the firing line for the Beaver Valley boys. Wilson stood the Jimmy Smith club on its head at Magee Field and, with a great fielding team behind him, should go well for Ed Harvey.

CIVICS PLAY W. O. W.

The Stowe Civics will play two games Decoration Day with the local rivals, W. O. W. The first game will start at 1:30 p. m. and the second game at 6 p. m. Both games will be played at Stowe High School Field. On Friday evening Stowe will play the Beltzhoover club of the Inter-County League at Stowe.

A great battle should be staged in the West Penn League this evening when Pete Elder takes his North Bessemer outfit to Murraysville to meet Geiger's Export-Murraysville nine. This is one game that Export is out to win, for when Elder lands in the town something usually happens.

33 TO START AT INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29.—(AP.)—Cliff Bergere, Los Angeles daredevil, dashed through the dark at 103 miles an hour last night to complete the field for the seventeenth annual 500-mile automobile race to be run here tomorrow.

Two other pilots, equally as daring, made a last-minute effort to gain positions for the race, but the darkness proved too great a hazard. They were Zeke Myers, Philadelphia, and Sam Greco, Scranton, Pa. Their cars could be discerned only by the fire streaming from their exhausts. Meyers, the last to try, was flagged from the track when it was apparent his efforts would prove unavailing.

Ernest Triplett, of Los Angeles, driving a car which he had handled only a few minutes and on a course entirely new to him, made the best speed of the day when he whirled over the bricks at 114 miles an hour. During the day 14 cars won as many vacant places in the starting line. Nineteen others had qualified on other days.

The starting field, as a result of the qualifying and elimination trials, will consist of the following drivers: Cliff Woodbury, Chicago; Leon Duray, Los Angeles; Ralph Hepburn, Los Angeles; Tony Gulotta, Kansas City; Deacon Litz, Dubois, Pa.; Russell Snowberger, Philadelphia; Ray Keech, Philadelphia; Billy Arnold, Chicago; Jules Moriceau, Paris, France; Louis Chiron, Paris France; Louis Meyer, High Gate, Cal.; Lou Moore, Los Angeles; Peter De Paolo, Los Angeles; Bill Spence, Los Angeles; Babe Stapp, Los Angeles; Bob McDonough, San Francisco; Phil (Red) Shafer, Dallas, Tex., and Flint, Mich.; Peter Kreis, Knoxville, Tenn. Johnny Seymour, Escanaba, Mich.; Earnest Triplett, Los Angeles; Fred Winnai, Philadelphia; Wesley Crawford, Los Angeles; Rickliffe Decker, Staten Island; Frank Farmer, Philadelphia; Fred Frame, Los Angeles; Carl Marchese, Milwaukee; Albert Karnatz, Detroit; William (Speed) Gardner, East Liberty, Pa.; Herman Schurch, Hollywood, Cal.; Frank Brisko, Milwaukee; Philip F. Pardee, Los Angeles; Jimmy Gleasan, Philadelphia; Cliff Bergere, Los Angeles.

A New Bus Station in Pittsburgh for Greyhound Lines

The largest and most completely equipped bus station in Pittsburgh opens tomorrow. The new Greyhound Lines Bus Station is located at Liberty Ave. at Grant St., facing the Pennsylvania Station. Everything that contributes to the comfort and convenience of travelers has been included in the new Greyhound Station—spacious waiting room, attractive lady's parlor, telegraph office, barber shop, restaurant. The large loading space in the rear of the station eliminates the need of loading buses on the street.

NEW INTEREST DATES URGED

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

DISTURBANCES in the stock market, due to the month-end demand for funds for the payment of dividends and bond interest, have been recurring so regularly for the last year that little thought is being given to them, although corporations and the investment bankers could, over a period of time, take steps to relieve this stringency.

As a matter of custom and for no good reason virtually all interest coupons on bonds are payable on the first day of the month. A large share of the dividends also have the same payment dates.

To meet these payments, heavy calls of stock market loans take place in the last few days of each month. This abnormal demand for cash is especially marked on January 1 and July 1, but every month of the year sees at least some calls for this purpose.

Within a few days this money finds its way back to the market in the form of new offerings of call money from banks and corporations and in the purchase of additional securities by individuals.

IN times when call money is easy, these payments do not cause any particular hardship. If it were not for the stand of the Federal Reserve Board against the indirect use of its credit for stock market purposes sufficient flexibility would be given to credit to make these periods of stringency less severe.

Brokers and investment bankers agree that, although the situation cannot be corrected over night, there is a very simple means for relieving the nation's security markets of these periodic burdens.

INTEREST dates on existing bond issues cannot be changed, but a little co-operation on the part of the houses originating new issues could easily spread the payment dates on future issues over the entire calendar. There is no advantage to corporations in being compelled to meet their payments on the first day of a month. The date of coupons of future issues could be staggered without inconvenience to anyone and a great service would be done to the machinery of security distribution which is the stock market.

In the case of corporations which are carrying bank loans this plan would have distinct advantages since it would be easier for them to get the necessary temporary accommodations to meet their coupons.

THE provisions governing the payment of dividends on new preferred stocks could also be made to lighten this load on the credit market. So far as common stocks are concerned, the corporations themselves, if they wished, could change their dividend payable dates by a few days without inconveniencing stockholders to any great extent.

Although such a policy would not have any appreciable effect on the call money market for some time, eventually it would exert a stabilizing influence on money conditions.

MAY RAISE LOAN COMMISSION

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP.)—The New York Clearing House Association, it was learned today, is considering another effort to check the increasing volume of loans offered through banks in the call money market by corporations and others.

A special meeting of the association has been called for Friday to discuss a proposal for raising by one-half of one per cent the charge made for placing such loans. The proposed rate would be 1 per cent. It is also understood that an attempt will be made to increase the minimum of the amount lent from the present $100,000 figure.

Corporate lending, under such circumstances, would be considerably less profitable to the lender. The fee was raised last September from 5 per cent of the interest received to one-half of one per cent of the principal.

The next regular meeting of the association is scheduled for October, and the summoning of a special session at this time was regarded in financial circles as indicating a desire to take early action.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Commonwealth Power.

Commonwealth Power maintained strong leadership in the utility list. Buying is based on the belief that banking interests identified with the company would make an offer to stockholders along the lines of the proposition made by the United Corporation for United Gas Improvement shares. This may take the form of an offer of eight shares of Commonwealth and Southern for one share of Commonwealth Power.

Farm Machines Hit.

The drop in wheat prices was reflected today in lower prices for stocks of agricultural implement concerns. International Harvester dropped 3 points to 100. Advance Rumely, one of the speculative sensations of the year, dropped 10 points to 37, the preferred also losing 10 points at 48, as the result of President F. P. Mount's statement that recapitalization had been indefinitely postponed. Earlier in the year Rumely common was up to 104 and the preferred 119.

Bargain Hunters Appear.

The decline in market prices of many of the speculative favorites has invited bargain-hunting, according to reports in the commission houses, and this has prevented further declines in the popular motor, steel, copper, oil and manufacturing stocks. Uneasiness over reserve board rates is gradually dying down, since for the third day in succession call money was provided at 6 per cent.

Fuel Stocks Leaders in Local Trading

Such activity as did make its appearance was in the fuel division, but the leaders here showed practically no changes from yesterday's quotations. However, there has been only moderate selling of these shares since their upward movement was halted a few days ago, and it is surmised the buyers are retaining their stocks awaiting settlement of the uncertainty surrounding the New York market.

Miscellaneous industrials were quiet, and there was no evidence of more than passing interest in this department. Standard Steel Propeller opened with a small fractional gain following its drop to a new low for the movement yesterday. Screw & Bolt was within a fraction of yesterday's price, and Vanadium Alloy Steel continued to sell around 71, ignoring the extra dividend announced yesterday. The Fireproofings were quiet, but held to the levels at which they have been selling for the past several weeks.

BERNET HEADS THREE ROADS

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP.)—Directors of three Van Sweringen railroads—the Chesapeake and Ohio, Hocking Valley and Pere Marquette—met in Cleveland yesterday and elected J. J. Bernet president of all three roads. W. J. Harahan was elected senior vice president of the three companies, and O. P. Van Sweringen was made chairman of the board of directors of the Pere Marquette.

F. H. Alfred was named vice president of the Pere Marquette in charge of operations, and Harold Fitzpatrick, vice president and general counsel. C. S. Sikes was named as general auditor of the Pere Marquette and J. A. Cramer, treasurer.

Mr. Bernet formerly was president of the Erie Railroad, Mr. Harahan president of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Mr. Alfred president of the Pere Marquette.

Placing of all three roads under the same management is reported to have received the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

WHAT WILL TIME DO TO YOUR INSURANCE MONEY

Statistics prove that vast amounts of Life Insurance money coming into the possession of heirs who lack the necessary ability to invest wisely are lost every year.

You should not leave your wife and children charged with the responsibility of investing the proceeds of your Life Insurance after your death.

A LIFE INSURANCE TRUST is the prudent way to assure them of a definite monthly income from the earnings of the proceeds of Life Insurance upon which they may live in peace and comfort. The Trust Company invests the money and they receive the benefits. You may empower the Trust Company, if you wish, to use income and principal to secure their maintenance and support or to educate your children.

RAIL BUOYANCY CARRIES LIST UPWARD

Threatened Break Turned To Advance by Demand For Utilities and Carriers.

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP.)—Renewed weakness of the farm implement shares threatened to bring about another sharp reaction in the stock market today, but the selling pressure was checked by an unusually brisk demand for the rails and public utilities, several of which reached new high ground. Trading was only moderately heavy in volume, indicating that speculators were showing little disposition to extend commitments over the holiday, particularly in view of the possibility of adverse developments in the credit situation or the Paris reparations conference.

Call money renewed unchanged at 6 per cent and held steady at that rate throughout the morning with a fairly liberal supply of funds available despite the holiday currency demands of between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000. The shipment of $3,000,000 in Argentine gold to New York was announced during the day, but the metal will not reach here before late in June. With about a billion dollars in stock subscription "rights" coming due next month, together with heavy treasury financing, quarterly federal income tax payments and large dividend and interest disbursements, bankers are looking for another stringency in call money.

NEWS FAVORABLE

There were several favorable developments in the day's news. President Grace of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation reported that second quarter earnings would be at least as good as the first quarter. Iron Age reported that "the steel requirements of the automotive industry continue to taper, but there are no evidences of a general decline in demand." It adds that shipments continue at a high rate and ingot production for May will show little, if any, reduction from that of March or April, completing the third month of virtually capacity operations.

Some striking gains were recorded by the railroad shares on buying influenced by the excellent April earnings reports, and belated recognition of the significance of the St. Louis and O'Fallon decision. Jersey Central soared 19 points, Norfolk and Western, Delaware and Hudson, Canadian Pacific, Pere Marquette and Union Pacific each advanced about 7 points, and Missouri Pacific common, Chesapeake and Ohio, St. Louis Southwestern, Reading, New York Central, and Boston and Maine climbed 5 points or more. At least a dozen others advanced 2 points or more.

COMMONWEALTH UP

Commonwealth Power, which is shortly expected to announce a stock split-up, ran up 10 points to a new high at 184½. Commercial Solvents jumped 9¾. Gains of 1 to 3 points were quiet numerous in the industrial and public utility groups.

There were a few soft spots. Advance Rumely common, which sold as high as 104⅞ last month, dropped 11 points to 36 and the preferred, which had been as high as 119¾, dropped 10 points to 48, both new lows for the year. Industrial Rayon dropped 10¼ points to a new low at 79½. American Express fell 7¼, and International Harvester 6½.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP.)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 3 points. Relatively easy Liverpool cables were offset by reports of heavy rains in the Southwest and expectations of bullish features in the weekly report of the weather bureau. Offerings were comparatively light and the market soon turned firmer with July selling up to 18.64c and December to 18.85c or 5 to 6 points net higher.

The advance met some realizing, however, and reactions of 3 or 4 points appeared by the end of the first half hour. Trading became quiet after the early spurt of buying had been supplied. Private cables reported covering and trade calling in the Liverpool market. A private report was published here placing the end-May condition at 70.9 and the indicated acreage at 48,489,000, an increase of 3.2 per cent. Private condition reports at this time last year ranged from 67 to 72.8 per cent and averaged 69.2 per cent.

Realizing became a little more active after the publication of the weekly report of the Weather Bureau. This was considered bullish, but had evidently been discounted, as it brought in more profit-taking than fresh buying, and the market sold off to 18.46c for July and 18.69c for December during the middle of the morning or about 9 to 12 points net lower. Offerings were comparatively light, however, and trading later in the morning was quiet with prices at midday showing rallies of some 5 or 6 points from the lowest. Another private report was issued pointing to an increase of 3 per cent in acreage.

Federal Securities Corporation.

Negotiations for the acquisition of the Federal Securities Corporation of Chicago by interests connected with the Central Trust Company of Illinois (the Dawes bank) have been practically completed. Upon consummation of this program it is planned to merge the business of the Federal Securities Corporation with that of the Central Securities Company, the affiliated investment corporation of the Central Trust Company; and at the same time, the Central Securities Company will take over the investment banking business now directly conducted by the Trust Company through its bond department. The above acquisition will make the Central Securities Company one of the most important investment banking organizations in the country, with branch offices in many of the principal cities. It is understood that, to provide ample capital for the broadened scope of its affiliated corporation, the Central Trust Company of Illinois contemplates an increase in its capital stock in the near future; the major portion of which will be devoted to increasing the capital account of the securities company. The executive personnel of the enlarged Central Securities Company will be formally announced in the near future and will be made up of present executives of the several organizations involved in this merger. It is understood that the shareholders of the Federal Securities Corporation, its present equity securities and that certain of its present officials will devote themselves to the administration of this corporation. The Pittsburgh office of the Federal Securities Corporation, at 319 Oliver Building, will continue at its present address, and upon completion of negotiations, will assume the name of the Central Securities Company. Charles H. Adams II will continue as resident manager.

Steel Prices Firm.

Current prices are being extended into the third quarter on some steel products, while on others producers are reaffirming their official second quarter levels, from which there have been occasional deviations, says the Iron Trade Review. Third quarter books were opened by some makers in the past week on wire products, strip, cold finished bars, wire rods, bars, plates and shapes. Within a few days the movement is expected to become general. Last week prices were extended on tin plate and sheets. Spigeleisen is announced as unchanged for the last half, while users of ferromanganese who did not buy through the entire year are now covering at unchanged prices. For several weeks, pig iron sales have been made for third quarter delivery at prevailing prices. This strong situation in prices has the backing of sustained demand which has carried finished steel through its fifth successive record month. Few products have escaped, in the past week, the tendency toward a slight easing in specifications, but considering the season, consumptive requirements continue extraordinary. With deliveries on the more important steel lines still four to six weeks deferred, on the average, it is generally accepted that a record first half production is assured. Especially is this true in pig iron, unless the situation changes rapidly, the summer lull this year promises to be unusually gentle. Adjustments in pig iron prices at Pittsburgh, resulting from the entry of a new producer here (Dairsan Coke and Iron), lower the Iron Trade Review composite of 14 leading iron and steel products 3 cents, to $37.10. This is the first decline in this index since early January.

Philadelphia Electric Merger.

Stockholders of the Philadelphia Electric Company, Philadelphia Suburban-Counties Gas and Electric Company, Schwenksville Gas Company, Lower Frederick Township Gas Company and Perkiomen Township Gas Company have voted to merge the five utilities into a new corporation to be known as Philadelphia Electric Company. The consolidated company will have 11,500,000 shares of common and 1,000,000 shares of preferred stock, both of no par value. The territory served by the merged companies embraces substantially all of Eastern Pennsylvania from the state line opposite Trenton, N. J., on the northwest, to Pottstown and Coatesville on the west and the Delaware state line on the south.

APPROVE RAISE IN BETHLEHEM

NEWARK, May 29.—Bethlehem Steel stockholders today approved an increase in authorized common stock from 2,700,000 shares of $100 par to 5,000,000 shares no par.

Stockholders of record today will have the right to subscribe for 600,000 of the new shares at $85 a share on the basis of one new for each three shares held. Rights expire June 18. Proceeds of the sale of this stock, amounting to $51,000,000, will be used for further development of the properties and business of the corporation.

NEWARK, N. J., May 29.—E. G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, stated there is every reason to believe second quarter earnings will be at least as good as first quarter when $4.05 was earned on 1,800,000 shares common outstanding, a peace-time quarterly record.

Finds Paid Vacations for Workers Bring Big Results

—By B. C. FORBES—

WHAT was said here about the General Electric's new plan for vacations, with pay, for all classes of workers has aroused widespread interest. Briefly these workers are to receive one week's vacation after three years' service and two weeks' after 10 years.

Workers in other concerns who get no vacations whatsoever regard the company's action as most laudatory. Where more generous vacations are given, the plan naturally does not make the same impression.

But isn't the main thing to induce every corporation throughout the country to adopt the paid vacation principle?

THIS column has long pleaded the cause of rank-and-file workers in this matter of paid vacations. Surely most wage earners work as hard as collar-and-cuff employes. True, in many organizations the latter are not paid when they work overtime whereas most wage earners are. But the hours of office workers usually are shorter than those of factory workers and other wage earners of that class. Moreover, it takes quite as much out of a human being to work at a furnace or in a factory or other workshop as it does to work in an office.

Surely America's civilization—and its prosperity have reached a stage where citizens should not have to work from January 1 to December 31 without any release from the daily grind. Vacations have not only a physical value, but a mental value, a spiritual value, a domestic value, even a political value. Granting a worker a paid vacation tends to make him a more satisfied and better citizen.

A RAILWAY night watchman writes:

"I take this opportunity to try and get you enlisted in our cause as we are helpless to help ourselves. We are watchmen for the New Haven Railroad, never get any vacations, work seven days a week. Checkers get a vacation through their railroad clerks' club.

"The road has a new president. If you called this to his attention there might be some chance for us. Some of the other roads give their watchmen a vacation.

"Try and help the underdogs."

GENERAL MANAGER H. P. CARRUTH, of the Mead Pulp and Paper Company, Chillicothe, O., commenting on the General Electric plan, outlined in this column, writes in part:

"Our corporation with plants in Chillicothe and Dayton, O., and Kingsport, Tenn., has operated a vacation plan since 1920, which briefly is as follows:

"Employes of good standing with a continuous service of three years are entitled to vacations at full pay. The length of vacation is determined by the length of service. Starting at three years, the men receive three days' vacation; four years, four days, and so on up to and including six years. From there on up to 10 years the vacation remains one week; after 10 years, two weeks.

"We have found by experience that in a continuously operated plant such as ours, which runs on three shifts six days a week, that it was desirable to shut the plant down for one week sometime during the summer months, during which week all employes entitled to vacations were required to take them. In the case of those who received vacations of two weeks, one week was to be taken during the shutdown period and the remaining week at some other time satisfactory to their department heads. Employes required on repair work during the shutdown period received their vacations some time during the summer months by arrangement.

"We have been very much pleased with the results of this plan, which has undoubtedly been very acceptable to the workers, and we feel has considerably strengthened the mutual relations situation in our plant.

"I note that the General Electric plan states that the vacation season is from January 1 to December 31. From our experience, I should think that it might be a source of considerable difficulty and possible ill-feeling if vacations were to be granted under this plan during that portion of the year when the average man would be unable to spend his vacation time out of doors. For this reason it has been our custom to confine the vacation season from June 1 to October 1, and as far as possible from July 1 to Labor Day."

C. E. CHURCH, a Western Electric Company employe, writes:

"I was interested in reading your recent article about General Electric's paid vacations and comparing it with the Western Electric Company's. The enclosed clipping tells of the extension of the vacation privileges recently announced by President Bloom, of this company. There are no strings attached to these privileges. Every employe of one year's service gets one week's vacation after his anniversary date, and after two years' service two weeks' vacation. Practically all the Western Electric employes will get a vacation this year."

WILL other companies adopting paid vacations speak up?

Securities Listed On Cotton Exchange

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP.)—Members of the New York Cotton Exchange unanimously adopted amendments to the by-laws today providing for the listing of, and trading in, securities of cotton mills and kindred corporations.

Week's Carloadings Ahead of Last Year

Revenue freight loadings for the week ended May 18 totaled 1,046,179 cars, off 1,743 from the preceding week, but 42,891 above the same week in 1928, the American Railway Association reports.

STEEL DEMAND HOLDING UP

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade says:

The steel requirements of the automotive industry continue to taper, but there are no evidences of a general decline in demand. Deliveries of forms of steel largely used in motor car manufacture have shown improvement, but on other finished products mill backlogs are undiminished.

Shipments continue at a high rate and ingot production for May will show little, if any, reduction from that of March or April, completing the third month of virtually capacity operations.

The ingot output of steel corporation subsidiaries last week, at nearly 500,000 tons, set a new six-day record. This production was at the unprecedented rate of 25,000,000 tons a year, or 800,000 tons in excess of theoretical capacity.

With open hearth furnaces heavily taxed, some producers have asked customers who had specified the Siemens-Martin product to accept Bessemer steel instead.

At Pittsburgh mill commitments on bars, plates and shapes and sheets will show very little contraction as compared with the end of April and will sustain a high rate of operations until July 1.

Scrap prices at Pittsburgh, although substantially unchanged, have a stronger undertone. Other markets remain weak, with declines 50 cents a ton on heavy melting steel at Philadelphia and 25 cents at St. Louis.

Both of the Iron Age composite prices are unchanged, pig iron at $18.71 a ton and finished steel at 2.412 cents a pound.

Dollar Plans Six New, Large Liners

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(AP.)—Plans of the Dollar Steamship Company to enlarge its around-the-world fleet by the addition of six liners, surpassing in size any built in the United States, were disclosed yesterday as a result of conferences of R. Stanley Dollar and others with administration officials.

The ships, which would be designed as naval auxiliaries, would be 650 feet long, about 80 feet broad, displace around 25,000 tons and have a speed of 20 knots an hour. They would cost $50,000,000 in the aggregate.

AVIATION promises to be the world's greatest industry. Men are needed as pilots, executives and engineers. A knowledge of flying is necessary to success in any branch of this growing industry. Penn School of Aviation at the Pittsburgh-Butler Training Port offers thorough instruction in both flying and mechanics.

Courses lead to PRIVATE, LIMITED COMMERCIAL or TRANSPORT licenses. Instructors are veteran pilots and graduates of Army and Navy training schools. Largest and finest flying field in this section. Full-time students live in barracks on the field. Every safety precaution, newest equipment. Only a limited number of students of the highest type accepted. Course starts in June.

Write today for full information and application blank to Director of Flying Training, 724 Oliver Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa. No personal interviews until written application has been passed on by the technical staff.

Ways to Win

Many have used the Sun-Telegraph Classified Ads as a stepping stone to success.

Workers who are dissatisfied with present positions, those who feel that careful endeavor and conscientious effort have not led to advancement, should consult the Help Wanted Ads to better their position.

There is always a way to get ahead—write a Employment Want Ad, stating briefly your experience; seek a position where energetic service will result in advancement.

The Sun-Telegraph Ads have helped many.

More Miles From Tires.

Make your old tires help you pay for the new! It may be economy for you to buy new tires when the old ones show wear, but it's needless waste to throw the old ones away.

There are many hundreds, even thousands, of miles of service still in them—and many auto owners who have the time and mechanical ability are seeking just such as you have been throwing away.

So advertise your used tires in the Classified Ads—it's economy for you, and economy for those who come to buy.

ONE DOLLAR
ACTUALLY BUYS A GOOD USED CAR
Not One Dollar Down— But One Dollar Pays for the Car Complete.

This is our first clearance sale. It will long be remembered. We will GUARANTEE to sell automobiles cheaper at this sale than they have ever been sold in the history of the country.

Each and every unit will represent TREMENDOUS VALUE.

In this sale are cars of all standard makes. The prices might seem ridiculous, but we are determined to move this entire stock (at once).

To sell all cars at far below our cost.

All cars have been reduced to the lowest level.

We will not sell automobiles at this sale to automobile dealers.

We will sell only one car to each buyer. We will not sell any of these cars to people in our employ.

Our cars will range in prices from $1, $50, $100, $200, $300, $400 and up. Cars all in good, serviceable condition. All standard makes. The terms of sale are cash for all cars up to $50; on other cars 40% in cash, balance in reasonable monthly or weekly payments.

ONE DOLLAR CAR No. 1582
To Be Sold Saturday, June 1st at 8 P. M.

NOTE—The first customer to sit behind the steering wheel of the "Dollar Car" will be the purchaser. Every car numbered. Dollar Car displayed in with our large stock of cars and trucks. Remember the Dollar number.

You are invited to inspect these cars Wednesday, Thursday, Friday. Price will be so low as to amaze you. This sale is going to be a "knock-out"—a real genuine knock-out.

BUGS BAER Says

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH AMERICA?

PRESIDENT HOOVER has compiled a spare cabinet for emergencies.

"Bugs" Baer

They are to diagnose the present chaotic rebus which makes life and property in America a snare and a delusion.

The inquiry will take over two years. In that time we are afraid that the answers will be given before the questions are asked.

The transcontinental jury will investigate local conditions from the orange-ade groves of California to the Roxy-sound shores of New York.

Most of the members of the commish are lawyers and judges of overlapping experience and intense dignity.

Once again President Hoover has forgotten to name us as a member of his official double sextettes.

Right now we can put the high-pressure finger on the trouble with America.

Too many commissions.

In addition, Americans seem to be enjoying growing pains in their disregard for law and order.

Every citizen has made himself a chemical retort for the analyzation of all the corrosive sublimate of bootleg in the world.

Riots have assumed more majestic proportions in the struggle for parking space. In New York, the city of broken hearts and busted fenders, the traffic problem is reduced to this homicidial ratio:

Fifty wild trucks to every tame pedestrian and a community chorus of pain that uses an ambulance gong for a tuning fork.

Wild parties in the kindergartens of the Middle West and environs. We have promised our daughter a thousand dollars if she doesn't drink or smoke until she is six years of age.

The realization among the proletariat is that a bathtub will hold more gin than a bottle.

The blindfold cigaret test among otherwise reliable citizens who are now applying the same formula to Wall Street with marginal astigmatism.

The fact that the seven ages of man have been reduced to but two: First and second childhood.

Allowing immature caddies to tune in on the soliloquy of a bank president in a bunker.

Selling two tickets for every seat in a motion picture theater. This in itself is enough to tear down the very essence of democracy and nullify the Constitution which guarantees equal rights to every egg in the incubator.

And finally, the poor batting averages in the reform league. Every man steps up to the plate but nobody gets on base.

WEDDING BELLS

Maybe I'm Wrong
by JOHN P. MEDBURY

Don't get all swelled up just because the girls smile at you. Maybe they're too polite to laugh out loud.

Efficiency Experts

The columnist who writes all his jokes on foolscap paper.

American Tragedies

You're Right

Every sofa is a place of worship.

Matrimonial Martyrs

Host—It's taking you an awfully long time to eat your salad.

Our "Boys in Blue" Pass; Decoration Day Lives On

In memory of those who have gloriously worn the uniform of our country in times of stress there will be no publication of The Sun-Telegraph tomorrow, Decoration Day.

Decoration Day again is at hand, bringing with it memories. Despite the festive holiday aspect that has come to be attached to Decoration Day, it never has wholly lost its atmosphere of solemnity nor its original significance. Its principal feature still is the beautiful custom of spreading flowers—nature's gems—throughout the green-carpeted and tree-shaded resting places of those whose hands no longer impart the loving touch and whose lips no longer utter the familiar greeting and affectionate phrase.

Decoration Day becomes festive, it is true, but it still is Memorial Day—the day of memories. Memories of the "boys" in blue and in gray, whose remnants shook hands in friendliness and whose shrunken ranks now are a more effective reminder of the occasion for instituting Decoration Day than when they marched shoulder to shoulder in numbers that caused the "boys in blue" to be designated as a "Grand Army," a phrase later to be perpetuated in the Grand Army of the Republic—our well-known and revered G. A. R. Hats off tomorrow to those who constitute its diminishing files!

It is true, too, that the "boys in blue," once many, now are few, but their spirit, like that of John Brown, goes marching on—to continue marching on eternally. Blossoms strewn today will fade and wither. The green grass will turn brown and the leaves will fall from the trees to be covered by snows. This, in turn, will be followed by other green carpets and other shady trees and other strewing of flowers—the cycle to go on indefinitely. Like the flowers they spread, the men who spread them are fading and withering. Soon they will be gone, like this year's grass and leaves, but the flowers will come again and the spirit of Decoration Day will live on—and on—and on—and—on.

So tomorrow we will pause and remember. We shall celebrate festively, but we shall not forget—we cannot forget—the real solemnity nor the real significance of Decoration Day.

Death in Strike Natural Result of Police Neglect

Indifference of the city administration and the police department toward its duty to protect property of the Liberty Dairy Products Company, which is involved in a strike, has had a result not to be unexpected under the circumstances, the death of a man in an attack on one of the company's delivery trucks.

The assault, one of a series of disturbances against the peace and order of the community, maintenance of which is the obligation of the city administration and the direct duty of its police department, was made on a vehicle guarded by men deputized to act with the authority of Sheriff Robert H. Braun, who stepped in only when Mayor Charles H. Kline withdrew police from the duty of protecting milk wagons.

Responsibility for this death now will be a subject of legal inquiry as well as speculation as to whether it could have occurred had not those in sympathy with the strikers been encouraged in their determination to defy an order of the court not to molest property or men employed by the dairy company—encouraged by the removal of police from milk delivery trucks.

The authority of a police officer is symbolic as well as actual. He represents the majesty of the law in a degree that would not extend to the person deputized to perform a special service in an emergency. Between the two, the presence of a policeman would be more impressive, and it is altogether likely that he would be more effective, merely through being on the job, than another, armed only with temporary authority, would be.

Yet Sheriff Braun must be held blameless for what has occurred, and even be praised for taking up something that became his duty merely because it was bundled upon him by those who would not or, at least did not, perform it, although obligated to do so.

Criticism Is Easy

But It's Dangerous.

Sir Joseph Duveen, asked for his opinion as an expert, said he did not think a Kansas City lady owned the original Belle Ferronniere by Leonardo, supposed to be in the Louvre, in Paris.

She sued him for $500,000. Most of the jurymen admitted they had never heard of Leonardo, which complicated matters for Duveen.

Now Otto H. Kahn is sued for $250,000, because he says he never said a certain singer had the most beautiful voice he ever heard. The lady alleges that when Kahn says that, a singer's reputation is ruined.

Wise critics, until final court rulings, will reply to all questions on artistic matters "I refuse to answer, on the ground that I might incriminate myself." The French saying: La critique est aisee, mais, l'art est difficile, "criticism is easy, but art is difficult," might read "criticism is dangerously easy."

Notice how many of those French words we have adopted in our language—critique, aisee, art, difficult.

A Friendly King

Britain Has Things to Learn.

The King, his speech read in the House of Lords, has friendly words for our peace suggestions. The general British feeling is that we should attend to our own business, confining our activities to lending money when it's needed, and allowing Britain to regulate world armaments in accordance with British needs and spending power.

Our British cousins have not yet learned to take this country seriously. That will come later.

8—Development of river transportation.

AN IMAGINARY LINE

Drawn by Nelson Harding

Tales That Are Told

The Reason

THE teacher was explaining things to the boys in his class.

"For instance, I want to introduce water into my house. I turn it on. The pipes are in good order, but I get no water. Can you tell me why?"

He expected the children to say that it was because he had not made a connection with the main in the street. The boys looked puzzled. They could not see why the water should refuse to run into his premises after such faultless plumbing.

"Can no one tell me what I have neglected?" the teacher repeated, looking at the wondering faces.

"I know," said one boy at last. "You don't pay up!"

Merely the Meter

A VISITING minister was preaching on the subject of "giving" at a small chapel, and during the sermon he noticed that a member of the congregation crept quietly out of his seat and, going to the side of the chapel, placed a coin in a box. A little later another did the same thing.

Never, thought the minister, had his sermons met with such a practical response.

On leaving the chapel he was accosted by one of the members.

"I hope we didn't disturb you, sir," he said, "but ours is a quarter-in-the-slot meter, and we should have been in darkness if we hadn't attended to it."

His Garment

"B-E-D spells bed," said the teacher for the twentieth time to her backward pupil. "Now do you understand, Tommy?"

"Yes," said Tommy, glibly.

"Well, c-a-t spells cat, d-o-g spells dog, and b-e-d spells—what did I tell you b-e-d spells?"

"I—I've forgot, miss."

"What, you don't know what b-e-d spells after all I've told you?"

Tommy shook his head.

"Well, once more, b-e-d spells what do you sleep in. Now, what do you sleep in?"

"My nightshirt."

If Not—Why Not?

AT a loss for something to amuse a five-year-old girl, her parents conceived the slightly rash idea of taking her to the museum. A visit was paid to the mummies.

"What are those things?" she demanded, with disdain.

"Those are the mummies, dear," said her mother, and was proceeding to impart further information when she was pulled up with:

"Aren't there any daddies?"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

A FELLOW can always find plenty of reasons for not quitting a habit. One story they tell is about a guy that suffered with his nerves.

"How many cigars are you smoking now?" asked the doctor that he went to for the fourth time one month.

"Why, I smoke only six cigars a day now."

"Six! What did I tell you the last time you came to me?"

"Why, you said you could allow me two cigars a day was all."

"Well, then, why don't you pay some attention to me?"

"Oh, I do, Doc! But you see, there's two other doctors working on me, and each one of them allows me two, and so I get along on six."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I'M deep in catalogs these days. Blissfully planning larkspur borders, mixed with snapdragons. Great flaming beds of zinnias, petunias and stocks. And gay, sweet mats of pansies edged with candytuft.

I think in rainbows—

Sometimes across the rainbows, ghosts pass in tip-toe file . . . the shy sweet ghosts of women who made gardens in the past.

Not city gardens filled with friendly sounds, but lonely gardens where few people came—

GARDENS THAT WERE NOT MERELY SOMETHING FOR THE EYE TO SEE, BUT WERE A LIVING, FRUITING ACT OF FAITH—

FAITH IN ALL THAT A HOME MIGHT MEAN TO MEN, HOWEVER POOR.

Gardens by mountain cabins on the Mother Lode—built on a crag, neighbored by wind and storm. Musk roses, covering a rotting wall, slipped from a plant that grew "back home" in old Vermont. Or clove pinks that grandmother brought from Maine when she and grandpa joined the rush of '49.

Gardens by dug-outs on Nebraska plains. The awful loneliness of that vast, rolling land! And yet a woman challenged it with marigolds!

No garden by that Utah desert shack. Just one geranium blooming in a can. But that bright blossom symbolized a home and its crude planting was a sacrament.

The garden on a Texas cattle ranch—a row of hollyhocks around a branding pen, their blossoms spiked against a thousand miles of sky. Yet, by so much was Beauty kept alive.

The seed of Beauty — when, I wonder, was it first acquired?

When did our shambling fathers first desire something more than food? When did the first rough cave become a home?

When some wild mother planted flowers by her door, wood violets beside a heap of half-gnawed bones.

Since then it has come down from hand to hand, that seed of Beauty which changed brutes to men.

A challenge—

And a comfort—

And a sign of God—

A SIGN THAT MAN COULD PIT HIMSELF AGAINST EARTH'S MIGHT—

THE MIDNIGHT SUN

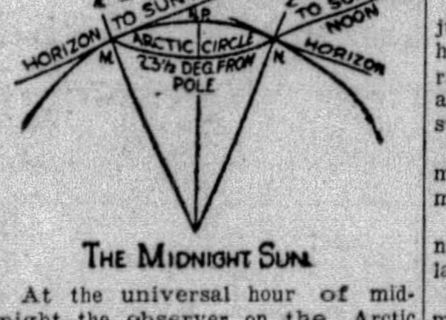
By Garrett P. Serviss

"Please settle an argument about the midnight sun. Is the sun visible let us say at 12 o'clock, midnight, June 22, at the North Cape, Norway? Is it the sun or is it the reflection of the sun?—Ole Jonassen, New York."

IT is the sun itself, and no mere reflection. It is true that some people think that what is seen is only a reflection of sunlight, from ice fields below the horizon in the north. When the sun just skips along under the horizon at the midnight hour, as happens at places a little south of the Arctic Circle, no doubt there may be an "ice-glint," throwing the sun's rays into the atmosphere over the northern horizon, thus producing an ordinary twilight effect. But when the place of observation is sufficiently far north in latitude to bring the place of the sun in the sky at the hour corresponding to midnight on other parts of the earth a little above the northern rim of the horizon, then the "midnight sun" is really visible.

I am going to try to make you a diagrammatic picture which will show the facts. The letter press under the picture should suffice to explain it. Note that the reason why the observer at the point "M" on the Arctic Circle at midnight June 22 sees the sun poised straight north of him on the horizon is because the sun is then so far north of the equator (23½ deg.), that it lies right in the horizon of every place on the Arctic Circle, that circle being everywhere 23½ deg. from the pole. If the sun were over the equator instead of 23½ deg. north of it, its rays would not reach 23½ deg. beyond the pole, but only just touch the pole. That happens at the equinoxes.

Very beautiful photographs have been made showing the curving course of the midnight sun as it first runs down toward the horizon, and then, without dipping under, rises again in a similar curve on the other side of the lowest point. Donald Macmillan, the Arctic explorer, made such a photograph showing the midnight sun in eight successive positions as seen from Etah, Greenland, well within the Arctic Circle, but in July, some time after the summer solstice. A reproduction of this beautiful picture may be seen in Russell, Dugan and Stewart's "Astronomy."



THE MIDNIGHT SUN.

At the universal hour of midnight the observer on the Arctic Circle is at the point M. Z is his zenith. Looking directly north he sees the sun in its midnight position poised on the rim of the horizon directly north of his zenith. At the universal hour of noon he has been carried by the earth's rotation to the point N. Z1 is now his zenith. If he has kept his face always northward, he has seen the sun curving its course upward from the horizon and swing 'round in the sky until when he arrives at N (noon) it will be high above his horizon and situated south of his zenith.

Bible Passages

Tree of Life

(Revelation 22; 1-14)

AND he shewed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the lamb.

In the midst of the street of it, and on either side of the river, was there the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.

And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him.

And they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads.

And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever.

And he said unto me, These sayings are faithful and true: and the Lord God of the holy prophets sent his angel to shew unto his servants the things which must shortly be done.

Behold, I come quickly: blessed is he that keepeth the sayings of the prophecy of this book.

And I John saw these things, and heard them. And when I had heard and seen, I fell down to worship before the feet of the angel which shewed me these things.

Then saith he unto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellow-servant, and of thy brethren the prophets, and of them which keep the sayings of this book: worship God.

And he saith unto me, Seal not the sayings of the prophecy of this book: for the time is at hand.

He that is unjust, let him be unjust still. and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

And behold I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be.

I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city.

The Rhyming Optimist

Inspiration

SOMETIMES a breath of purer air
Blows down; though men know not from where,
They feel its tonic coolness creep
To stir their sluggish brains from sleep.

And so it was her message came
To fan a feeble spark of flame;
As silent as a breeze that brings
Good cheer and healing on its wings.

To every life hers touched she brought
Some gentler deed, some braver thought,
Some impulse towards earth's better ways
That changed the currents of men's days.

She gave to them such fleeting things
(Light, light the touch of angel's wings!)
Yet in their thoughts new gladness woke,
And hope through all their beings spoke.

She brought a breath of purer air,
A breeze blown down from heaven, to share
Her bounty with all souls that went Oppressed, athirst and discontent.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 29.—Future legend mongers are likely to hark back to New York's present era as the Delicatesse Decade. The delicatessen shop was once confined almost solely to Harlem. It was a mussy, smelly little hole in the wall, generally conducted by a Mr. Schalmz, whose talk exploded like a bottle of pop.

He lived upstairs and his only rush of trade was on Sunday evening when neighboring housewives did no cooking but carried in cold specialties. Today there is scarcely a block in a business section without a delicatessen. After invading Broadway, they even lodged in Park avenue's fashionable strip.

There are delicatessen millionaires and delicatessen celebrities—the word, incidentally, is German, meaning prepared foods. Such shops have not only become the Olympian high spots of night life on fashionable Madison avenue, along Broadway and in the Village but in far reaches of the Bronx.

The pioneer in the ritzy delicatessen movement is perhaps Arnold Reuben whose two elaborate establishments are sloganed: "From a sandwich to an institution." Mr. Reuben used to be behind the counter himself, resplendent in a long white coat, slicing hams, rye loaves and doo-dadding up slaw with pickles.

Today he appears at intervals in Tuxedoed elegance at the entrance of his dining rooms to greet some reigning star of stage or screen and then bowls away to the opera in his liveried limousine. M. Reuben is a millionaire, a conspicuous first nighter and noted for his Broadway charities.

Another noted delicatessener is "Dave" whose "Dave's Blue Room" on Seventh avenue is a rendezvous for people of the stage, cabaret and night clubs. Dave began his career in Greenwich Village, but acquiring a "following" decided to breast the Broadway currents and succeeded.

The swanky delicatessen today has a glittering starter out front. Windows continue to display tempting bottles and tinned goods, but that is the only old-time touch. Inside perfumes and other cosmetic luxuries are on sale and the dining rooms in the rear are haunts of the fashionable.

There is a yarn about a lady from the steerage who began in sawdust carpeted delicatessens and progressed with them. Recently she was called upon to sing at an impromptu after theater supper in a smart delicatessen. "Fifteen years ago," she said, "I was Rebecca Weinstein, a singing waitress in a Delancey street delicatessen. Tonight I am Mlle. Reba Wynn singing in a Madison avenue delicatessen."

A theater near Broadway next season will permit ladies to bring lap and sleeve dogs to matinees. If a pooch begins yapping, it will be taken out in the same manner of a crying child.

There were recent press panegyrics to the beauty of Maybelle Corey Gilman with news from Paris she was to wed a nobleman from Spain. One might think the former toast of Broadway had discovered some fountain of youth during her Parisian exile. Miss Gilman, indeed, shows faint traces of the pulchritude once hers. She appears every Sunday night at the Ritz dinner dances in Place Vendome, but few who knew her in other days would know her now. She has a frozen expression that never changes whether Miss Gilman is saying "Delighted to meet you" or "The house is afire!"

Sunday is supposed to be a day of complete rest for theatrical folk in New York on account of the theater-closing law, yet it is the busiest for most players. The majority must appear—or think they must—at the innumerable sabbatical benefits. Some appear seven or eight times during an evening. And love it.

She is a "poor butterfly" held captive in one of those cloud-touching pent houses in what are known as the Sexy Sixties. His family's blood is so blue that all of them are rather depressing. For two years they have been trying to break up the mesalliance. She asks a million. "It has been worth it," she explains, "just to sit around and hear him talk about his family lineage." That is certainly worth something.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

IF a fine spring morning does not give you an exuberance of feeling there is something wrong with you.

You are not hitting on all your cylinders.

Maybe you are using the wrong kind of fuel.

Your spark of energy may be slow.

Your heart valve may not be beating properly.

You may be using too rich a mixture in your evening parties.

Insufficient sleep may be acting as a dragging brake.

In other words, your clutch on yourself is slipping.

When a wonderful spring morning fails to invigorate you there must be something about you which is not in good working order.

Or you must be misusing yourself in some way that robs you of the spirit which should be touched by a beautiful spring morning.

The fact that you do not respond to the suggestions of spring should be the only warning required to convince you of your sluggishness.
